Giant Brains, or, Machines That Think Edmund Callis Berkeley, 2022-10-13 Excerpt The subject of this book is a type of machine that comes closer to being a brain that thinks than any machine ever did before 1940 These new machines are called sometimes mechanical brains and sometimes sequence controlled calculators and sometimes by other names Essentially though they are machines that can handle information with great skill and great speed And that power is very similar to the power of a brain These new machines are important They do the work of hundreds of human beings for the wages of a dozen They are powerful instruments for obtaining new knowledge They apply in science business government and other activities They apply in reasoning and computing and the harder the problem the more useful they are Along with the release of atomic energy they are one of the great achievements of the present century No one can afford to be unaware of their significance

The Mind and the Machine Matthew T. Dickerson, 2016-07-29 Are humans just complex biochemical machines mere physical parts of a causally closed materialist universe Are we approaching the so called Singularity when human consciousness can and will be downloaded into computers Or is there more to the human person something that might be known as soul or spirit As this book makes clear the answers to these questions have profound implications to topics such as heroism creativity ecology and the possibility of reason and science In exploring this important topic Dickerson engages the ideas of some well known twentieth and twenty first century espousers of physicalism including philosopher Daniel Dennett Consciousness Explained biologist Richard Dawkins The God Delusion futurist engineer Raymond Kurzweil The Age of Spiritual Machines psychologist B F Skinner Beyond Freedom and Dignity and mathematician philosopher Bertrand Russell Why I Am Not a Christian Through a careful reading of their works Dickerson not only provides a five fold critique of physicalism but also offers a Christian alternative in the form of integrative dualism which affirms the existence of both a physical and spiritual reality without diminishing the goodness or importance of either and acknowledges that humans are spiritual as well as bodily persons
