Marauder Memoir Of A B 26 Pilot In Europe In World War II:

Marauder Louis S. Rehr, Carleton R. Rehr, 2004 Under the leadership of a dedicated pilot the B 26 Marauder was a formidable weapon in the campaign to defeat Hitler's armies and in the words of his first copilot Lou was the best there was He created a spirit among the crew that made us really want to fly the mission and the disappointed if we had to abort This memoir begins with Captain Rehr's arrival in pre invasion England in May 1944 and ends with the completion of Major Rehr's aircraft disarmament duties in postwar Germany in July 1945 Rehr a squadron commander with the 323rd Bombardment Group earned 12 air medals five battle stars two Distinguished Flying Crosses and the Croix de Guerre with Silver Star He describes his experiences including five night bombing missions he volunteered to fly in 1944 and accounts of attacks by Me 262 jets in late April of 1945 The narrative also recollects two summers in 1936 and 1938 when as a teenager touring Germany he observed the influence of Nazism This memoir is the result of forty years of research on the combat history of the B 26 contributions from comrades an extensive collection of rare photographs artifacts including newspaper articles and letters and all military records and documents relating to Rehr's part in World War II One appendix describes where readers can find images and restorations of the B 26 A second gives brief follow ups on the men described in the narrative often with their remembrances of the events outlined

Flying the B-26 Marauder Over Europe Carl H. Moore, 2013-05-28 This is the story of my experiences with the medium bomber designated by the Army as a B 26 and named by the British the Marauder The book includes a history of the development of the plane My war experience began with ferrying our Marauder to England which included a Sahara Desert stretch from Dakar to Marrakesh Less than a third of the way there we lost the right engine but flew on safely on one engine making an emergency landing at the oasis village of Tindouf an old French Foreign Legion base The Marauders were involved in the tragic low level mission over the E boat pens in Holland where 60 percent of the officers and airmen and all ten aircraft were lost This mission resulted in a reconsideration of low level operations in Europe decision move to medium altitude My journal entries were created after each mission and offer details target date crew members their emotions action narrative of 50 combat missions Appendix A Considerable background on the design and construction of the Marauder is included as well as a description of the B 26 reconstructed by the Confederate now Commemorative Air Force The book ends with a description of each of the crew members and their activity since the war if available

Brim, 2016-04-19 One young man's story of combat in the air constant battles for survival and the development of radar technology for use against the Luftwaffe This is the story of how an eighteen year old miner shoveling ore from deep in the ground in Utah suddenly found himself only two years later 30 000 feet in the air over Nazi Germany piloting a Flying Fortress in the first wave of America's air counteroffensive in Europe Like thousands of other young Americans Ray Brim was plucked out by the US Army to be a combat flyer and was quickly pitted against the hardened veterans of the Luftwaffe Brim turned out to have a natural knack for flying however and was assigned to the select squadron developing lead pathfinder techniques while experimenting with radar He was among the first to test the teeth of the Luftwaffe's defenses and once those techniques had been honed thousands of other bomber crews would follow into the maelstrom from which 80 000 never returned This book gives us vivid insights into the genesis of the American air campaign told with the humor attention to detail and humility that captures the heart and soul of our Greatest Generation Brim was one of the first Pathfinder pilots to fly both day and night missions leading bomb groups of six hundred plus bombers to their targets At the onset of his missions in the spring of 1943 B 17 crews were given a fifty fifty chance of returning All his raids were nerve wracking forays into the unknown struggles to survive the damage to his plane caused by flak and German fighter attacks and bring his ten man crew home often wounded but still alive Marauder Man Kenneth T. Brown, 2004-03 Troop supply and armor convoys bridges road and rail networks were all fair game for the low flying Marauder B 26 medium bomber But flying below 12 000 feet against enemy positions had its cost This is the moving account of one man's experiences in the tactical air war over Europe in World War II A Quaker by birth and a pacifist by nature author Ken Brown nonetheless felt it his duty to enlist in the fight against fascism Little did he expect that he would find himself in the plexiglass nose of a low flying Marauder surrounded by enemy anti aircraft flak bursts Marauder Man is also an important historical record of one of the most remarkable and unsung American warplanes in World War II the Marauder B 26 medium bomber that in the words of General Dwight D Eisenhower made possible the decision to land on continent In vivid prose Ken Brown brings the thrilling story of the B 26 and the men who flew it to life

World War II Marauder Pilot Diary Richard D. Spalding, 2017-07-05 This is the unvarnished mission diary of a World War II B 26 Martin Marauder pilot Dick as transcribed and elaborated by a Vietnam veteran pilot Dick's son Unique features of this diary are attributed to the special elements of service rendered by Dick Among these are very many missions over France and Germany Especially different is Dick's becoming an on the ground element of Patton's Army The war time directness of Dick's mission entries in his diary hits home in a way that may make pilot veterans uneasy
