Farhad Malekian,Kerstin Nordlöf,2014-10-02 Whilst the value of human integrity within the laws of individual states and the documents of international human rights is being increasingly consolidated and will become sooner or later the primary concern of the law severe breaches of this value are indeed still widespread In particular the sexual exploitation of children constitutes one of the most serious questions of national regional transnational and international law According to international records every fifteen seconds a child is raped in Africa alone Almost half of the cases heard by the ICTY concern the sexual exploitation of women and children during armed conflict More or less similar conclusions may be reached regarding the ICTR or the SCSL In Rwanda alone 500 000 females were raped Almost 200 000 females and children have been the victims of cruel forms of sexual violence during the conflicts in Congo Sexual abuse of children by priests cannot any longer be concealed in Australia Belgium Canada Germany France Ireland Mexico the United Kingdom and the United States although it is ignored in most Islamic countries The sexual exploitation of children is also widely practised in many other countries Regrettably 79% of all world trafficking is for sexual exploitation The principal subject matter of this book is the legal etymology of sexual exploitation governing minors The aim is to identify and analyse jus cogens and obligation erga omnes in relation to the sexual exploitation of children and to evaluate the international responsibility of states in relation to the elimination or prevention of the crime and the prosecution and punishment of offenders Caribbean Anti-Trafficking Law and Practice Jason Haynes, 2019-07-11 This monograph investigates the International European and Commonwealth Caribbean approaches to human trafficking from an Analytical Eclectic perspective It presents a compelling empirically based argument that although there is currently a panoply of measures aimed at preventing human trafficking prosecuting offenders and protecting trafficked victims in both Europe and the Commonwealth Caribbean these measures have in practice been fraught with a number of challenges whether of a normative institutional or individual nature The continued existence of these challenges strongly suggests that there exists a disconnect between anti trafficking law and practice which is not peculiar to small island developing States since they also extend to developed States including the United Kingdom Although these challenges are not insurmountable this monograph advances the argument that sustained social economic political and legal commitments are both necessary and desirable and that without such commitments only pyrrhic victories would be won in the fight to eradicate the scourge of the twenty first century Given the importance of the issue of human trafficking and its inescapable impact on victims families communities nations regions and the international community as a whole this monograph will serve as an important resource for policy makers scholars students and practitioners actively working in this increasingly dynamic area of law Human Trafficking John Winterdyk, Benjamin Perrin, Philip Reichel, 2011-12-05 Human trafficking is a crime that undermines fundamental human rights and a broader sense of global order It is an atrocity that transcends borders with some regions known as exporters of trafficking victims and others recognized as destination countries Edited by three global experts and composed of the work of an esteemed panel of contributors
