Research And Argumentation:

Why Good Argument is Critical to Useful Research Mike Metcalfe, 2007 Writers like Rorty Popper Dewey and Feyerabend suggest that rather than searching for more and more exacting and rigorous rules for how to undertake well justified research we need to be concerned with communities of doubters These if adequately applying dialectic argument will act to challenge unjustified knowledge claims and so save us all from being deceived This book encourages doubt by providing over a dozen ways to critique research especially where that research results in knowledge claims about human activities Each chapter provides another pragmatic conception of knowledge used to question the assumptions behind whatever research work you have just read Therefore the book offers a way of learning about your own discipline specific research literature while also learning how to design a well justified research report

Business Research Through Argument Mike Metcalfe, 2012-12-06 This book suggests that business research in the collection analysis and communication of evidence will benefit from explicit acceptance of research as argumentation Argumentation is the process of compiling an argument through selection and organization of the relevant evidence Recently business research methods books have placed too much emphasis on the scientific method as brute empiricism using only large sample statistical testing and demanding prediction through retesting old theories Especially with regard to the study of human activity there is now much evidence that there is not one special scientific method This book argues that all types of empirical data including statistics and personal experiences be accepted as data but that it is essential that these observations be explained This book will provide researchers and postgraduate business students with a strategy for conducting research that encourages thought provides a way of critically perceiving previous research as well as suggesting a logical structure for communicating their research

Advances in Argumentation Theory and Research J. Robert Cox, Charles Arthur Willard, 1982 For this volume the editors commissioned the top theorists in argumentation and human communication to submit essays in their areas of specialization Because there are sixteen essays contributed by twenty one specialists many points of view are represented in this volume all of the essayists however look upon argumentation as a process of human communication not a species of formal logic These essayists see the function of argument as a method of attaining social knowledge The editors have assembled this volume to make available the latest advances in argumentation for scholars it serves as a state of the discipline report The editors have divided the book into four sections Conceptual Foundations Reasoning and Reasonableness Methodological Issues and Uses of Argument Those contributing under the heading Conceptual Foundations are Daniel J O Keefe Charles Arthur Willard Ray D Dearin and Henry W Johnstone Jr Contributors to the Reasoning and Reasonableness section are Ray E McKerrow Thomas B Farrell Barbara J O Keefe Pamela J Benoit Malcolm O Sillars and Patricia Ganer Under Methodological Issues the contributors are Scott Jacobs Sally Jackson V William Balthrop and Dale Hambley Contributors to Uses of Argument are Ch Perelman E Culpepper Clark Robert P Newman Walter R Fisher Richard A Filloy advanced students interested in argumentation research Argumentation Through Languages and Cultures Christian Plantin, 2022-11-16 This book examines argumentative situations as they develop in different cultures and language groups. It considers the development of argumentation studies making greater allowance for the specificities of argument as developed by non-mainstream cultures: the contribution of Jainism to the framework of philosophical disputation in India; duet songs as an institutionalized argumentative genre practiced by Ammassalik culture within the Inuit community; the application of the Muslim theological legal reasoning system to evaluate two traditional pre-Muslim traditional practices in Borneo; the annotation of schemes on the basis of Walton's taxonomy of argument schemes and Wagemans' Periodic Table of Arguments; methodology proposed for the reconstruction and analysis of double mode arguments in advertisements; combining the instruments developed in social semiotics, pragmatics and argumentation theory; and a review of the argumentation theoretical literature on metaphor in argumentative discourse. This book is of interest to students and researchers in argumentation studies, rhetoric, philosophy, cultural studies and language studies. Business Research Through Argument Mike Metcalfe, 1995-11-30 This book suggests that business research in the collection, analysis and communication of evidence will benefit from explicit acceptance of research as argumentation. Argumentation is the process of compiling an argument through selection and organization of the relevant evidence. Recently, business research methods books have placed too much emphasis on the scientific method as brute empiricism using only large sample statistical testing and demanding prediction through retesting old theories. Especially with regard to the study of human activity, there is now much evidence that there is not one special scientific method. This book argues that all types of empirical data, including statistics and personal experiences, be accepted as data but that it is essential that these observations be explained. This book will provide researchers and postgraduate business students with a strategy for conducting research that encourages thought, provides a way of critically perceiving previous research as well as suggesting a logical structure for communicating their research Understanding and Evaluating Research Sue L. T.

McGregor, 2017-10-25 Understanding and Evaluating Research: A Critical Guide shows students how to be critical consumers of research and to appreciate the power of methodology as it shapes the research question, the use of theory in the study, the methods used and how the outcomes are reported. The book starts with what it means to be a critical and uncritical reader of research, followed by a detailed chapter on methodology and then proceeds to a discussion of each component of a research article as it is informed by the methodology. The book encourages readers to select an article from their discipline, learning along the way how to assess each component of the article and come to a judgment of its rigor or quality as a scholarly report.

Using Social Theory in Educational Research Mark Dressman, 2009-05-07 Using Social Theory in Educational

Research is organised to help practising educators and novice researchers who have little familiarity with social theory to be introduced to major schools of social theory their basic concepts and their general applicability to educational issues develop an understanding of and appreciation for its potential to improve their own practice gain practical insight into how theory can function as a warrant or support for data interpretation through the use of multiple practical examples learn how to integrate theory into their own work more effectively

Interdiscursive Readings in Cultural Consumer Research

George Rossolatos, 2018-10-01 The cultural consumption research landscape of the 21st century is marked by an increasing cross disciplinary fermentation At the same time cultural theory and analysis have been marked by successive inter turns most notably with regard to the Big Four multimodality or intermodality interdiscursivity transmediality or intermediality and intertextuality This book offers an outline of interdiscursivity as an integrative platform for accommodating these notions To this end a call for a return to Foucault is issued via a critical engagement with the so called practice turn This re turn does not seek to reconstitute venerably Foucauldianism but to theorize inters as vanishing points that challenge the integrity of discrete cultural orders in non convergent manners The propounded interdiscursivity approach is offered as a reading strategy that permeates the contemporary cultural consumption phenomena that are scrutinized in this book against a pan consumptivist framework By drawing on qualitative and mixed methods research designs facilitated by CAQDAS software the empirical studies that are hosted here span a vivid array of topics that are directly relevant to both traditional and new media researchers such as the consumption of ideologies in Web 2.0 social movements the ability of micro celebrities to act as cultural game changers the post loyalty abjective consumption ethos The theoretically novel approaches on offer are coupled with methodological innovations in areas such as user generated content artists branding and experiential consumption

Argument Types and Fallacies in Legal Argumentation

Thomas Bustamante, Christian Dahlman, 2015-04-07 This book provides theoretical tools for evaluating the soundness of arguments in the context of legal argumentation It deals with a number of general argument types and their particular use in legal argumentation It provides detailed analyses of argument from authority argument ad hominem argument from ignorance slippery slope argument and other general argument types Each of these argument types can be used to construct arguments that are sound as well as arguments that are unsound To evaluate an argument correctly one must be able to distinguish the sound instances of a certain argument type from its unsound instances This book promotes the development of theoretical tools for this task
