Of Chronicles and Kings John Bergsagel, Thomas Riis, David Hiley, 2015-12-09 This volume collects the proceedings of a symposium on the manuscript Kiel University Library S H 8 A 80 which contains the earliest copy of the so called Roskilde Chronicle as well as the complete monastic Offices and Masses of the Danish saint Knud Lavard Thirteen scholars offer a variety of analyses of the manuscript including studies of the crusades and crusaders in the liturgy kingship and sanctity in the lives of British and Scandinavian saints and the writing of patriotic history Educating Middle Class Daughters Carol Gold, 1996 When Denmark introduced compulsory education in 1814 the city of Copenhagen responded by regulating the already existing private school system Roughly half of the school age population went to some kind of school and of those the overwhelming majority attended private schools most of which were run by women The book tells the story of these women their schools and pupils on the 150 private schools from 1790 1820 Carol Gold's contention is that these private schools and their teachers were much better than is presently assumed in Danish historiography The teachers were all literate they could read and most of them could write The education provided for girls ranged from the basics of reading writing and arithmetic plus needlework in the beginner schools to the scientific subjects of history geography natural sciences and foreign languages in the more advanced academies Furthermore the schools formed the basis of the Copenhagen school system which was established at the beginning of the 19th century Current Contents Institute for Scientific Information (Philadelphia), 1997 Stormen på København 1659 Sebastian Olden-Jørgensen, 2011 Læsning og bogmarked i
