Marana Community In The Hohokam World:

The Marana Community in the Hohokam World Suzanne K. Fish, Paul R. Fish, John Henry Madsen, 1992 This account of Classic Period settlement in the Tucson Basin between A D 1100 and 1300 is the first comprehensive description of the organization of territory subsistence and society in a Hohokam community of an outlying region Broad recovery of settlement patterns reveals in unique detail the developmental history of the Marana Community and its hierarchical structure about a central site with a platform mound Remains of diverse agricultural technologies demonstrate the means for supporting populations of previously unrecognized size The Marana Community in the Hohokam World, 1992 Trincheras Sites in Time, Space, and Society Suzanne K. Fish, Paul R. Fish, M. Elisa Villalpando, Villalpando Canchola Villalpando C., 2018-07-02 This edited volume integrates a remarkable body of new data representing current issues and methodologies in the archaeology of hilltop sites known as cerros de trincheras in the southwestern United States and northwestern Mexico

Ethnobiology at the Millennium Richard I. Ford, 2001-01-01 A collection of papers from the Ethnobiology 2000 millennium conference in Ann Arbor Contributions by Richard Ford Elizabeth Wing Steven Weber Paul Minnis Karen Adams Eugene Hunn Cecil Brown Catherine Fowler Nancy Turner and Eugene Anderson Understanding Pottery Function James M. Skibo, 2012-08-15 The 1992 publication of Pottery Function brought together the ethnographic study of the Kalinga and developed a method and theory for how pottery was actually used Since then there have been considerable advances in understanding how pottery was actually used particularly in the area of residue analysis abrasion and sooting carbonization At the 20th anniversary of the book it is time to assess what has been done and learned One of the concerns of those working in pottery analysis is that they are unsure how to do use alteration analysis on their collection Another common concern is understanding intended pottery function the connections between technical choices and function This book is designed to answer these questions using case studies from the author and his colleagues for applying use alteration analysis to infer actual pottery function The focus of Understanding Pottery Function is on how practicing archaeologists can infer function from their ceramic collection The Abandonment of Settlements and Regions Catherine M. Cameron, Steve A.

Tomka, 1993-07-08 Groups of people abandoned sites in different ways and for different reasons And what they did when they left a settlement or area had a direct bearing on the kind and quality of cultural remains that entered the archaeological record for example whether buildings were dismantled or left standing or tools buried destroyed or removed from the site Contributors to this unique collection on site abandonment draw on ethnoarchaeological and archaeological data from North and South America Europe Africa and the Near East Western Apache Witchcraft Keith H. Basso, 1969-05 An ethnographic contribution describing the beliefs and ideas associated with witchcraft as shared knowledge that the Apaches have about their universe Uncovers the types of interpersonal relationships with which witchcraft accusations are regularly associated and posits explanations for these associations Salado Archaeology of the Upper Gila, New Mexico

Stephen H. Lekson, 2002-03 Salado is an enigma of the past One of the most spectacular cultures of the ancient Southwest its brilliant polychrome pottery has been subjected to varied interpretations from religious cult to artistic horizon Stephen Lekson now uses data from two Salado sites a large pueblo and a small farmstead to clarify long standing misconceptions about this culture By combining analysis of the large whole vessel collection at Dutch Ruin with the scientific excavation of Villareal II a picture of Salado emerges that enables Lekson to evaluate previous competing theories and propose that Salado represents a major fourteenth century migration of Pueblo peoples into the Chihuahuan deserts Lekson demonstrates that late short lived Salado farmsteads difficult to identify archaeologically in areas with larger Mimbres concentrations coexisted with larger Salado towns and he argues that Salado in the Upper Gila region appears as a substantial migration of Mogollon Uplands populations into what was a vacant river valley Throughout the fourteenth century Salado communities in the Upper Gila were integrated into the larger Salado horizon and were closely connected to Casas Grandes as indicated by the export of serpentine to the city of Paquim and the occurrence of Casas Grandes pottery at Upper Gila Salado sites The book includes illustrations of 71 vessels from Dutch Ruin plus a full color frontispiece Through analysis of these two sites Lekson has taken a large step toward clearing up the mystery of Salado His work will be welcomed by all who study the movements of peoples in the prehispanic Southwest The Ceramic Sequence of the Holmul Region, Guatemala Michael G. Callaghan, Nina Neivens de Estrada, 2016-11-29 New and comprehensive sequencing of the ceramics in Guatemala s Holmul region provides answers to important questions in Maya archaeology In this comprehensive and highly illustrated new study authors Callaghan and Neivens de Estrada use type variety mode classification to define a ceramic sequence that spans approximately 1 600 years In the Aftermath of Migration Anna A. Neuzil, 2016-12-15 The Safford and Aravaipa valleys of Arizona have always lingered in the wings of Southwestern archaeology away from the spotlight held by the more thoroughly studied Tucson and Phoenix Basins the Mogollon Rim area and the Colorado Plateau Yet these two valleys hold intriguing clues to understanding the social processes particularly migration and the interaction it engenders that led to the coalescence of ancient populations throughout the Greater Southwest in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries A D Because the Safford and Aravaipa valleys show cultural influences from diverse areas of the pre Hispanic Southwest particularly the Phoenix Basin the Mogollon Rim and the Kayenta and Tusayan region they serve as a microcosm of many of the social changes that occurred in other areas of the Southwest during this time This research explores the social changes that took place in the Safford and Aravaipa valleys during the thirteenth through the fifteenth centuries A D as a result of an influx of migrants from the Kayenta and Tusayan regions of northeastern Arizona Focusing on domestic architecture and ceramics the author evaluates how migration affects the expression of identity of both migrant and indigenous populations in the Safford and Aravaipa valleys and provides a model for research in other areas where migration played an important role Archaeologists interested in the Greater Southwest will find a wealth of information on these little known valleys that provides contextualization for this important and intriguing time period and those interested in migration in the ancient past will find a useful case study that goes beyond identifying incidents of migration to understanding its long lasting implications for both migrants and the local people they impacted

