Reparation and Change ,1978      TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT Koinov S.A.,Rumyantseva T.B.,Syryamkin M.V.,Syryamkin V.I.,Tsyganov S.A., The textbook covers the main directions of technology management which is a set of technical economic psychological legal and administrative disciplines that allows organizations to achieve strategic and tactical objectives of planning development and commercialization of innovations The textbook may be useful for managers of enterprises workers of research institutes universities as well as for business owners and students who study or work on problems of commercialization of scientific and technical developments      The Individual and the Group Malcolm Pines,2012-12-06 Malcolm Pines and Lise Rafaelsen The Seventh International Congress of Group Psychotherapy organized in Copenhagen by the International Association of Group Psychotherapy was one of the largest and most representative congresses on this subject that has yet been held Probably for the first time we achieved the declared aim of the International Association that of bringing together representatives of the different approaches to group psychotherapy in the same forum to allow for communication exchange and development of our relation ships Previous congresses have been less representative and it seems to augur well for the future of the Association and of it s congresses that there was this strong force and wish for unification and for exchange within the field of group psychotherapy The Congress theme The Individual and the Group Boundaries and Interrelations in Theory and Practice was chosen because it gave an opportunity once again to examine the very basis for group psycho therapy as theory and as practice The basic theme stated in the opening papers by Professor Marie Jahoda and Professor James Anthony was replayed daily with new developments and variations according to the theoretical position of each subsequent speaker      TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT Rumyantseva T.B.,Syryamkin M.V.,Syryamkin V.I.,Vaganova E.V., The textbook covers the main directions of technology project management including innovation and crisis management high tech marketing licensing and certification basics of transfer and commercialization of new technologies and new product development The textbook may be useful for managers of enterprises workers of research institutes universities as well as for business owners and students who study or work on problems of commercialization of scientific and technical developments English edition of the textbook is a revised and translated version of chapters 3 4 8 of the textbook Technology Management edited by Professor Vladimir I Syryamkin 2010      Exploring Individual and Organizational Boundaries W. Gordon Lawrence,2018-03-29 One way of conceptualizing the relationship of individuals through their roles to their various groupings such as families communities and business and industrial enterprises is to consider their political relatedness This includes an exploration of organizational structures management and issues of responsibility leadership and authority Beyond this the Tavistock open systems approach has always held that unconscious social processes are of central importance in such explorations The methodology of the approach therefore is one that encourages people to consider the unconscious in relation to the political dimensions of institutions This involves people in examine a range of boundaries such as those between the inner and outer worlds of the individual between person and role and between enterprise and environment Also involved are less obvious boundaries or limits or distinctions such as those between certainty and uncertainty order and chaos innovation and destructiveness reality and fantasy and relationship and relatedness

Social Innovation in the Service of Social and Ecological Transformation Olivier De Schutter, Tom Dedeurwaerdere, 2021-10-14 This book explores how the State can play a role as an enabler of citizens led social innovations to accelerate the shift to sustainable and socially just lifestyles To meet the twin challenges of environmental degradation and the rise of inequalities societal transformation is urgent Most theories of social change focus either on the role of the State on the magic of the market or on the power of technological innovation This book explores instead how local communities given the freedom to experiment can design solutions that can have a transformative impact Change cannot rely only on central ordering by government nor on corporations suddenly acting as responsible citizens Societal transformation at the speed and scope required also should be based on the reconstitution of social capital and on new forms of democracy emerging from collective action at the local level The State matters of course for the provision of both public services and of social protection and to discipline the market but it should also act as an enabler of citizen led experimentation and it should set up an institutional apparatus to ensure that collective learning spreads across jurisdictions Corporations themselves can ensure that society taps the full potential of citizens led social innovations they can put their know how their access to finance and their control of logistical chains in the service of such innovations rather than focusing on shaping consumers tastes or even adapting to consumers shifting expectations With this aim in mind this book provides empirical evidence of how social innovations typically developed within niches initially at a relatively small scale can have society wide impacts It also examines the nature of the activism deployed by social innovators and the emergence of a do it yourself form of democracy This book will appeal to all those interested in driving societal change and social innovation to ensure a sustainable and socially just future for all
