Made In The Philippines Gendered Discourses And The Making Of Migrants:

Made in the Philippines James A. Tyner, 2004-08-02 The Philippines is the world's largest exporter of temporary contract labor with a huge 800 000 workers a year being deployed on either six month or two year contracts This labor migration is highly regulated by the government private and non governmental non private organizations Tyner argues that migrants are socially constructed or made by these parties and that migrants in turn become political resources Employing a post structural feminist perspective Tyner questions the very ontology of migration

Proletarian and Gendered Mass Migrations, 2013-05-02 Proletarian and Gendered Mass Migrations connects the 19th and 20th century labor migrations and migration systems in global transcultural perspective It emphasizes macro regional internal continuities or discontinuities and interactions between and within macro regions The essays look at migrant workers experiences in constraining frames and the options they seize or constraints they circumvent It traces the development from 19th century proletarian migrations to industries and plantations across the globe to 20th and 21st century domestics and caregiver migrations It integrates male and female migration and shows how women have always been present in mass migrations Studies on historical development over time are supplemented by case studies on present migrations in Asia and from Asia A systems approach is combined with human agency perspectives Contributors include Rochelle Ball Shelly Chan Dennis D Cordell Michael Douglass Christiane Harzig Dirk Hoerder Muhamad Nadratuzzaman Hosen Hass ne Kassar Kamel Kateb Amarjit Kaur Kiranjit Kaur Gijs Kessler Akram Khater Elizabeth A Kuznesof Vera Mackie Adam McKeown Tomoko Nakamatsu Ooi Keat Gin Aswatini Raharto Marlou Schrover and Patcharawalai Wongboonsin

Academic Writing for Geographers James A. Tyner, 2023-08-21 There are many how to books on writing for academics none of these however relate specifically to the discipline of geography In this book the author identifies the principle modes of academic writing that graduate students and early career faculty will encounter specifically focusing on those forms expected of geographers that is those modes that are reviewed by academic peers This book is readily accessible to senior undergraduate and graduate students and early career faculty who may feel intimidated by the process of writing This volume is not strictly a how to or step by step manual for writing an article or book rather through the use of real concrete examples from published and unpublished works the author demystifies the process of different types of scholarly pieces geographers have to write with the specific needs and challenges of the discipline in mind Although chapters are thematic based e g stand alone chapters on book reviews articles and books the manuscript is structured around the concept of story telling for it is the author's contention that all writing whether a scientific study or more humanist essay is a form of story telling

Iraq, Terror, and the Philippines' Will to War James A. Tyner, 2005-04-20 After September 11 2001 United States President George W Bush put together a Coalition of the Willing From the very beginning this coalition included the Philippines a willing participant in the U S led invasion and occupation of Iraq and the larger War on Terror This timely and persuasive book argues that the

Philippines recent foreign policy must be understood by considering three factors the crucial role of overseas employment to the Philippine economy the mendicant relationship between the Philippines and the United States and the Catholicism of Philippine President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo Between September 11 and August 4 2004 the Philippine State identified itself as a loyal and supportive member of the Coalition of the Willing in part to take advantage of the labor opportunities in the reconstruction efforts of Iraq However in the face of mounting violence and instability in the war torn country the Philippines became increasingly reluctant to actively participate in the coalition When Angelo de la Cruz a Filipino truck driver was kidnapped the Philippine government withdrew its forces from Iraq This decision can only be understood in the context of Macapagal Arroyo's political fundamentalism Specifically Macapagal Arroyo believed that it was God's will to spare the life of de la Cruz This study of the Philippines recent foreign policy examines the interconnections of international relations transnational labor migration military conflict theology and terrorism It is unique in its explicit examination of peripheral states participation in the War on Terror the invasion of Iraq and the Coalition of the Willing as well as its willingness to discuss the religious context of a state's foreign policy Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Wilma Dunaway, Maria Cecilia Macabuac, 2022-10-31 East South and Southeast Asia are home to two thirds of the world's hungry people but they produce more than three quarters of the world's fish and nearly half of other foods Through integration into the world food system these Asian fisheries export their most nutritious foods and import less healthy substitutes Worldwide their exports sell cheap because women the hungriest Asians provide unpaid subsidies to production processes In the 21st century Asian peasants produce more than 60 percent of the regional food supply but their survival is threatened by hunger public depeasantization policies climate change land grabbing urbanization and debt bondage Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Globalized Fisheries Nutritional Unequal Exchange and Asian Hunger is now available in paperback for individual customers

