Panter,2004 Forty two international academics contribute 22 chapters addressing the common and unique methodological decisions that researchers must make when using both traditional and cutting edge research paradigms Coverage includes issues relating to selecting and identifying research questions and populations design and analysis and expanding the original social psychological questions to other disciplines within and outside psychology Each chapter follows the same format first describing a concrete and relevant social psychological research problem then discussing methodological issues in the context of that problem For active researchers including graduate and advanced undergraduate students Annotation c 2003 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com

Quasi-Experimentation Charles S.

Reichardt,2019-08-15 Featuring engaging examples from diverse disciplines this book explains how to use modern approaches to quasi experimentation to derive credible estimates of treatment effects under the demanding constraints of field settings Foremost expert Charles S Reichardt provides an in depth examination of the design and statistical analysis of pretest posttest nonequivalent groups regression discontinuity and interrupted time series designs He details their relative strengths and weaknesses and offers practical advice about their use Reichardt compares quasi experiments to randomized experiments and discusses when and why the former might be a better choice Modern methods for elaborating a research design to remove bias from estimates of treatment effects are described as are tactics for dealing with missing data and noncompliance with treatment assignment Throughout mathematical equations are translated into words to enhance accessibility Technology for Adaptive Aging National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, Steering Committee for the Workshop on Technology for Adaptive Aging, 2004-04-25 Emerging and currently available technologies offer great promise for helping older adults even those without serious disabilities to live healthy comfortable and productive lives What technologies offer the most potential benefit What challenges must be overcome what problems must be solved for this promise to be fulfilled How can federal agencies like the National Institute on Aging best use their resources to support the translation from laboratory findings to useful marketable products and services Technology for Adaptive Aging is the product of a workshop that brought together distinguished experts in aging research and in technology to discuss applications of technology to communication education and learning employment health living environments and transportation for older adults It includes all of the workshop papers and the report of the committee that organized the workshop The committee report synthesizes and evaluates the points made in the workshop papers and recommends priorities for federal support of translational research in technology for older adults The Social Science Encyclopedia Adam Kuper, Jessica Kuper, 2004-10-14 The Social Science

Methods of Randomization in Experimental Design Valentim R. Alferes, 2012-10 This text provides a conceptual systematization and a practical tool for the randomization of between subjects and within subjects experimental designs

Designing Experiments and Analyzing Data Scott E. Maxwell, Harold D. Delaney, Ken Kelley, 2017-09-11 Designing Experiments and Analyzing Data A Model Comparison Perspective 3rd edition offers an integrative conceptual framework for understanding experimental design and data analysis Maxwell Delaney and Kelley first apply fundamental principles to simple experimental designs followed by an application of the same principles to more complicated designs Their integrative conceptual framework better prepares readers to understand the logic behind a general strategy of data analysis that is appropriate for a wide variety of designs which allows for the introduction of more complex topics that are generally omitted from other books Numerous pedagogical features further facilitate understanding examples of published research demonstrate the applicability of each chapter's content flowcharts assist in choosing the most appropriate procedure end of chapter lists of important formulas highlight key ideas and assist readers in locating the initial presentation of equations useful programming code and tips are provided throughout the book and in associated resources available online and extensive sets of exercises help develop a deeper understanding of the subject Detailed solutions for some of the exercises and realistic data sets are included on the website DesigningExperiments.com The pedagogical approach used throughout the book enables readers to gain an overview of experimental design from conceptualization of the research question to analysis of the data The book and its companion website with web apps tutorials and detailed code are ideal for students and researchers seeking the optimal way to design their studies and analyze the resulting data

Social Psychology and Evaluation Melvin M. Mark, Stewart I. Donaldson, Bernadette Campbell, 2011-06-24 This compelling work brings together leading social psychologists and evaluators to explore the intersection of these two fields and how their theory practices and research findings can enhance each other An ideal professional reference or student text the book examines how social psychological knowledge can serve as the basis for theory driven evaluation facilitate more effective partnerships with stakeholders and policymakers and help evaluators ask more effective questions about behavior Also identified are ways in which real world evaluation findings can identify gaps in social psychological theory and test and improve the validity of social psychological findings for example in the areas of cooperation competition and intergroup relations The volume includes a useful glossary of both fields terms and offers practical suggestions for fostering cross fertilization in research graduate training and employment opportunities Each chapter features introductory and concluding comments from the editors

