not specific to the Christian faith nevertheless betray the dominant Christian values and imagery of their time Finally in Dostoevsky's The Brothers Karamazov and Greene's The Power and the Glory Christianity is put under scrutiny reflecting the increasing insecurity of its place in society Throughout Mong also shows that the themes in these works are to a certain extent universal Creation sin suffering and forgiveness are perennial human concerns beyond the exclusive purview of Christianity and these texts serve to challenge Christian assumptions as much as they are influenced by them Always thorough and sensitive to the unique context of each writer Mong's analysis provides an important grounding in the way Western literature has shaped and been shaped by the religion of its day
