Research Issues Learning Disab:

Research Issues in Learning Disabilities Sharon Vaughn, Candace S. Bos, 2012-12-06 In this chapter we described issues in conducting intervention research with students with learning disabilities on the secondary level We maintained that interventions should be well grounded in theories of learning as well as characterizations of learning disabilities Pressley Scruggs that they should first be conducted in a series of highly controlled laboratory like experiments to carefully assess the potential utility of the intervention and that if the intervention is successful in highly controlled settings it should then be evaluated in classroom applications We maintained that research designs should evolve as the research questions become more applied and that the results of laboratory research should be used to support the findings of classroom applications Finally we described several research designs that we have found useful in conducting classroom intervention research There is a great deal more to conducting intervention research of course than experimental or quasi experimental design Intervention strategies likely to be effective must be identified relevant literature must be reviewed experimental materials must be developed and cooperative schools teachers parents and students must be located Nevertheless inadequate research designs can invalidate the best and most successful efforts in all of these areas while effective and practical research designs can do much to document the best practices and advance our knowledge of effective interventions with students with learning disabilities References Brigham F J Scruggs T E Mastropieri M A 1992 Learning Disabilities International Academy for Research in Learning Disabilities, 1990 First Published in 1990 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Learning Disabilities H. Lee Swanson, Barbara K. Keogh, 2012-11-12 This volume has been developed as a direct result of a conference sponsored by the International Academy for Research in Learning Disabilities held at the University of California at Los Angeles The text provides a review and critique of current research in the areas of intelligence social cognition achievement and subtyping as they relate to learning disabilities In addition the concept that social behavior is an aspect of intelligence and the relationship between language and reading are discussed in detail by noted experts

Identification of Learning Disabilities Renee Bradley, Louis Danielson, Daniel P. Hallahan, 2002-12-18 Identification of Learning Disabilities Research to Practice is the remarkable product of a learning disabilities summit conference convened by the Office of Special Education Programs OSEP in August 2001 and the activities following that summit Both the conference and this book were seen as important preludes to congressional reauthorization of the historic Individuals With Disabilities Education Act IDEA scheduled for 2002 and subsequent decision making surrounding implementation The OSEP conference brought together people with different perspectives on LD parents researchers practitioners and policymakers and resulted in this book which examines the research on nine key issues concerning the identification of children with learning disabilities Coverage includes alternative responses to treatment classification approaches processing deficit models and approaches to decision making Chapter Structure Each of the first nine chapters is organized around a lengthy issue oriented paper which presents the most current research on that topic These primary papers are then followed by four respondent papers that reflect a variety of viewpoints on the topic Summarizing Chapter A small group of researchers listed in the final chapter dedicated an enormous amount of time to summarizing the research and developing key consensus statements regarding the identification of children with learning disabilities Their work is sure to have a tremendous impact on future discussions in this area Expertise The following well known scholars have helped summarize the vast amount of research presented in this book as well as the consensus statements derived therefrom Lynne Cook Don Deshler Doug Fuchs Jack M Fletcher Frank Gresham Dan Hallahan Joseph Jenkins Kenneth Kavale Barbara Keogh Margo Mastopieri Cecil Mercer Dan Reschley Rune Simeonsson Joe Torgesen Sharon Vaughn and Barbara Wise

Researching Learning Difficulties Jill Porter, Penny Lacey, 2005

The authors provide a guide which points the reader to sources that can engage more deeply with the issues raised and as such is a useful resource for anyone wanting to know more about researching learning difficulties British Journal of Special Education This book is highly recommended and endorsed It celebrates the diversity of work that is currently undertaken in the field of learning difficulties with a concern to enable people working within different spheres of activity to share something of their work to contribute to the bigger picture As part of an academic school or staff development resource library this book will aid stimulate and focus researchers at all levels to hone their selected methods evaluate results and critically judge qualitative and quantitative data Special Children This timely book written in a highly accessible way provides a coherent basis for users as well as practitioners of research involving children and young people with learning difficulties Ann Lewis Professor of Special Education and Educational Psychology University of Birmingham This book is for researchers teachers and other professionals working with children and people with learning difficulties It will enable them to access research in learning difficulties drawing on other disciplines understand different types of research methodology and their strengths and limitations examine how researchers must consider the constraints on methodology because of the characteristics of the field and understand the particular issues of small scale research and participatory research explore new methodologies that are developing in the field The authors recognize that there are tensions especially the difficulty of validating research on small varied populations in a wide range of schools community and other settings The book will help readers to critically evaluate the implications of research reports for their own practice This book is for researchers teachers and professionals in specialist and inclusive community and educational settings following courses of continuing professional development doing research Masters and Doctorate Education Social Sciences Psychology Public Policy It is relevant to practitioners working with people with learning difficulties across a range of settings