Robert K. Yin, 2017-09-27 Recognized as one of the most cited methodology books in the social sciences the Sixth Edition of Robert K Yin's bestselling text provides a complete portal to the world of case study research With the integration of 11 applications in this edition the book gives readers access to exemplary case studies drawn from a wide variety of academic and applied fields Ultimately Case Study Research and Applications will guide students in the successful design and use of the case study research method New to this Edition Includes 11 in depth applications that show how researchers have implemented case study methods successfully Increases reference to relativist and constructivist approaches to case study research as well as how case studies can be part of mixed methods projects Places greater emphasis on using plausible rival explanations to bolster case study quality Discusses synthesizing findings across case studies in a multiple case study in more detail Adds an expanded list of 15 fields that have text or texts devoted to case study research Sharpens discussion of distinguishing research from non research case studies The author brings to light at least three remaining gaps to be filled in the future how rival explanations can become more routinely integrated into all case study research the difference between case based and variable based approaches to designing and analyzing case studies and the relationship between case study research and qualitative research

Design and Analysis of Time-Series Experiments Gene V Glass, Victor L. Willson, John M. Gottman, 2008-10-01 Hailed as a landmark in the development of experimental methods when it appeared in 1975 Design and Analysis of Time Series Experiments is available again after several years of being out of print Gene V Glass Victor L Willson and John M Gottman have carried forward the design and analysis of perhaps the most powerful and useful quasi experimental design identified by their mentors in the classic Campbell Stanley text Experimental and Quasi experimental Design for Research 1966 In an era when governments seek to resolve questions of experimental validity by fiat and the label Scientifically Based Research is appropriated for only certain privileged experimental designs nothing could be more appropriate than to bring back the classic text that challenges doctrinaire opinions of proper causal analysis Glass Willson Gottman introduce and illustrate an armamentarium of interrupted time series experimental designs that offer some of the most powerful tools for discovering and validating causal relationships in social and education policy analysis Drawing on the ground breaking statistical analytic tools of Box Jenkins the authors extend the comprehensive autoregressive integrated moving averages ARIMA model to accommodate significance testing and estimation of the effects of interventions into real world time series Designs and full statistical analyses are richly illustrated with actual examples from education behavioral psychology and sociology

Books in Print Supplement ,2002

Research Methods in the Social and Health Sciences Ted Palys, Chris Atchison, 2021-02-05 Research Methods in the Social and Health Sciences Research Decisions by Ted Palys and Chris Atchison gives students a thorough thoughtful and highly readable introduction to the entire research process from start to finish From its underlying premise that your research questions and objectives rather than any specific method should guide your research this book discusses each step of the research process from limiting the scope of a literature review to navigating ethical considerations to deciding which methods are best suited for finding answers to specific research questions to how to analyze data and present findings Readers are encouraged to think deeply about each step of the research process The book promotes this deliberation by discussing the strengths and limitations of different methods and Throughout the process the authors provide many examples from their own and student research sharing insights for research decisions arising from that experience Readers will develop the skills to create solid research questions perform literature reviews identify appropriate data sources and methods conduct research analyze and interpret data and translate the resulting knowledge generated from the research process to a wider audience all core parts of the research process by developing their knowledge and creating confidence in their own decision making skills After explaining the unique and often complementary strengths of qualitative and quantitative methods students focus on what methods are best suited for finding answers to the research questions that interest them Major types of research including experiments case studies surveys quasi experiments ethnographies focus groups participatory action research and archival studies all receive significant coverage The text illustrates how these methods are enhanced by integrating them with 21st century technologies and combining them in mixed methods projects Chapters on constructing a research proposal and disseminating research bookend the process with concrete steps in between to support students designing their own original research projects Study questions at the end of each chapter encourage students to think critically about the research process and how the choices a researcher makes will broaden or constrain what they can find By the end of the text social and health science students will feel confident in undertaking ethical and thoughtful research     Critical Thinking in Psychology Robert J. Sternberg, Henry L. Roediger, Diane F. Halpern, 2007 Explores key topics in psychology showing how they can be critically examined
