Macroeconomic Activity Theory Forecasting And Control:

Macroeconomic Activity-theory, Forecasting, and Control Michael K. Evans,1981 Macroeconomic Activity
Michael K. Evans,1969 Macroeconomic Activity ,1969 Macroeconomics Activity Theory Forecasting and Control Michael K. Evans,1969 India's Economic Prospects - A Macroeconomic And Econometric Analysis Thampy Mammen,1999-09-15 This book provides a macroeconomic analysis of the Indian economy It is a long run study that spans the period from 1950 51 to 1992 93 encompassing the various turning points in India s economic policy and development strategies The macroeconometric model used in the book integrates the monetary and real sectors of the economy In order to provide theoretical underpinnings for the model the book traces the development of macroeconomic theory including Keynesian structuralist and supply side economics The model explains the public sector s current and capital expenditures rather than treating them as exogenous variables A sub recursive system of prices is formulated in terms of unit cost based on the flow of factor income generated in the process of production monetary variable and agriculture supply factors The model analyzes and evaluates policy changes in India particularly since 1984 It is used to derive the appropriate mix of fiscal monetary and trade policies needed to generate significant economic growth in 1997 2000 in a non inflationary environment While fiscal and monetary discipline is vital in this regard public sector investment plays an important role in capital formation and economic growth ECESIS: An Interregional Economic-Demographic Model of the United States Paul M. Beaumont,2018-02-28 Originally published in 1989 ECESIS consists of 51 regional econometric models one for each state and the District of Columbia and a multiregional demographic model Its distinguishing feature is the linking of sophisticated demographic accounts with sophisticated structural econometric models This book looking at how strong the interactions are between population dynamics and economic activity determines to what extent the simultaneous economic demographic interregional model provides improved projection and simulation properties over regional economic and demographic models used independently of one another Marketing Information Guide ,1969 Financial Development in Korea, 1945-1978 David C. Cole,Yung Chul Park,2020-03-17 A study of the postwar development of the South Korean financial sector through 1978 A detailed description of the structure of the financial sector is provided followed by discussions of Korea s regulated and unregulated financial institutions and markets government policies to influence resource allocation and mobilization price stabilization problems and policies and lessons from the Korean experience The Economics of Commercial Property Markets Michael Ball,Colin Lizieri,Bryan MacGregor,2012-10-12 This new text provides a rigorous analysis of real estate markets Three main sections cover microeconomics of property markets the macroeconomics of commercial property the financial economics of property Global empirical examples illustrate the theories and issues This often complex area is made accessible each chapter contains a boxed summary and questions for self testing or discussion Econometric Models of Asian Link Shinichi Ichimura,Mitsuo Ezaki,2012-12-06 This is the first

outcome of our effort in ASIAN LINK PROJECT to construct the econometric models of Asian developing countries and analyze their inter dependence with major trading partners the United States and Japan The model we present here is called Asian Link System The countries in this system include Korea Taiwan Hong Kong China the Philippines Thailand Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Japan and the United States They are covered by national models The rest of the world is divided into several regions and treated by simple proto type models The main characteristics of Asian Link System are to deal with the inter dependent relations between Asian developing countries on the one hand and Japan and United States on the other hand Here are presented these national models and the Asian Link System with the underlying statistical data so that any econometrician can re estimate our models and check the results of our research work Nowadays most articles and books in econometrics report only the final results or conclusions of research so that no other econometrician can re calculate or re examine the findings This is very serious in the empirical research because as theorists may make mistakes positive economists do commit errors or miss some possible considerations Unless statistical data are offered other econometricians cannot make suggestions or improve the models This is the main reason why empirical research in econometrics or applied econometrics are not making substantial progress in recent years

Economic Forecasting: The State of the Art Elia Xacapyr, 2016-09-16 An overview of the macroeconomic forecasting industry in the United States that explains and evaluates the forecasting techniques used to make predictions about various aspects of the national economy

Resource and Market Projections for Forest Policy Development Darius M. Adams, Richard W. Haynes, 2007-09-18 Figure 1 1 Post World War II US assessment history 1973 were motivated by the emerging conflicts in the post World War II period between rapidly increasing softwood harvests and declining timber growth These are called the Outlook Studies The last six studies 1980 1985 1989 1993 2000 2005 have been conducted to meet the requirements of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act RPA of 1974 These are called the RPA Timber Assessments

6 The Challenge of Developing Models

1 2 SHAPING THE ASSESSMENT SYSTEM This initial chapter describes the development and specific structure of the Assessment System We consider past policy analysis needs and federal legislative requirements antecedent modeling and projection approaches characteristics of the US forest sector and recent trends in public and private resource management At the federal level and in some states and regions the USA has a lengthy history of using resource and market models to explore policy issues and to examine the effects of alternative policy actions Many of these studies have been undertaken on an irregular basis as issues emerged and resource conditions changed The RPA legislation mandated a regular cycle of nationwide assessments by the Forest Service examining trends and conditions in an array of resource uses and services climate minerals range recreation timber and water The structure of the Assessment System reflects both the requirements of the RPA legislation and the unique characteristics of the US forest sector which it is designed to simulate In the years since enactment of the RPA legislation management directions and objectives on both public and private lands in the

USA have continued to evolve The structure of the Assessment System has been adapted to reflect these trends

