Research Funding And Resource Manual Mental Health And Addictive Disorders:

Research Funding and Resource Manual Harold Alan Pincus, 1995 The Research Funding and Resource Manual Mental Health and Addictive Disorders is a compendium of information on where and how to get funding for mental health and addictive disorders research This manual contains a comprehensive listing of funding sources available to junior and senior researchers in psychiatry psychology neuroscience and behavioral sciences It addresses a broad array of topics to assist investigators and trainees in developing resources to support research projects and career development activities and in responding to science policy issues The manual contains unique information about grant writing and the grants process research training research ethics and animal research as well as lists of federal state and industry research contacts It also contains detailed descriptions and publication policies for over 120 scientific journals Each chapter includes narrative information related to research and policy issues as well as comprehensive resource sections Evidence-Based Practice Manual Albert R. Roberts, Kenneth Yeager, 2004-01-15 This book provides an interdisciplinary approach summarising the key elements issues concepts and procedures in developing and applying evidence based practice Discussions include programme evaluation quality and operational improvement strategies research grant applications utilising statistical procedures and more The Research Funding Guidebook Joanne B. Ries, Carl G. Leukefeld, 1998 Although the landscape of research funding is continually changing over the past several years one feature has remained consistent people who are young in their careers are expected to take on not only the responsibility of applying for external funding but are also required to get it manage it and renew it in order to keep their research programs projects and careers viable The Research Funding Guidebook begins at the point many grant seekers can identify with rejection Part I emphasizes how to resubmit unfunded applications to make them more competitive The material contained in this section is invaluable especially since funding sources are now limiting the number of times the same application can be resubmitted Part II goes on to highlight the practical issues of a project after funding has been obtained Here the authors provide a map of the people and places that must become part of a researcher's daily and weekly routine The guidance provided in this part of the book includes a checklist that can be used to aid the newly funded investigator's progress Time management an essential but often overlooked feature of research funding is also dealt with in this section The subjects of other sections of this volume include the small business aspects of maintaining funding for a project and the process of targeting continued funding by determining the next fundable step of a project This is a hands on guide that will never be far from the reach of those using it Topics like what to include in a project proposal tips for competitive writing and how to select funding sources are easily accessed In addition helpful checklists and samples are provided along the way These practical features and the comprehensive up to date information presented make The Research Funding Guidebook an indispensable reference for new and experienced investigators alike Anyone interested in research funding in any academic discipline will find this book
