Memory In Dispute:

Memory in Dispute Valerie Sinason, 2018-04-17 In this opening chapter Gwen Adshead provides a careful overview of the research literature concerning the main issues in this debate She includes legal issues and child and adult memory in her remit

Memory in Dispute Valerie Sinason, Disputed Memory Tea Sindbæk Andersen, Barbara Törnquist-Plewa, 2016-06-20 The world wars genocides and extremist ideologies of the 20th century are remembered very differently across Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe resulting sometimes in fierce memory disputes This book investigates the complexity and contention of the layers of memory of the troubled 20th century in the region Written by an international group of scholars from a diversity of disciplines the chapters approach memory disputes in methodologically innovative ways studying representations and negotiations of disputed pasts in different media including monuments museum exhibitions individual and political discourse and electronic social media Analyzing memory disputes in various local national and transnational contexts the chapters demonstrate the political power and social impact of painful and disputed memories The book brings new insights into current memory disputes in Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe It contributes to the understanding of processes of memory transmission and negotiation across borders and cultures in Europe emphasizing the interconnectedness of memory with emotions mediation and politics

Memory Politics, Identity and Conflict Zheng Wang, 2017-10-10 This book focuses on the methodology of research on historical memory and contributes to theoretical discussions concerning the use of historical memory as a variable to explain political action and social movement The chapters of the book conceptualize the relationship between historical memory and national identity formation perceptions and policy making The author particularly analyses how contested memory and the related social discourse can lead to nationalism and international conflict Based on theories and research from multiple fields of studies this book proposes a series of analytic frameworks for the purpose of conceptualizing the functions of historical memory These analytic frameworks can help categorize measure and subsequently demonstrate the effects of historical memory This book also discusses how to use public opinion polls textbooks important texts and documents monuments and memory sites for conducting research to examine the functions of historical memory

Experience, Memory, and Reasoning Janet L. Kolodner, Christopher K. Riesbeck, 2014-03-05 First published in 1986 The chapters in this collection are based on presentations made at the First Annual Workshop on Theoretical Issues in Conceptual Information Processing TICIP grew out of that It was held in Atlanta Georgia in March 1984 and included 50 people with roughly the same world view In particular the contributors were interested in content based theories of conceptual information processing Each chapter addresses some issue associated with the relationships between memory experience and reasoning

Kim,2015-10-05 Decades after the end of the World War II East Asia continues to struggle with lingering animosities and unresolved historical grievances in domestic bilateral and regional memory landscapes China Japan and the Korea share a history of inter and intra violence self other identity construction and diametrically opposed interpretations of the past Routledge Handbook of Memory and Reconciliation in East Asia offers a complete overview of the challenges of national memory and ideological rivalry for reconciliation in the East Asian region Chapters provide authoritative analyses of contentious issues such as comfort women the Nanjing massacre history textbook controversies shared heritage sites colonial rule territorial disputes and restitution By interweaving memory human rights and reconciliation the contributors actively explore real prospects of redressing past wrongs and achieving peaceful coexistence at personal as well as governmental levels Bringing together an international team of experts this book is an essential read for students and scholars of East Asian studies anthropology gender studies history international relations law political science and sociology and for those interested in memory and reconciliation issues      Memory, Conflict and New Media Ellen Rutten,Julie Fedor,Vera

Zvereva,2013-04-12 This book examines the online memory wars in post Soviet states where political conflicts take the shape of heated debates about the recent past and especially World War II and Soviet socialism To this day former socialist states face the challenge of constructing national identities producing national memories and relating to the Soviet legacy Their pasts are principally intertwined changing readings of history in one country generate fierce reactions in others In this transnational memory war digital media form a pivotal discursive space one that provides speakers with radically new commemorative tools Uniting contributions by leading scholars in the field Memory Conflict and New Media is the first book length publication to analyse how new media serve as a site of political and national identity building in post socialist states The book also examines how the construction of online identity is irreversibly affected by thinking about the past in this geopolitical domain By highlighting post socialist memory s digital mediations and digital memory s transcultural scope the volume succeeds in a twofold aim to deepen and refine both post socialist memory theory and digital memory studies This book will be of much interest to students of media studies post Soviet studies Eastern European Politics memory studies and International Relations in general      Collective Memory, National Identity, and Ethnic Conflict Victor

