

The background of the cover is an abstract, organic pattern. It features a dense network of thin, branching, vein-like structures in shades of green and blue, set against a dark, almost black, background. These structures form a complex, interconnected web. Interspersed within this web are several larger, more rounded, bubble-like or cell-like shapes, some of which have a lighter green or yellowish tint, giving the overall impression of a microscopic view of a biological or chemical process, or perhaps a stylized representation of a natural phenomenon like marbled paper or a liquid surface under light.
