research and teach housing The Construction of Cognitive Maps Juval Portugali, 2007-08-23 and processes which are exclusive to humans in their encoding storing decoding and retrieving spatial knowledge for various tasks The authors present and discuss connectionist models of cognitive maps which are based on local representation versus models which are based on distributed representation as well as connectionist models concerning language and spatial relations As is well known Gibson s 1979 ecological approach suggests a view on cognition which is diametrically different from the classical main stream view perception and thus cognition is direct immediate and needs no internal information processing and is thus essentially an external process of interaction between an organism and its external environment The chapter by Harry Heft introduces J J Gibson s ecological approach and its implication to the construction of cognitive maps in general and to the issue of wayfinding in particular According to Heft main stream cognitive sciences are essentially Cartesian in nature and have not as yet internalized the implications of Darwin s theory of evolution Gibson in his ecological approach has tried to do exactly this The author introduces the basic terminology of the ecological approach and relates its various notions in particular optic flow nested hierarchy and affordances to navigation and the way routes and places in the environment are learned

Home and Identity in Late Life Graham D. Rowles, 2005-09-01 Leading scholars offering international and multidisciplinary viewpoints examine the meaning of home to elders and the ways in which this meaning may be sustained threatened or modified according to changes associated with growing old Organized into four sections The Essence of Home Disruptions of Home Creating and Recreating Home and Community Perspectives on the Meaning of Home this volume explores topics including What makes a house a home What role does the meaning of home play in the process of relocation to another place of residence What is the relationship between a person's home life and cherished possessions such as symbolic jewelry or religious items in late life How does the community neighborhood environment influence the way that older people feel about the places in which they live Contributors include Hans Werner Wahl Robert L Rubinstein Edmund Sherman Carolyn Norris Baker and Rick Scheidt among others As a special feature this volume concludes with critical commentaries from three eminent scholars Amos Rapoport Kim Dovey and Marie Versperi This volume will be of interest to practitioners researchers upper level graduates graduate level students in gerontology environmental psychology social work and nursing It will be valuable to everyone in the helping professions who seek a deeper understanding of the ways in which being at home and attachment to place plays a key role in the life experience and well being of their clients as they grow older

Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Robyn Bartel, Marty Branagan, Fiona Utley, Stephen Harris, 2020-10-29 Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Conflict Conservation and Co existence examines the complexities surrounding the concept of wilderness Contemporary wilderness scholarship has tended to fall into two categories the so called fortress conservation and co existence schools of thought This book contending that this polarisation has led to a silencing and concealment of alternative perspectives and lines of enquiry extends beyond these confines and in particular steers away from the dilemmas of paradise or paradox in order to advance an intellectual and policy agenda of plurality and diversity rather than of prescription and definition Drawing on case studies from Australia Aotearoa New Zealand the United States and Iceland and explorations of embodied experience creative practice philosophy and First Nations land management approaches the assembled chapters examine wilderness ideals conflicts and human nature dualities afresh and examine co existence and conservation in the Anthropocene in diverse ontological and multidisciplinary ways By demonstrating a strong commitment to respecting the knowledge and perspectives of Indigenous peoples this work delivers a more nuanced ethical and decolonising approach to issues arising from relationships with wilderness Such a collection is immediately appropriate given the political challenges and social complexities of our time and the mounting threats to life across the globe The abiding and uniting logic of the book is to offer a unique and innovative contribution to engender transformations of wilderness scholarship activism and conservation policy This text refutes the inherent privileging and exclusionary tactics of dominant modes of enquiry that too often serve to silence non human and contrary positions It reveals a multi faceted and contingent wilderness alive with agency diversity and possibility This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation environmental and natural resource management Indigenous studies and environmental policy and planning It will also be of interest to practitioners policymakers and NGOs involved in conservation protected environments and environmental governance General Technical Report PNW-GTR ,2007 Water and People ,2008 Water and People Stephen F. McCool,2009-05 Water is the source of life the sustenance for living the resource needed for mfg mining ag the element required to grow our lawns to water our landscaping to shower us with refreshment it is the place where we play it provides the snow for our winter recreation and it provides the habitat for our wildlife Water in Amer society is more than a physical entity its symbolic values and non instrumental uses are growing in significance This book is about the issues associated with these symbolic values and uses of water the challenges they present in our language in our allocation mechanisms in our commun the conflicts raised and the potential for resolving the difficult contentious and complex issues concerning the use of water for various purposes