Understanding Consumption Angus Deaton, 1992-10-08 This book provides an overview of the recent research on saving and consumption a field in which substantial progress has been made over the last decade Attempts by economists to understand saving and consumption patterns have generated some of the best science in economics For more than fifty years there has been serious empirical and theoretical activity and data theory and policy have never been separated as has happened in many branches of economics Research has drawn microeconomists interested in household behaviour as well as macroeconomists for whom the behaviour of aggregate consumption has always occupied a central role in explaining aggregate fluctuations Econometricians have also made distinguished contributions and there has been a steady flow of new methodologies by those working on saving and consumption in time series econometrics as well as in the study of micro and panel data A coherent account of these developments is presented here emphasizing the interplay between micro and the macro between studies of cross section and panels and those using aggregate time series data

Mergers and Acquisitions Michael Keenan, Lawrence J. White, 2003 This is a reprint of a previously published work It is the product of a conference held in 1981 by the Salomon Center for the Study of Financial Institutions at NYU to explore a wide range of issues concerning mergers and acquisitions

Ethical Dimensions of the Economy Wilfried Ver Eecke, 2008-03-19 Overview This book is a philosophical reflection using mainly Hegel in addition to 1 Adam Smith Kant Marx and Catholic Social Thought about the socio-political dimension of economics In it I both agree and disagree with the slogan that the least government is the best government I agree with the slogan in particular as it applies to the economic domain Adam Smith taught us that rational and self-interested individuals left by themselves create a more efficient and reliable economic system than one in which the government has a heavy role as was the case in his time with the mercantile system Smith 14 651 Ludwig von Mises demonstrated the same idea for the communist command economy Hayek 1935 87 130 I do agree with the above mentioned slogan if it is interpreted as suggesting that we can best forget about the role of the government for a good functioning economy Instead I will argue that the government has an important function in creating the proper regulations and the wise institutional arrangements which will allow the economy to flourish in a more efficient fair and humane way This book is interdisciplinary in nature It is a philosophical and ethical reflection on economics Hence I make use of philosophical ideas often but not exclusively those of Hegel I reflect philosophically on economic concepts

Empirical Explorations in Regional Growth M.A. Ghali, 2012-12-06 1 A number of economic explanations for the process of regional growth have been proposed in the literature Apart from pure scholarly interest understanding the factors that have promoted growth in some regions while others have been left lagging is of crucial importance for the design of policy aimed at helping depressed regions or promoting balanced growth among regions The purpose of studying the process of regional growth is to delineate the variables that have the major influence on growth to understand the mechanisms through which these variables exert their forces and to determine if the interactions of these forces alter the magnitudes of response or the manner in which a regional economy responds to stimuli The first step in this process is the determination of the primary forces responsible for the growth or stagnation of a region These forces should be few in number if the analyses of the mechanisms that transmit their effects and the interactions among those mechanisms are to be reasonably tractable Regional economists cannot draw on many of the results of studies of the economic development of nations for many of the forces isolated by development economists such as culture tradition or barriers to free flows of goods and factors of production have no viable role to play in the explanation of the variety of growth experience within a system of regions Oversight on the Activities of the Council on Wage and Price Stability United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, 1977

Payment of Interest on Public Demand Deposits United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, 1976 External Finance in Thailand's Development Karel Jansen, 2016-07-27 Between 1987 and 1990 Thailand experienced double digit growth fed by high capital inflows This made Thailand one of the first developing countries to recover from the recession of the 1980s Since 1990 growth and capital inflows have continued at a high level The book makes a detailed study of the macroeconomic impact of capital inflows during recent years and during an earlier period when growth and capital inflows were high in the late 1970s It is shown that the results of the recent period are more sustainable than those of the earlier period due to the differences in the nature of capital inflows in external conditions and in economic policies Econometric Business Cycle Research Jan Jacobs, 2012-12-06 Econometric Business Cycle Research deals with econometric business cycle research EBCR a term introduced by the Nobel laureate Jan Tinbergen for his econometric method of testing economic business cycle theories EBCR combines economic theory and measurement in the study of business cycles i e ups and downs in overall economic activity We assess four methods of EBCR business cycle indicators simultaneous equations models vector autoregressive systems and real business indicators After a sketch of the history of the methods we investigate whether the methods meet the goals of EBCR the three traditional ones description forecasting and policy evaluation and the one Tinbergen introduced the implementation testing of business cycles The first three EBCR methods are illustrated for the Netherlands a typical example of a small open economy The main conclusion of the book is that simultaneous equation models are the best vehicle for EBCR if all its goals are to be attained simultaneously This conclusion is based on a fairly detailed assessment of the methods and is not overturned in the empirical illustrations The main conclusion does not imply the end of other EBCR methods Not all goals have to be met with a single vehicle other methods might serve the purpose equally well or even better For example if one is interested in business cycle forecasts one might prefer a business cycle indicator or vector autoregressive system A second conclusion is that many ideas concepts that play an important role in current discussions about econometric methodology in general and EBCR in particular were put forward in the 1930s and 1940s A third conclusion is that it is difficult if not impossible to compare the outcomes of RBC models to outcomes of the other three methods because RBC modellers are not interested in modelling business cycles on an observation per observation basis. A more general conclusion in this respect is that methods should adopt the same concept of business cycles to make them comparable.
