Rothstein On Reference With Some Help From Friends:

Rothstein on Reference- with Some Help from Friends Samuel Rothstein, 1989 Now library professionals can enjoy the convenience of having 16 of Sam Rothstein's most memorable papers spanning over three decades all in one lively book. Samuel Rothstein, practitioner, teacher, and scholar, has influenced the thinking and practice of more reference librarians who are currently practicing than has any other single individual. In his honor, the editors of Rothstein on Reference not only feature Rothstein's seminal writing but they have also included essays written by Rothstein's colleagues including Charles Curran, Robert Hauptman, Marilyn Domas White, and Mary Biggs that explore important issues confronting reference librarians today. Reference librarians and library historians will gain insights into the development of reference service in American libraries, the evaluation of reference services, the training and education of reference librarians, and much more. Both beginners and experts in the reference field will find much here for inspiration and enlightenment. The Holocaust Linda S. Katz, 2014-02-04. Comprised of a wide breadth of scholarly materials and diverse articulations, The Holocaust: Memories, Research, Reference will help you guide others in Holocaust research and show you how you can avoid contributing to the popularization and trivialization of the Holocaust. You'll find in it poems by the prolific American poet Lyn Lifshin, an essay by Arnost Lustig, work by Roselle Chartock, commentary by Howard Israel on the controversial Pernkopf Atlas, writing on the historian's role by Michael Marrus, a top Holocaust scholar, and views on linguistic distortions by Sanford Berman, the well-known cataloger. In addition, you'll read about the U.S. Memorial Holocaust Museum preparing a Holocaust unit for high school students, incorporating contemporary Holocaust articles into Holocaust study, Holocaust webliographies, comparative genocide studies, and the future of Holocaust research. Holocaust denial literature. Holocaust reference work in its preferred form doesn't substitute method, empiricism, and quantification for substance, emotion, and qualitative discussion. This form is captured and preserved for the benefit of future survivors and scholars in The Holocaust: Memories, Research, Reference. Informed by years of experience and suffering, it will take you and your library visitors to the heart of research and allow you to re-search the human heart. Modern Library Technology and Reference Services Samuel T. Huang, 1993. A dozen articles suggest a variety of ways for libraries to enhance their daily reference service and the image of librarianship and to bring in more users. They emphasize the interaction of both the staff and the clients with new technology. Also published as The Reference Librarian no. 39, 1993. No index. The paper edition has the same ISBN. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc., Portland, OR. The Image and Role of the Librarian Linda S. Katz, 2003-06-27. The Image and Role of the Librarian addresses all aspects of professional identity for librarians, including professional roles, cultural images, popular perceptions, and future trends. Implementing an Inclusive Staffing Model for Today's Reference Services Julia K. Nims, Paula Storm, Robert Stevens, 2013-11-26

Reference service remains a core function of modern libraries. However, how and where we provide assistance has evolved with changing technologies and the shifting habits and preferences of our users. One way libraries can provide the on-demand in-person assistance while managing and developing new services and resources that will benefit current and future users is to reconsider how their reference points and services are staffed and adopt a staff-based reference model. The authors, staff members at Eastern Michigan University, chose to address this by implementing an inclusive reference model in which staff and student assistants are trained to answer certain levels of reference questions while working at the reference desk and at other service points. The result was that librarians became more available to work with students who needed in-depth assistance and users were able to get simple questions answered throughout the library. Similar training for all staff and student assistants who work in the library results in better service, more accurate answers, and improved interdepartmental communication.

In Implementing an Inclusive Staffing Model for Today's Reference Services, they describe step by step how to transition from the traditional librarian-staffed reference desk to an inclusive reference model where non-MLS personnel are equipped and empowered to answer reference questions wherever these questions might be asked. Users ask questions of staff at all service points, not just at the Reference Desk. It is vitally important that those who work at circulation, periodicals, maps, archives, and other public service points be trained in how to answer certain reference questions. When this is accomplished, users who have simple questions will not have to make useless treks to the Reference Desk.

Topics covered include:

- Recognizing that nearly all staff answer reference questions but few are trained to do so.
- Documenting the necessity for a change in reference model.
- Gaining buy-in from all interested parties: librarians, non-MLS staff, and administrators.
- Determining the optimal staffing level.
- Creating training materials and schedules.
- Monitoring the quality of reference service.
- Supervising staff.
- Evaluating the new model using multiple methods.

Additionally, each chapter contains practical resources such as checklists, forms, and sample materials and other usable features to support readers as they implement the inclusive reference model. The book describes in detail the process of transforming traditional reference into a model that transcends departmental and job title boundaries, is focused on the user, and allows librarians to better utilize their time and talents and include non-professional staff in their reference services.
