Situated between the Palace Embankment and the Palace Square adjacent to the site of Peter the Great's original Winter Palace the present and fourth Winter Palace was built and altered almost continuously between the late 1730s and 1837 when it was severely damaged by fire and immediately rebuilt. The storming of the palace in 1917 became an iconic symbol of the Russian Revolution. The palace was constructed on a monumental scale that was intended to reflect the might and power of Imperial Russia. From the palace the Tsar ruled over 22 400 000 square kilometres 8 600 000 sq mi almost 1/6 of the Earth's landmass and over 125 million subjects by the end of the 19th century. It was designed by many architects most notably Bartolomeo Rastrelli in what came to be known as the Elizabethan Baroque style. The green and white palace has the shape of an elongated rectangle and its principal facade is 250 m long and 100 ft 30 m high. The Winter Palace has been calculated to contain 1 786 doors 1 945 windows 1 500 rooms and 117 staircases. The rebuilding of 1837 left the exterior unchanged but large parts of the interior were redesigned in a variety of tastes and styles leading the palace to be described as a 19th century palace inspired by a model in Rococo. Palaces in Russia Source Wikipedia, 2013-09 Please note that the content of this book primarily consists of articles available from Wikipedia or other free sources online.
