Theorizing Southeast Asian Relations Amitav Acharya, Richard Stubbs, 2013-10-31 The recent proliferation of theories of international relations has transformed analyses of Southeast Asia's international affairs A new generation of scholars has promoted a lively and illuminating debate which has seen the traditional realist neorealist approach which continues to hold centre stage challenged by constructivist analyses In turn constructivists have found themselves under fire from an array of competing approaches This collection engages this emerging debate It underscores the point that Southeast Asia is now an important site for applying new theories of international relations It also demonstrates that theoretical frameworks originally developed in North America and Europe have to be adapted to the specific circumstances found in places like Southeast Asia and that this process can enrich theory building The chapters in this book focus on the realist neorealist constructivist English School and critical approaches The resulting debate helps to shed light on ways of analysing Southeast Asian relations as well as on the evolution of these key theoretical frameworks This book was published as a special issue of The Pacific Review

Peace and Security in Indo-Pacific Asia Sorpong Peou, 2021-11-21 Peace and Security in Indo Pacific Asia is for the informed the interested and the engaged Sorpong Peou brings together the skills of the pedagogue with the knowledge of the scholar Dr David Dewitt University Professor Emeritus Senior Scholar York University Toronto Canada Peou's excellent book provides both the lay reader and the specialist with six important theoretical frameworks which should provide the basis for better appreciation of what a security community in Indo Pacific Asia means in our world today There are very few scholars who understand the region like Peou Dr W Andy Knight Professor of Political Science the University of Alberta Canada Sorpong Peou's extraordinary breadth of knowledge of both International Relations theory and the key trends in Indo Pacific Asia shines through in this authoritative analysis Dr Richard Stubbs Professor of Political Science McMaster University Canada A pedagogical approach of the textbook that is appreciated is how the author respectfully engages with the theories of IR and is not pushing an agenda of denouncing some theories and trying to persuade the reader of others We live in such polarizing times that it is truly refreshing to read scholarly work that avoids sensationalistic attacks on theories that have been debated for decades Each theory in this manuscript is explored on its own terms and the reader is encouraged to figure out where they stand on these enduring debates in the context of Indo Pacific security The approach will lead to compelling classroom discussions of the theories and the politics of the region This book is a must read for any student or observer of security trends in the region Dr Mark Williams Chair and Professor of Political Studies Vancouver Island University B C Canada Future Trends in East Asian International Relations Quansheng Zhao,2014-03-18 The world has undergone significant change since the end of the Cold War One such development is that the Asia Pacific has become increasingly prominent in international affairs This comprehensive study provides a detailed understanding of key issues actors and future trends in the region Order and Security in Southeast Asia Michael Leifer,2006 Michael Leifer who died in 2001 was one of the leading scholars of Southeast Asian international relations This is an academic and personal volume devoted to Leifer s vast contributions to the discipline of international relations Rethinking Security in East Asia J. J. Suh,Peter J. Katzenstein,Allen Carlson,2004 Is East Asia heading towards war This text makes a case for a new theoretical approach called analytical eclecticism by the authors to the study of Asian security Asia-Pacific Security Cooperation: National Interests and Regional Order See Seng Tan,2014-12-18 New developments in the Asia Pacific are forcing regional officials to rethink the way they manage security issues The contributors to this work explore why some forms of security cooperation and institutionalisation in the region have proven more feasible than others This work describes the emergence of the professions in late tsarist Russia and their struggle for autonomy from the aristocratic state It also examines the ways in which the Russian professions both resembled and differed from their Western counterparts Human Security in Southeast Asia Yukiko Nishikawa,2010-09-13 There is a growing interest in human security in Southeast Asia This book firstly explores the theoretical and conceptual basis of human security before focusing on the region itself It shows how human security has been taken up as a central part of security policy in individual states in Southeast Asia as well as in the regional security policy within the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN The book discusses domestic challenges for human security including the insurgencies in southern Thailand the Philippines and Indonesia Transnational security issues such as terrorism drugs human trafficking and the situation in Burma are explored by the author and the ASEAN way of contrasting the values and approaches of Southeast Asian countries with those in the West is assessed By focusing on the ongoing changes and efforts to achieve human security in Southeast Asia this book contributes to theoretical debates on human security as well as regional studies on Southeast Asia Critical security in the Asia-Pacific Anthony Burke,Matt McDonald,2021-06-15 In the wake of 9 11 the Asian crisis and the 2004 tsunami traditional analytical frameworks are increasingly unable to explain how individuals and communities are rendered insecure or advance individual global or environmental security In the Asia Pacific the accepted wisdom of realism has meant that analyses rarely move beyond the statist militarist and exclusionary assumptions that underpin traditional realpolitik This innovative new book challenges these limitations and addresses the missing problems people and vulnerabilities of the Asia Pacific region It also turns a critical eye on traditional interstate strategic dynamics Critical security in the Asia Pacific applies both a critical theoretical approach that interrogates the deeper assumptions underpinning security discourses and a human centred policy approach that focuses on the security welfare and emancipation of individuals and communities. Leading Asia Pacific researchers combine to apply these frameworks to the most pressing issues in the region from the Korean peninsula to environmental change, Indonesian conflict, the war on terror and the plight of refugees. The result is a sophisticated and accessible account of often neglected realities of marginalization in the region and a compelling argument for the empowerment and security of the most vulnerable.