Learning Disability Grant, Gordon, Ramcharan, Paul, Flynn, Margaret, 2010-05-01 Learning Disability uses a life cycle approach to show how those with learning disabilities can be helped most at different stages in their lives Contemporary Intervention Research in Learning Disabilities Bernice Y.L. Wong, 2012-12-06 Recently in the area of learning disabilities a subarea of special education an interesting development has become discernible This development centers on the increasing focus of learning disabilities professionals on theory building and empirical research and it is reflected in the spate of books currently being published With their clear emphasis on conceptual and methodological issues along with directions for future research these newly published books differ essentially from the bulk of learning disabilities textbooks They include S Vaughn and C Bos Eds Research in Learning Disabilities Issues and Future Directions published in 1987 by College Hill T E Scruggs and B Y L Wong Eds Intervention Research in Learning Disabilities published in 1990 by Springer Verlag and L Swanson Ed Learning Disabilities Theoretical and Research Issues published in 1991 by Lawrence Erlbaum Associates As reflected in these three books the discipline began with a service orientation and has evolved beyond that to come of age with aspirations of becoming a scientific discipline These books can be taken to voice the concerted efforts of learning disabilities professionals to promote theory building and empirical research Undeniably these books provide valuable information on conceptual issues and research in learning disabilities Nevertheless they appear to have one drawback namely they focus exclusively on learning disabilities research in North America Research and Global

Perspectives in Learning Disabilities Daniel P. Hallahan, Barbara K. Keogh, 2001-03-01 This volume honors the founder of the International Academy for Research in Learning Disabilities IARLD William M Cruickshank and his many accomplishments His influence on special education in general and learning disabilities in specific is evident throughout the world Consistent with his international activities the contributors to this book represent nine different countries The chapters reflect a range of perspectives on the state of the art in learning disabilities documenting both commonalities and differences across countries Taken together the chapters provide a comprehensive and informative picture of learning disabilities

Research Methods in Psychiatry Chris Freeman, Peter J. Tyrer, Peter Tyrer, 2006-12 This updated comprehensive guide to psychiatric research methods takes the reader from getting started in research through to publishing a paper with advice on avoiding common pitfalls along the way Systematic analysis and meta analysis epidemiology qualitative research and research focused on a few patients are discussed together with the principles of validity and reliability in the assessment of psychological variables and statistical aspects of the design and analysis of clinical trials Five completely new chapters cover topics such as research from the trainee s perspective and research in learning disability and child and adolescent psychiatry A key text for psychiatric trainees embarking on research projects this book will also be useful to psychiatrists supervising research projects and those in the social sciences with an interest in carrying out research or critically reviewing the published evidence Topics covered include setting up a research project how to make a comprehensive review of the literature choosing a rating scale and getting research published Learning Disabilities Bob Gates,Helen Atherton,2007-01-01 This title is directed primarily towards health care professionals outside of the United States It is the authoritative textbook for students of learning disabilities covering a wide variety of topics It is relevant not only for nursing courses but also for care workers OTs and other professional and non professional carers The new edition has been completely updated and includes the latest evidence for practice There are new chapters which means the book provides comprehensive coverage of learning disabilities throughout a person s life There are also new contributors including people with learning disabilities Each chapter is supported by information on further reading and other resources Health and Social Care Research Methods in Context Liz Tilly,2021-12-28 This is the first textbook to show how research using a range of qualitative and quantitative methods relates to improving health and social care practice The book shows how different research approaches are undertaken in practice and the challenges and strengths of different methodologies thus facilitating students to make informed decisions when choosing which to use in their own research projects The eleven chapters are each structured around different research methods and include A brief overview of the research and research question Identification and overview of the research approach and associated methods selected to answer this question The sample and recruitment including issues and challenges Ethical concerns Practical issues in undertaking the research approach Links between the research process and findings to health and social care values Links to the full research study Further reading The book will be a required reading for all students of social work social care nursing public health and health studies and particularly suitable for those on widening participation courses Growing up with Parents who have Learning Difficulties Tim Booth,Wendy Booth,2005-08-10 Growing up with Parents who have Learning Difficulties uses a life story approach to present new evidence about how children from such families manage the transition to adulthood and about the longer term outcomes of such an upbringing It offers a view of parental competence as a social attribute rather than an individual skill assessing the implications for institutional policies and practices The authors address the notion of children having to parent their disabled parents and argue for a shift in emphasis from protecting children to supporting families This innovative book provides a fresh approach to a subject rife with prejudice and challenges us to think again about many taken for granted ideas about the process of parenting and the needs of children It also demonstrates the power of narrative research and its capacity for bringing alive people s experience in a way that enables us to better understand their lives

