Magdalene From Life To Religion:

Magdalene Vernon Mallow, 2003-12-11 Bound to Jesus by a boundless love Mary Magdalene A a s world shatters as she watches him die on the cross In her despair she curses God and plans to commit suicide In the Valley of Hinnom Jesus appears to her risen from the dead and she experiences a life that transcends death Her grief is turned to joy and she shares her great experience with the other disciples In time the report of her experience of the risen Jesus is supplanted by the later appearances to the male disciples and a drive toward organized religion occurs Magdalene laments this development but to no avail Problems between the Jews and Rome increase and war results Jerusalem is destroyed by the Romans in 70 CE and the Jerusalem church comes to its end At her death Magdalene laments the horrors of the Jewish Roman war and the drive toward an organized church The Religious Life of London Richard Mudie-Smith, 1904 Religious Ways of Experiencing Life Carl Olson, 2016-02-05 Religious Ways of Experiencing Life A Global and Narrative Approach surveys world religions using the narratives and discourses of each tradition to describe it in its own terms Carl Olson examines each tradition s practices teachings material culture roles of women and path to salvation as well as the experiences of its followers The exploration of lived experience draws out and emphasizes the plural nature of religious traditions The volume includes chapters on all current major world religions as well as material on ancient religions of the Mediterranean indigenous North American and African spiritual traditions and New Age and new religious movements Featuring timelines and suggestions for further reading this text will be of interest to undergraduate students seeking a broad introduction to World Religion or Lived Religion Holy Harlots in Medieval English Religious Literature Juliette Vuille, 2021 First comprehensive investigation of the major significance of female sinners turned saints in medieval literature "Faith, Gender and the Senses in Italian Renaissance and Baroque Art " ErinE. Benay, 2017-07-05 Taking the Noli me tangere and Doubting Thomas episodes as a focal point this study examines how visual representations of two of the most compelling and related Christian stories engaged with changing devotional and cultural ideals in Renaissance and Baroque Italy This book reconsiders depictions of the ambiguous encounter of Mary Magdalene and Christ in the garden John 20 11 19 known as the Noli me tangere and that of Christ s post Resurrection appearance to Thomas John 20 24 29 the Doubting Thomas as manifestations of complex theological and art theoretical milieus By focusing on key artistic monuments of the Italian Renaissance and Baroque periods the authors demonstrate a relationship between the rise of skeptical philosophy and empirical science and the efficacy of the senses in the construction of belief Further the authors elucidate the differing representational strategies employed by artists to depict touch and the ways in which these strategies were shaped by gender social class and educational level Indeed over time St Thomas became an increasingly public and therefore masculine symbol of devotional verification juridical inquiry and empirical investigation while St Mary Magdalene provided a more private model for pious women celebrating mostly behind closed doors the privileged and active participation of women in the faith The authors rely on primary source material paintings sculptures religious tracts hagiography popular sermons and new documentary evidence By reuniting their visual examples with important often little known textual sources the authors reveal a complex relationship between visual imagery the senses contemporary attitudes toward gender and the shaping of belief Further they add greater nuance to our understanding of the relationship between popular piety and the visual culture of the period

The Saint's Life and the Senses of Scripture Ann W. Astell, 2024-07-15 Through close examination of ancient medieval and modern Lives of the saints Ann W Astell demonstrates how the historical transformation of hagiography as a genre correlates with similar changes in biblical studies Christian hagiography flourished from the fourth to the fifteenth centuries illuminating the gospel through the overlapping forms of exempla and vita Originally the Lives of the saints were understood as hermeneutical extensions of the Bible God authors the saint just as God authors the divinely inspired scriptures During the medieval period a sense of dual authorship between God and the cooperating saint developed paralleling the Scholastic impulse to assign greater agency to the human writers of scripture Then in the sixteenth century powerful new anxieties about historical truth pushed hagiography aside for biography its successor Drawing on her expertise in the history of Christianity and biblical exegesis Astell convincingly shows how this radical shift in hagiography's status the loss of the literal allegorical tropological and anagogical senses of the Lives serves as a bellwether for modern biblical reception into the history of our development The book sets out to explore the ways in which a punditry of human equality continues to lock in unassailably assured logical postures enabled by the historically intertwined roles played by power and the passage of time towards the invention and sustenance of social truth Religion race and multiculturalism have been written about many times and from a variety of academic discipline specific perspectives Nonetheless these social issues remain ever relevant to any sincere bid to understand the inegalitarian aspects of modern society Religion Race Multiculturalism and Everyday Life was primarily written with serious students of philosophy sociology the humanities and history in mind The author contends that we should never be too afraid to explore contentious or difficult philosophical and social questions Wisdom from

Religious Conversion in Early Modern English Drama Lieke Stelling,2019-01-03 Few subjects of the English stage have proved more alluring and enduring than religious conversion The emergence of the Elizabethan theatre marked a profound shift in the way in which conversion was presented If medieval drama had encouraged conversion without reservation early Elizabethan plays started to question it Considering over forty canonical and lesser known works this study argues that more so than any other medium early modern drama engaged with the question of the possibility of undergoing a radical transformation in faith and presented the period s understanding of it as fundamentally unsettled Offering the first cross religious exploration of conversion in early modern English drama and presenting a new reading of William Shakespeare s tragedy Othello Lieke Stelling reveals telling patterns in the stage s treatment of conversion and religious identity
