Dillenburg,Patrick A. Hesp,2008-11-02 This is the first book to cover the Holocene geology and geomorphology of the 9 200 kilometers of the Brazilian coast It is written for third and fourth year undergraduates post graduate students scientists and man ers It characterizes the Brazilian coast in terms of the Holocene geology geomorphology oceanographic and climatic conditions and the location morphology and evolution of the barrier types Separate chapters outline the types of barriers and coastal dynamics in each state beginning in the south and proceeding to the north Some emphasis is placed on the stretches of coast where the detailed morphology and stratigraphy of b riers has been previously determined To date the Brazilian coastal barriers have been largely ignored by the international community partly perhaps because much of the past research has tended to concentrate on barrier islands of which there are very few in Brazil In contrast the Brazilian coastal barriers display a much wider range of types than is generally assumed The biggest and most spectacular transgressive dunefield barriers in the world exist in Brazil and dominate the southern and northeastern coasts Many have never been described fore This volume provides a wealth of information on Holocene barrier types evolution and dynamics It provides managers ecologists biologists and botanists with much needed information on the geology geomorph ogy and dynamics of the genesis types functioning and ecosystems of the Holocene barriers extending along the entire Brazilian coast Urbanization, Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services: Challenges and Opportunities Thomas Elmqvist,Michail Fragkias,Julie Goodness,Burak Güneralp,Peter J. Marcotullio,Robert I. McDonald,Susan Parnell,Maria Schewenius,Marte Sendstad,Karen C. Seto,Cathy Wilkinson,2013-09-21 Urbanization is a global phenomenon and the book emphasizes that this is not just a social technological process It is also a social ecological process where cities are places for nature and where cities also are dependent on and have impacts on the biosphere at different scales from local to global The book is a global assessment and delivers four main conclusions Urban areas are expanding faster than urban populations Half the increase in urban land across the world over the next 20 years will occur in Asia with the most extensive change expected to take place in India and China Urban areas modify their local and regional climate through the urban heat island effect and by altering precipitation patterns which together will have significant impacts on net primary production ecosystem health and biodiversity Urban expansion will heavily draw on natural resources including water on a global scale and will often consume prime agricultural land with knock on effects on biodiversity and ecosystem services elsewhere Future urban expansion will often occur in areas where the capacity for formal governance is restricted which will constrain the protection of biodiversity and management of ecosystem services The Evening Journal ...
