Macroeconomic Problems Of Transformation Stabilization Policies And Economic Restructuring:

Macroeconomic Problems of Transformation Hansjörg Herr, Silke Tober, Andreas Westphal, 1994 In Macroeconomic Problems of Transformation a distinguished group of economists examines the cause of the dramatic output collapse in the transforming economies of Eastern Europe and formulates policies to promote economic recovery Drawing on scholarship from East and West this book features discussion of such important aspects of the transformation process as the role of monetary policy fiscal crises exchange rate policies and privatization In particular several authors stress the importance of dealing with the distortions still existing in financial sectors and argue that export led growth may be a potential driving force of accumulation in the economies currently in transition The causes and consequences of the current fiscal crises are analysed as are the processes of wage formation and privatization in each case combining theoretical insight with empirical findings from the transforming economies Later papers make comparisons with the reconstruction after the Second World War discuss the effects of different exchange rate policies and consider the role of Western economies in promoting growth in Central and Eastern Europe

Exchange-Rate Policies For Emerging Market Economies Richard J Sweeney, 2019-03-13 With the loss of Soviet control in Central and Eastern Europe as well as the move toward economic liberalization in many developing countries a huge increase in the number of convertible currencies in the world has occurred A key aspect of the management of these currencies involves their relationships with the world economy which is determined

Distributional Conflict and Inflation R. Burdekin, P. Burkett, 1996-08-28 There has been relatively little work applying the conflict inflation approach in different theoretical and historical settings This book remedies this gap by treating private sector distributional conflicts as well as government budgetary pressures on the money supply and the price level Attention is drawn to the costs of non accommodative policies in a conflict setting and to the additional difficulties of non accommodation likely associated with the use of exchange rate pegging as a disinflation device

The Macroeconomics of Transition Andrzej Kondratowicz, Jan Winiecki, 2005-08-18 How successful has the transition to market economies proved in East Central Europe The decision by the East European countries to move to market economies was accompanied by much hypothesising and expounding of economic theories However now that the initial euphoria has passed it is time for a rational assessment of this transition and the success of those theories in practice Since the more economically advanced countries are situated in East Central Europe Jan Winiecki and Andrzej Kondratowicz have focused their study on Czechoslovakia Hungary Poland and former Yugoslavia The authors present a systematic account of macroeconomic developments and institutional changes They assess progress dealing with the determinants of output macro policies wage price and employment issues and the external