Oysters in the Land of Cacao Bradley E. Ensor, 2020-09-01 For decades the Chontalpa region of Tabasco Mexico conjured images of the possible origins of the Itz who migrated conquered or otherwise influenced much of Mesoamerica In Oysters in the Land of Cacao archaeologist Bradley E Ensor provides an important resource for Mesoamerican Gulf Coast archaeology by offering a new and detailed picture of the coastal sites vital to understanding regional interactions and social dynamics This book synthesizes data from multiyear investigations at a coastal site complex in Tabasco Islas de Los Cerros ILC providing the first modern systematic descriptions and analyses of material culture that challenge preconceptions while enabling new perspectives on cultural developments from the Formative to Late Classic periods through the lens of regional comparisons and contemporary theoretical trends Ensor introduces a political ecological understanding of the environment and archaeological features overturns a misconception that the latter were formative shell middens provides an alternative pottery classification more appropriate for the materials and for contemporary theory and introduces new approaches for addressing formation processes and settlement history Building on the empirical analyses and discussions of problems in Mesoamerican archaeology this book contributes new approaches to practice and agency perspectives holistically integrating intra and interclass agency kinship strategies gender and age dynamics layered cultural identities landscapes social memory and foodways and feasting Oysters in the Land of Cacao addresses issues important to coastal archaeology within and beyond Mesoamerica It delivers an overdue regional synthesis and new observations on settlement patterns elite power and political economies

Coastal Foragers of the Gran Desierto Douglas R. Mitchell, Jonathan B. Mabry, Gary Huckleberry, Natalia Martínez Tagüña, 2024-03-19 The result of nearly twenty years of interdisciplinary research this volume contributes to the archaeological and paleoenvironmental knowledge of an important but lightly investigated hyperarid coastline at the heart of the Sonoran Desert Focused on the coast near Puerto Peasco Sonora Mexico it examines the diverse groups occupying the coast for salt abundant food sources and shells for ornament manufacturing

Households on the Mimbres Horizon Barbara J. Roth, 2023-03-28 Pithouse sites represent the basic form of occupation in the Mimbres Mogollon region of southwestern New Mexico from AD 200 to the late 900s This study presents the results of excavations of one such site called La Gila Encantada Little is known about the variability present at pithouse sites away from the major Mimbres and Gila River Valleys Nonriverine occupations have been understudied until now This book describes subsistence and settlement practices and compares the results with recent research conducted at the larger villages in the Mimbres River Valley Despite basic similarities in material culture households at La Gila Encantada appear to have followed different trajectories than those along the rivers Examining these differences archaeologist Barbara J Roth provides insights into some of the reasons why they existed and shows that the variability present in pithouse occupations over the years was tied to multiple factors including environmental differences economic practices and the social composition of groups occupying the sites With chapters assessing ceramic data chipped and groundstone analysis shell and mineral jewelry and regional context this look at the past offers relevant insights into current issues in Southwest archaeology including identity interaction and household organization

Reframing the Northern Rio Grande Pueblo Economy Scott Ortman, 2019-04-30 Rio Grande pueblo societies took shape in the aftermath of significant turmoil and migration in the thirteenth century In the centuries that followed the size of Pueblo settlements level of aggregation degree of productive specialization extent of interethnic exchange and overall social harmony increased to unprecedented levels Economists recognize scale agglomeration the division of labor international trade and control over violence as important determinants of socioeconomic development in the modern world But is a development framework appropriate for understanding Rio Grande archaeology What do we learn about contemporary Pueblo culture and its resiliency when Pueblo history is viewed through this lens What does the exercise teach us about the determinants of economic growth more generally The contributors in this volume argue that ideas from economics and complexity science when suitably adapted provide a compelling approach to the archaeological record Contributors consider what we can learn about socioeconomic development through archaeology and explore how Pueblo culture and institutions supported improvements in the material conditions of life over time They examine demographic patterns the production and exchange of food cotton textiles pottery and stone tools and institutional structures reflected in village plans rock art and ritual artifacts that promoted peaceful exchange They also document change through time in various economic measures and consider their implications for theories of socioeconomic development The archaeological record of the Northern Rio Grande exhibits the hallmarks of economic development but Pueblo economies were organized in radically different ways than modern industrialized and capitalist economies This volume explores the patterns and determinants of economic development in pre Hispanic Rio Grande Pueblo society building a platform for more broadly informed research on this critical process

The Oxford Handbook of Southwest Archaeology Barbara J. Mills, Severin M. Fowles, 2017 This volume takes stock of the empirical evidence theoretical orientations and historical reconstructions of archaeology of the American Southwest Themed chapters on method and theory are accompanied by comprehensive overviews of all major cultural traditions in the region from the Paleoindians to Chaco Canyon to the onset of Euro American imperialism
