Canadian Plains Research Center, 2004 This anthology of 19 articles documents the pain misunderstanding that lesbian gay bisexual transgendered people have experienced in the very recent past and demonstrates the real progress both in theory in practice that has been made in the struggle for equity social justice The articles include autobiography testament fiction poetry and traditional personal analytic essays from authors with different intellectual perspectives human rights social reform human justice feminist liberationist and queer theory Representation, Heterodoxy, and Aesthetics Ashley Marshall, 2014-12-23 The chapters constituting this book are different in subject and method striking testimony to the range of Paulson's interests and the versatility of his critical powers In his prolific career he has produced extensive analysis of art poetry fiction and aesthetics produced in England between 1650 and 1830 Paulson's unique contribution has to do with his understanding of seeing and reading as closely related enterprises and popular forms in art and literature as intimately connected connections illustrated by literary critics and art historians here Every essay shares some of the concerns and methods that characterize Paulson's wonderfully idiosyncratic thought except for the final essay an attempt systematically to analyze Paulson's critical principles and methods Recurrent themes are a concern with satire in the eighteenth century a connection between verbal and visual reading an insistence on the importance of individual artistic choices to the history of culture an attention to the aims and motives of individual makers of art and a sensitivity to the crucial links between high and low art This volume offers rich explorations of a range of subjects Swift's relationship to Congreve Zoffany's condemnation of Gillray and Hogarth and broader implications for the role of art in public discourse the presentation of mourning in the work of the Welsh artist and writer Edward Pugh G M Woodward's Coffee House Characters representing a turn from satire on morals towards satire on manners Adam Smith's evolving aesthetic program Samuel Richardson's notions of social reading The discussions represent a variety of exemplifications of the Paulsonesque showing a concern with satiric representation in mixed media with different forms of heterodoxy and iconoclasm and with the values of producers of popular and polite culture in this period

A Modest Proposal in the Context of Swift's Irish Tracts

Maria-Angeles Ruiz Moneva,2020-06-12 Swift's A Modest Proposal has always aroused the interest not just of literary critics but also of linguists and pragmatists Within the latter approaches the study of irony and more concretely the intentions and attitudes that must have guided the production of such an intricate work have always been paramount However it seems that within pragmatics the analysis has been restricted so far to the 1729 work itself In the present author's view it is interesting to contextualise this masterpiece of irony and satire within Swift's wider writing on Ireland an approach that remains to be carried out Accordingly this work sets out to analyse a selection of Swift's Irish Tracts with a view to tracing the evolution within Swift's literary production of his views and attitudes towards the situation of his homeland Although different pragmatic approaches are applied the emphasis is laid upon the contributions that the relevance theoretical framework and its studies on irony may bring to the understanding of this particular Tract The works selected are meant to cover and also be representative of the main phases currently distinguished within Swift's writing on the Irish Question It is therefore hoped that a deeper analysis of the former works by Swift on this topic will provide new insights for a better understanding of A Modest Proposal Federal Trade Commission Decisions United States. Federal Trade Commission,1973

Implications of Pre-emptive Data Surveillance for Fundamental Rights in the European Union Julia

Wojnowska-Radzińska,2023-07-24 In this work Julia Wojnowska Radzińska offers a comprehensive legal analysis of various forms of pre-emptive data surveillance adopted by the European legislator and their impact on fundamental rights It also identifies what minimum guarantees have to be set up to recognize pre-emptive data surveillance as a legitimate measure in a democratic society The book aims to answer the essential question of how to strike the proper balance between fundamental rights and security interests in the digital age Depictions of Pestilence in Literature, Media, and Art

Kübra Baysal,2023-01-24 This volume fills a gap in studies of literature media culture and art by exploring depictions of contagious diseases in different genres since the dawn of humanity and compiling a history of such representations of pestilence from a post human and environmental perspective Indulging in humankind's struggle with calamities throughout history the collection discusses several media that portray real or imagined futures based on past and present facts In today's world which is stricken with global warming and the COVID 19 pandemic these narratives termed plague literature hold a crucial position in guiding humanity towards a greater ecological awareness The book will appeal to scholars students organisations and individuals who are interested in studies of literature history media art and environmental humanities

Valone, Jill Marie Bradbury, 2008 This book presents a series of essays that examine the ideological personal and political difficulties faced by the group variously termed the Anglo Irish the Protestant Ascendancy or the English in Ireland a group that existed in a world of contested ideological political and cultural identities At the root of this conflicted sense of self was an acute awareness among the Anglo Irish of their liminal position as colonial dominators in Ireland who were viewed as other both by the Catholic natives of Ireland and by their English kinsmen The work in this volume is highly interdisciplinary bringing to bear examination of issues that are historical literary economic and sociological Contributors investigate how individuals experienced the ambiguities and conflicts of identity formation in a colonial society how writers fought the economic and ideological superiority of the English how the cooption of Gaelic history and culture was a political strategy for the Anglo Irish and how literary texts contributed to the emergence of national consciousness In seeking to understand and trace the complex process of identity formation in early modern Ireland the essays in this volume attest to its tenuous dynamic and necessarily incomplete nature David A Valone is an Assistant Professor of History at Quinnipiac University Jill Marie Bradbury is an Assistant Professor of English at Gallaudet University

Political Representation Ian Shapiro, Susan C. Stokes, Elisabeth Jean Wood, Alexander S. Kirshner, 2010-01-14 Political representation lies at the core of modern politics Democracies with their vast numbers of citizens could not operate without representative institutions Yet relations between the democratic ideal and the everyday practice of political representation have never been well defined and remain the subject of vigorous debate among historians political theorists lawyers and citizens In this volume an eminent group of scholars move forward the debates about political representation on a number of fronts Drawing on insights from political science history political theory economics and anthropology the authors provide much needed clarity to some of the most vexing questions about political representation They also reveal new and enlightening perspectives on this fundamental political practice Topics discussed include representation before democracy political parties minorities electoral competition and ideology This volume is essential reading for anyone interested in the ideal and the reality of political representation