Peace and Security in the Asia-Pacific Sorpong Peou, 2010-04-15. Demonstrating that none of the various perspectives under review has emerged as the clear winner in the struggle for theoretical hegemony in security studies, this book shows that eclectic perspectives like democratic realist institutionalism can better explain peace and security in the Asian Pacific. The Asian Pacific has emerged as one of the most important regions in the world, causing scholars to pay increased attention to the various challenges old and new to peace and security there. Peace and Security in the Asia Pacific: Theory and Practice is a comprehensive critical review of the established theoretical perspectives relevant to contemporary peace and security studies in the light of recent experiences. Illuminating ongoing debates in the field, the book covers some 20 theoretical perspectives on peace and security in the Asian Pacific, including realist, liberal, socialist, peace and human security, constructivist, feminist and nontraditional security studies. The first section of the book discusses perspectives in realist security studies; the second part covers perspectives critical of realism. The author's goal is to assess whether any of the perspectives found in nonrealist security studies are capable of undermining realism. His conclusion is that each theoretical perspective has its strengths and weaknesses, leaving eclecticism as the best way to understand the region's dynamics.

Security and Southeast Asia Alan Collins, 2003. From internal oppression in Burma to interstate conflict in the South China Sea, the people of Southeast Asia face a range of threats. This book identifies and explains the security challenges, both traditional and nontraditional, confronting the region. Collins addresses the full spectrum of security issues, discussing the impact of ethnic tensions and competing political ideologies, the evolving role of ASEAN and Southeast Asia's interactions with key external actors: China, Japan and the United States. The final section of the book explores how the region's security issues are reflected in two current cases: the South China Sea dispute and the war on terrorism.

Institutional Balancing in the Asia Pacific Kai He, 2009. This book examines the strategic interactions among China, the United States, Japan and Southeast Asian States in the context of China's rise and globalization after the cold war. Engaging the mainstream theoretical debates in international relations, the author introduces a new theoretical framework, institutional realism, to explain the institutionalization of world politics in the Asia Pacific after the cold war. Institutional realism suggests that deepening economic interdependence creates a condition under which states are more likely to conduct a new balancing strategy: institutional balancing, i.e. countering pressures or threats through initiating, utilizing and dominating multilateral institutions to pursue security under anarchy. To test the validity of institutional realism Kai He examines the foreign policies of the U S Japan the ASEAN states and China toward four major multilateral institutions Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation APEC the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN Regional Forum ARF ASEAN Plus Three APT and East Asian Summit EAS Challenging the popular pessimistic view regarding China s rise the book concludes that economic interdependence and structural constraints may well soften the dragon s teeth China s rise does not mean a dark future for the region Institutional Balancing in the Asia Pacific will be of great interest to policy makers and scholars of Asian security international relations Chinese foreign policy and U S foreign policy

Security Politics in the Asia-Pacific William T. Tow, 2009-10-15 In this book leading experts present research on the evolution of key issues in Asian security

Non-Traditional Security Challenges in Asia Shebonti Ray Dadwal, 2017-07-05 Asia is challenged by a number of non traditional security issues including the food energy water nexus climate change transnational crime terrorism disaster relief and economic performance This volume categorizes and clarifies some key emerging issues in the area and looks at their interconnectedness and implications The essays explore how non traditional issues can manifest as security challenges and the role of the state and military in dealing with these Issue based and area specific they rely on facts and interpretation of data avoiding alarmist predictions A nuanced and analytical approach into an uncharted area this book will be essential for policymakers researchers and students of security and strategic studies foreign policy sociology and political economy as well as the general readers

Dark Logic Robert Mandel, 2011 This book constitutes the first major study showing 1 when transnational organized crime is likely to use corruption and violence tactics 2 when transnational criminal activities most affect individual and state security and 3 when the negative consequences of these tactics and activities can be most successfully combated

Water and Security in Central Asia Virpi Stucki, Kai Wegerich, Muhammad Mizanur Rahaman, Olli Varis, 2016-04-08 Examining the water development and security linkages in Central Asia can feel a bit like solving a Rubik s cube The Rubik s cube starts to usually find structure and the different pieces find their places when its solver adopts a systematic approach Still solving the whole cube takes time and perseverance This is also the case with water and security in Central Asia as demonstrated by the chapters in this book In the case of water and security in Central Asia there are many faces including not only the Central Asian states but also the neighbouring countries and other players of global geopolitics stickers such as policies practices causes and impacts and colours such as the different stakeholders ranging from the micro and meso levels to the macro level Understanding all these or getting clarity on the nexus can seem extremely challenging Even though none of the chapters alone answers the question of what constitutes water and security in Central Asia each of them gives thoughtful ideas and information on the complexity of the issue This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development

Japan's Security Agenda Christopher W. Hughes, 2004 Long constrained as a security actor by constitutional as well as external factors Japan now increasingly is called to play a greater role in stabilizing both the Asia

Pacific region and the entire international system Japan's Security Agenda explores the country's diplomatic political military and economic concerns and policies within this new context The Making of the Asia Pacific See Seng Tan, 2013-08-15 Critically surveying the power of narratives in shaping the discourse on the post Cold War Asia Pacific See Seng Tan examines the purposes practices power relations and protagonists behind policy networks such as the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific and the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council The author argues that filled with economic social and political meaning the policy and academic discourses regarding the Asia Pacific and its subregions authorize and provoke certain understandings while preventing counternarratives from emerging China's War on Terrorism Martin I. Wayne, 2007-11-06 This book examines the success of China's counterinsurgency policies in fighting Islamic terrorism in its internal war in the Xinjiang province and draws lessons for the West in its war against global Jihadism ASEAN and Its Security Offspring Sheldon W. Simon, 2007 Southeast Asian states within ASEAN agree that security relations with the great powers are best achieved by enmeshing the latter in ASEAN procedures The primary goal of ASEAN is that China Japan the United States and India commit to maintaining Southeast Asia's autonomy integrity and prosperity ASEAN is less successful in resolving conflicts internal to the region including human rights in Burma transnational terrorism environmental concerns human trafficking and illegal arms trade Sovereignty protection frequently trumps cooperation on these issues