Roudometof,2002-12-30 Roudometof provides an in depth analysis of inter ethnic relations in the southern Balkans He examines the evolution of the Macedonian Question and the production of rival national narratives by Greeks Bulgarians and Macedonians He introduces the concept of a national narrative in order to account for the production and proliferation of different forms of collective memory among the rival nation states Roudometof deconstructs the national narratives of the competing sides and shows the limits of these narratives and their biases He also develops an alternative interpretation of Macedonian national formation The contentious issue of Macedonian national minorities in the southern Balkans is examined as well as the issue of the Albanian movements toward self determination and succession in Kosovo and western Macedonia Roudometof argues that the Macedonian minority groups are not as numerous in the neighboring states as it is conventionally assumed With regard to the Albanian national question he provides a review of the post 1945 relations between Albania and Greece the Albanians of Kosovo and the Serbs and the Albanians and Macedonians He argues that the Albanian nationalist movements have grown out of the interaction between Albanians and their neighboring nations and ethnic groups An important resource for scholars students and other researchers involved with the Balkans and ethnic conflict resolution in general

Transcultural Memory Rick Crownshaw, 2016-03-16 Memories are not static or frozen remaining in particular sites or places within and belonging to particular groups cultures or nations rather memory travels Broadly speaking memory has travelled because of the demographic displacements brought about by modernity's extremes slavery colonialism ethnic cleansing and genocide and also because of the trade travel and migration made possible by globalisation Whether social movement is violent exilic migratory emancipatory or oppressive it is accompanied by memory With the movement of people memories of modernity's histories and postmodern legacies meet correspond and often become mutually constitutive Even where memories compete with each other for cultural dominance mutual dialogue and recognition is implicit if not explicit Memories travel through and across cultures and national boundaries a process increasingly facilitated by mass media technologies This collection explores a range of case studies of transcultural memory as well as theorising the mobility of memory as it travels It was originally published as a special issue of the journal parallax

Memory in the Real World , The Politics of Memory in Poland and Ukraine Tomasz Stryjek, Joanna Konieczna-Salamatin, 2021-09-30 Bringing together the work of sociologists historians and political scientists this book explores the increasing importance of the politics of memory in central and eastern European states since the end of communism with a particular focus on relations between Ukraine and Poland Through studies of the representation of the past and the creation of memory in education mass media and on a local level it examines the responses of Polish and Ukrainian authorities and public institutions to questions surrounding historical issues between the two nations At a time of growing renationalization in domestic politics in the region brought about by challenges connected with migration and fear of Russian military activity this volume asks whether international cooperation and the stability of democracy are under threat An exploration of the changes in national historical culture The Politics of Memory in Poland and Ukraine will appeal to scholars with interests in memory studies national identity and the implications of memory making for contemporary relations between states

