Introducing Human Geographies Paul Cloke, Philip Crang, Mark Goodwin, 2013-12-05 Introducing Human Geographies is the leading guide to human geography for undergraduate students explaining new thinking on essential topics and discussing exciting developments in the field. This new edition has been thoroughly revised and updated and coverage is extended with new sections devoted to biogeographies, cartographies, mobilities, non-representational geographies, population geographies, public geographies and securities. Presented in three parts with 60 contributions written by expert international researchers, this text addresses the central ideas through which human geographers understand and shape their subject. Part I

Foundations engages students with key ideas that define human geography's subject matter and approaches through critical analyses of dualisms such as local/global, society/space and human/nonhuman. Part II Themes explores human geography's main sub-disciplines with sections devoted to biogeographies, cartographies, cultural geographies, development geographies, economic geographies, environmental geographies, historical geographies, political geographies, population geographies, social geographies, urban and rural geographies. Finally, Part III Horizons assesses the latest research in innovative areas from mobilities and securities to non-representational geographies. This comprehensive, stimulating and cutting-edge introduction to the field is richly illustrated throughout with full-colour figures, maps and photos. These are available to download on the companion website located at www.routledge.com/9781444135350.

Non-representational Theory Paul Simpson, 2020-11-22 Non-representational Theory explores a range of ideas which have recently engaged geographers and have led to the development of an alternative approach to the conception, practice and production of geographic knowledge. Non-representational Theory refers to a key body of work that has emerged in geography over the past two and a half decades that emphasizes the importance of practice, embodiment, materiality and process to the ongoing formation of social life. This title offers the first sole-authored, accessible introduction to this work and its impact on geography. Without being prescriptive, the text provides a general explanation of what Non-representational Theory is. This includes discussion of the disciplinary context it emerged from, the key ideas and themes that characterise work associated with Non-representational Theory, and the theoretical points of reference that inspire it. The book then explores a series of conjunctions of Non-representational Theory and taking an area of geographic enquiry and exploring the impact Non-representational Theory has had on how it is researched and understood. This includes the relationships between Non-representational Theory and Practice, Affect, Materiality, Landscape, Performance and Methods. Critiques of Non-representational Theory are also broached, including reflections on issues on identity, power and difference. The text draws together the work of a range of established and emerging scholars working on the development of non-representational theories, allowing scholars from geography and other disciplines to access and assess the animating potential of such work. This volume is essential reading for undergraduates and postgraduate students interested in the social, cultural and political geographies of everyday living.

Cultural Geographies John Horton, Peter Kraftl, 2013-10-08. Cultural geography is a major, vibrant subdiscipline of human geography. Cultural geographers have done some of the most important, exciting, and thought-provoking, zesty work in human geography over the last half century. This book exists to provide an introduction to the remarkably diverse, controversial, and sometimes infuriating work of cultural geographers. The book outlines how cultural geography in its various forms provides a rich body of research about cultural practices and politics in diverse contexts. Cultural geography offers a major resource for exploring the importance of cultural materials, media, texts, and representations in particular contexts and is one of the most theoretically adventurous subdisciplines within human geography, engaging with many important lines of social and cultural theory. The book has been designed to provide an accessible, wide-ranging, and thought-provoking introduction for students studying cultural geography or specific topics within this subdiscipline. Through a wide range of case studies and learning activities, it provides an engaging introduction to cultural geography.

Better Books for Children Robert Maxwell & Co, 1963. Manufacturers' Record, 1919. Ethics in Everyday Places Tom Koch, 2022-11-01. An exploration of moral stress, distress, and injuries inherent in modern society through the maps that pervade academic and public communications worlds. In Ethics in Everyday Places, ethicist and geographer Tom Koch considers what happens when, as he puts it, you do everything right but know you've done something wrong. The resulting moral stress and injury he argues are pervasive in modern Western society. Koch makes his argument from the ground up from the perspective of average persons and through a revealing series of maps in which issues of ethics and morality are embedded. The book begins with a general grounding in both moral stress and mapping as a means of investigation. The author then examines the ethical dilemmas of mapmakers and others in the popular media and the sciences including graphic artists journalists researchers and social scientists Koch expands from the particular to the general from mapmaker and journalist to the readers of maps and news He explores the moral stress and injury in educational funding poverty and income inequality Why aren't we angry that one in eight fellow citizens lives in federally certified poverty transportation modeling seen in the iconic map of the London transit system and the hidden realities of exclusion and U S graft organ transplantation This uniquely interdisciplinary work rewrites our understanding of the nature of moral stress distress and injury and ethics in modern life Written accessibly and engagingly it transforms how we think of ethics personal and professional amid the often conflicting moral injunctions across modern society Copublished with Esri Press Ordinary Matters Lorraine Sim,2016-10-20 The first major interdisciplinary study of the ordinary in modernist women's literature and photography that demonstrates how their alternative vision of the everyday extends and often complicates that of their male contemporaries as well as contemporary everyday life theory ENC Focus ,2000 Everyday America Chris Wilson,Paul Erling Groth,2003-03-03 A collection of seventeen essays examining the field of American cultural landscapes past and present The role of J B Jackson and his influence on the field is explored in many of them Narrating the Multispecies World Michaela Fenske,2025-04-17 In present times we are increasingly witnessing a loss of life especially among animals and plants Some species are becoming extinct while others struggle to adjust to new habitats Human beings are looking for strategies to overcome the effects of climate change and mass extinction The contributors to this volume reflect on how the current problems affect the living world Artists and scholars from around the world share their views on the changes and challenges produced by the effects of the ecological crises in a variety of regions While some of their stories concern loss others offer hope by suggesting new ideas for living together in sustainable harmony within a multispecies world Mathematics & Science in the Real World ,2000 Wild Things Judy Attfield,2020-08-20 What do things mean What does the life of everyday objects reveal about people and their material worlds Has the quest for the real thing become so important because the high tech world of total virtuality threatens to engulf us This pioneering book bridges design theory and anthropology to offer a new and challenging way of understanding the changing meanings of contemporary human object relations The act of consumption is only the starting point of object's lives Thereafter they are transformed and invested with new meanings and associations that reflect and assert who we are Defining designed things as things with attitude differentiates the highly visible fashionable object from ordinary artefacts that are too easily taken for granted Through case studies ranging from reproduction furniture to fashion and textiles to clutter the author traces the connection between objects and authenticity ephemerality and self identity Beyond this she shows the materiality of the everyday in terms of space time and the body and suggests a transition with the passing of time from embodiment to disembodiment Design and Feminism Joan Rothschild,Alethea Cheng,1999 The distinction between the spaces considered public and private or work and home is becoming more blurred Our streets parks dwellings and tools are