Inclusive Research with People with Learning Disabilities Jan Walmsley,Kelley Johnson,2003 The authors discuss participative approaches to research and provide an up to date account of inclusive practice with individuals with learning disabilities Drawing on evidence from two major studies they explain how lessons learnt from inclusive research in the learning disability field are applicable to others working with marginalized groups

Managing Attention and Learning Disorders in Late Adolescence and Adulthood Sam Goldstein,1997 It is also clear that many of the concepts and strategies used in assessing and treating children with these problems do not apply to adults

Multiple Perspectives on Difficulties in Learning Literacy and Numeracy Claire Wyatt-Smith,John Elkins,Stephanie Gunn,2010-10-28 There are many approaches to researching the difficulties in learning that students experience in the key areas of literacy and numeracy This book seeks to advance understanding of these difficulties and the interventions that have been used to improve outcomes The book addresses the sometimes complementary and sometimes contradictory results and generates new approaches to understanding and serving students with difficulties in literacy and numeracy The book represents a departure from conventional wisdom as most scholars and graduate students draw upon ideas from only one of the three domains focal in the book and usually from one single or dominant theoretical frame Typically readers will affiliate with reading education mathematics education or learning disabilities and belong to one of the corresponding professional associations such as IRA NCTM or CLD This book s scope will open a scholarly forum for engaging readers with a familiarity with one of these domains while providing insight into the others on offer in the book

Intellectual Disability and Social Inclusion Martin Richard Bollard,2009-01-27 This book provides a unique insight into the challenges faced by people with learning disabilities trying to access mainstream health and social services and by the professionals who are trying to provide them The combination of professional perspectives and viewpoints of people with learning disabilities themselves creates an authoritative explanation of why this group of people face the barriers they do The contributors critique these barriers and also offer potential solutions to overcoming them Personal reflections written by people with learning disabilities on their experiences of accessing health and social care services Comprehensive coverage of policy in the four UK countries

Comprehensive analysis by subject experts of practice in a range of areas from acute health care through mental health to leisure and housing provision Accessible summaries at the end of each chapter including text for people with learning disabilities

Learning Disability Nursing Practice Mark Jukes,2014-10-22 This text encapsulates not only the origins of nursing in the learning disability field but also contemporary perspectives and areas for specialist nursing practice The book is divided into four sections origins perspectives practice and further perspectives Section one origins describes Great Barr

Colony and explores the conceptions of practice of actual attendants and nurses who worked there It gives readers an in depth focus on aspects of work and practice not accounted for in the literature to date Section two perspectives explores social policy perspectives from the past eras of the workhouse the colony and the hospital through to the present age of citizenship Research in learning disability nursing practice is identified through scoping exercises to identify its current status The section questions the research and practice developments that have come of age and that constitute a challenge within an evidence based health and social care world Section three practice identifies a wide range of specialist areas of nursing practice including community learning disability nursing epilepsy forensics health facilitation autism mental health challenging behaviour children s services and working with people with profound and multiple learning disabilities Section four further perspectives addresses areas of contemporary and future concern namely educational curricula for nurses and the importance of inter professional education and practice development Researching Learning Difficulties Jill

Porter,Penny Lacey,2005 The book will help readers to critically evaluate the implications of research reports for their own practice