Frames of Remembrance Iwona Irwin-Zarecka, 2017-07-05 What is the symbolic impact of the Vietnam War Memorial How does television change our engagement with the past Can the efforts to wipe out Communist legacies succeed Should victims of the Holocaust be celebrated as heroes or as martyrs These questions have a great deal in common yet they are typically asked separately by people working in distinct research areas in different disciplines Frames of Remembrance shares ideas and concerns across such divides Mark's Memory Resources and the Controversy Stories (Mark 2:1-3:6) Yoon-Man Park,2009-12-14 This book is a study of the New Testament using the insights of modern linguistics Its principal concern above all is to examine how the Gospel of Mark produced in an oral aural culture may be illuminated by frame theory from cognitive linguistics a linguistic theory in which the meaning of a word phrase clause sentence paragraph and thematic unit can only be properly understood against the background of a particular body of knowledge and assumptions The reason this theory is particularly useful for understanding Mark's ancient text is because as an oral aural narrative it heavily relies on human memory cognitive resources and so the cognitive theory leads us into a better understanding of ways in which the text is communicated in terms of cognitive processing Current Controversies in Philosophy of Memory André Sant'Anna,Christopher Jude McCarroll,Kourken Michaelian,2022-07-29 The surge of philosophical interest in episodic memory has brought to light a number of controversial questions about this form of memory that have only recently begun to be addressed in detail This book organises discussion around six such questions offering two new chapters per question from experts in the field The questions are I What is the relationship between memory and imagination II Do memory traces have content III What is the nature of mnemonic confabulation IV What is the function of episodic memory V Do non human animals have episodic memory VI Does episodic memory give us knowledge of the past The book constitutes a valuable resource for researchers teachers and students alike For researchers it provides an up to date discussion of some of the main theories arguments and problems in the area For teachers the book can supply the readings for an entire course or particular sections can provide the readings for specific units within a broader philosophy of memory course For students the book offers accessible discussions of some of the most recent topics in the philosophy of memory which when taken together serve as a well rounded introduction to the area The Culture of Dissenting Memory Véronique Tadjo,2019-03-18 This volume deals with the manifold ways in which histories are debated and indeed historicity and historiography themselves are interrogated via the narrative modes of the truth commissions It traces the various medial responses memoirs fiction poetry film art which have emerged in the wake of the truth commissions The 1990s and the 2000s saw a spate of so called truth commissions across the Global South From the inaugural truth commissions in post juntas 1980s Latin America to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission set up by the incoming post apartheid government in South Africa and the twinned gacaca courts and National Unity and Reconciliation Commission in Rwanda and that in indigenous Australia various truth commissions have sought to lay bare human rights abuses The chapters in this volume explore how truth commissions crystallized a long tradition of dissenting and resisting cultures of memorialization in the public sphere across the Global South and provided a significant template for contemporary attempts to work through episodes of violence and oppression across the region Drawing on studies from Latin America Africa Asia and Australia this book illuminates the modes in which societies remember and negotiate with traumatic pasts This book will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of human rights popular culture and art literature media politics and history Memory Matters Janice Haaken, Paula Reavey, 2009-09-10 In this volume the editors make use of current memory scholarship to explore ethical moral and cultural issues that continue to shape the ways in which memory is conceived in a range of scientific therapeutic and legal settings Responsibilities and Dispensations Carl N. Edwards, 2001 Memory Warp Mark Pendergrast, 2021-10-22 In Memory Warp Mark Pendergrast sounds a clarion call to stop the ongoing pseudoscience of repressed memory therapy which has destroyed millions of families and continues to do so In the 1990s Pendergrast's book Victims of Memory helped to debunk the repressed memory craze Now more than two decades later he revisits the subject and proves that this form of therapy is still widespread still destroying family relationships and causing false allegations of terrible crimes against innocent parents and caregivers With meticulous research and captivating writing Pendergrast brings coverage of this issue up to date Poetics of the Literary Self-Portrait Michel Beaujour, 1992-10-01 A serious and independent contribution to the literature of autobiography John Sturrock French Studies Clearly a landmark study It seems certain to provoke a great deal of productive debate among those concerned with any of the many issues it raises Comparative Literature The literary self portrait often considered to be an ill formed autobiography is receiving more attention as a result of the current obsession with personal narrative but little progress has been made toward an understanding of its specific features With Poetics of the Literary Self Portrait Michel Beaujour reveals the hidden ambitions of this genre From St Augustine to Montaigne from Nietzsche to Malraux Leiris and Barthes individual self portraits are analyzed jointly with the enduring cultural matrix from which self portrayal derives its disconcerting non narrative structure and many of its recurrent topics