Labor Movement Harald Bauder, 2006-02-23 Throughout the industrialized world international migrants serve as nannies construction workers gardeners and small business entrepreneurs Labor Movement suggests that the international migration of workers is necessary for the survival of industrialized economies The book thus turns the conventional view of international migration on its head it investigates how migration regulates labor markets rather than labor markets shaping migration flows Assuming a critical view of orthodox economic theory the book illustrates how different legal social and cultural strategies towards international migrants are deployed and coordinated within the wider neo liberal project to render migrants and immigrants vulnerable pushing them into performing distinct economic roles and into subordinate labor market situations Drawing on social theories associated with Pierre Bourdieu and other prominent thinkers Labor Movement suggests that migration regulates labor markets through processes of social distinction cultural judgement and the strategic deployment of citizenship European and North American case studies illustrate how the labor of international migrants is systematically devalued and how popular discourse legitimates the demotion of migrants to subordinate labor Engaging with various immigrant groups in different cities including South Asian immigrants in Vancouver foreigners and Sp taussiedler in Berlin and Mexican and Caribbean offshore workers in rural Ontario the studies seek to unravel the complex web of regulatory labor market processes related to international migration Recognizing and understanding these processes Bauder argues is an important step towards building effective activist strategies and for envisioning new roles for migrating workers and people The book is a valuable resource to researchers and students in economics ethnic and migration studies geography sociology political science and to frontline activists in Europe North America and beyond Caring for the 'Holy Land'

Claudia Liebelt, 2011-11-01 In Israel as in numerous countries of the global North Filipina women have been recruited in large numbers for domestic work typically as live in caregivers for the elderly The case of Israel is unique in that the country has a special significance as the Holy Land for the predominantly devout Christian Filipina women and is at the center of an often violent conflict which affects Filipinos in many ways In the literature migrant domestic workers are often described as being subject to racial discrimination labour exploitation and exclusion from mainstream society Here the author provides a more nuanced account and shows how Filipina caregivers in Israel have succeeded in creating their own collective spaces as well as negotiating rights and belonging While maintaining transnational ties and engaging in border crossing journeys these women seek to fulfill their dreams of a better life During this process new socialities and subjectivities emerge that point to a form of global citizenship in the making consisting of greater social economic and political rights within a highly gendered and racialized global economy Multinational Maids Anju Mary Paul, 2017-09-28 Explores how global markets middlemen and destination aspirations drive the stepwise migrations of Filipino and Indonesian migrant domestic workers

Migration Revolution Filomeno V. Aguilar Jr., 2014-04-11 Since the 1960s overseas migration had become a major factor in the economy of the Philippines It has also profoundly influenced the sense of nationhood of both migrants and nonmigrants Migrant workers learned to view their home country as part of a plural world of nations and they shaped a new sort of Filipino identity while appropriating the modernity of the outside world where at least for a while they operated as insiders The global nomadism of Filipino workers brought about some fundamental reorientations It revolutionized Philippine society reignited a sense of nationhood imposed new demands on the state reconfigured the class structure and transnationalized class and other social relations even as it deterritorialized the state and impacted the destinations of migrant workers Philippine foreign policy now takes surprising turns in consideration of migrant workers and Filipinos living abroad Many tertiary education institutions aim deliberately at the overseas employability of local graduates And the Fil foreign offspring of unions with partners from other nationalities add a new inflection to Filipino identity The Business of War James A. Tyner, 2017-11-30 Since the cessation of major combat operations in Iraq approximately 120 people either contract workers or private soldiers have been abducted with one third being executed The largest contingent of these workers has been provided by the Philippines Through a specific though not exclusive focus on the Philippines connection this book considers the myriad ways in which transnational labour migration intersects with the occupation of Iraq Also examining the role of the USA in the Middle East the book places the war on terror within the practices of neoliberalism but also links this with migration issues and argues that it is all part of a larger business of conflict
