Metamorphosis Of The Cassowaries Umeda Society Language And Ritual:

Metamorphosis of the Cassowaries Alfred Gell, 2020-10-09 In this substantial book Gell guides the reader systematically through an analysis of the social structure language and ritual of the Umedia Punda connubium of the West Sepik district One of the central areas explored is the ida fertility ritual and the decipherment and the unravelling of symbolic relationships between words of similar construction One one side is the analysis on the temporal sequence of events or ritual roles metamorphosing the cassowary nature into the new man culture and the on other side the associated harmonic levels which allude to body painting choreography and social status His approach substantiates the view that the ritual is not so much about the establishing of linear causality in the relationship between a society and its environment but with the act of poetic legislation over the course of nature Metamorphosis of the Cassowaries Alfred Gell, 1975 The

Metamorphoses of Kinship Maurice Godelier, 2012-03-03 With marriage in decline divorce on the rise the demise of the nuclear family and the increase in marriages and adoptions among same sex partners it is clear that the structures of kinship in the modern West are in a state of flux In The Metamorphoses of Kinship the world renowned anthropologist Maurice Godelier contextualizes these developments surveying the accumulated experience of humanity with regard to such phenomena as the organization of lines of descent sexuality and sexual prohibitions In parallel Godelier studies the evolution of Western conjugal and familial traditions from their roots in the nineteenth century to the present The conclusion he draws is that it is never the case that a man and a woman are sufficient on their own to raise a child and nowhere are relations of kinship or the family the keystone of society Godelier argues that the changes of the last thirty years do not herald the disappearance or death agony of kinship but rather its remarkable metamorphosis one that ironically is bringing us closer to the traditional societies studied by ethnologists Classic Concepts in Anthropology Valerio Valeri, 2017-12-15 The late anthropologist Valerio Valeri 1944-98 was best known for his substantial writings on societies of Polynesia and eastern Indonesia This volume however presents a lesser known side of Valeri's genius through a dazzlingly erudite set of comparative essays on core topics in the history of anthropological theory Offering masterly discussions of anthropological thought about ritual fetishism cosmogonic myth belief caste kingship mourning play feasting ceremony and cultural relativism Classic Concepts in Anthropology will be an eye opening essential resource for students and researchers not only in anthropology but throughout the humanities Experiencing New Worlds Jürg Wassmann, Katharina

Stockhaus, 2007-11-01 The many different localities of the Pacific region have a long history of transformation under both pre and post colonial conditions More recently rates of local transformation have increased tremendously under post colonial regimes The forces of globalization which rapidly distribute commodities images and political and moral concepts across the region have presented Pacific populations with an unprecedented need and opportunity to fashion new and expanded understandings of their cultural and individual identities This volume the first in a new series examines the forces of globalization at different levels as they manifest themselves and operate across cultural cognitive and biographical dimensions of human life in the Pacific While posing familiar questions it offers new answers through the integration of cultural and psychological methods The contributors draw on practice theory cognitive science and the anthropology of space and place while exploring the key analytical rubrics of human agency memory and landscape The Evolution of Social Institutions Dmitri M. Bondarenko, Stephen A. Kowalewski, David B. Small, 2020-09-12 This book presents a novel and innovative approach to the study of social evolution using case studies from the Old and the New World from prehistory to the present This approach is based on examining social evolution through the evolution of social institutions Evolution is defined as the process of structural change Within this framework the society or culture is seen as a system composed of a vast number of social institutions that are constantly interacting and changing As a result the structure of society as a whole is also evolving and changing The authors posit that the combination of evolving social institutions explains the non linear character of social evolution and that every society develops along its own pathway and pace Within this framework society should be seen as the result of the compound effect of the interactions of social institutions specific to it Further the transformation of social institutions and relations between them is taking place not only within individual societies but also globally as institutions may be trans societal and even institutions that operate in one society can arise as a reaction to trans societal trends and demands The book argues that it may be more productive to look at institutions even within a given society as being parts of trans societal systems of institutions since despite their interconnectedness societies still have boundaries which their members usually know and respect Accordingly the book is a must read for researchers and scholars in various disciplines who are interested in a better understanding of the origins history successes and failures of social institutions The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music J.W. Love, Adrienne Kaeppler, 2017-09-25 In the most comprehensive collection of information ever published on the performing arts of Oceania 168 scholars in thirty countries and on every continent describe the music of the indigenous peoples of Australia New Guinea Melanesia Micronesia and Polynesia in forty in depth articles A Borneo Journey into Death Peter Metcalf, 2017-01-30 The unusual and symbolically complex funerary rites of the Berawan of central Borneo are here analyzed in the first such full length study based on modern ethnographic research Metcalf demonstrates how the ritual and social organization of death serve as a crucial point of entry into the cosmology of a non Western culture Chinese Sociologics P. Steven Sangren, 2020-08-26 This volume explores the links between individuals families communities and the state in China through ritual and myth The Art of Anthropology Alfred Gell, 2020-08-20 The Art of Anthropology collects together the most influential of Gell's writings which span the past two decades with a new introductory chapter written by Gell The essays vividly demonstrate Gell's theoretical and empirical interests and his distinctive contribution to several key areas of current anthropological enquiry A central theme of the essays is Gell's highly original exploration of diagrammatic imagery as the site where social relations and cognitive processes converge and crystallise Gell tracks this imagery across studies of tribal market transactions dance forms the iconicity of language and his most recent and groundbreaking analyses of artworks Written with Gell s characteristic fluidity and grace and generously illustrated with Gell s original drawings and diagrams the book will interest art historians sociologists and geographers no less than anthropologists challenging as it does established ideas about exchange representation aesthetics cognition and spatial and temporal processes

A Demographic Study of an Egyptian Province (Sharquiya) A. M. Ammar,2021-05-30 Initially published in 1943 In A Demographic Study of an Egyptian Province Sharquiya Dr Ammar an Egyptian anthropologist raises a number of questions around the relevance of and need for accurate population statistics in field economic studies His tables and sociological analysis will be of particular interest to those working in other Muslim areas and the economic conclusions he draws have familiarity to all who are studying the problem of primary poverty

The Memory of Trade Patricia Spyer,2000 Trade popular memory and colonialism in Indonesia

Speaking of Colors and Odors Martina Plümacher,Peter Holz,2007-07-26 How to speak of colors and odors In many cases we have to think about an adequate description of a perceived odor or shade of color Words are not fluently available The contributions discuss color and odor perception and its linguistic representation from different disciplinary angles from neurobiology neuropsychology psycholinguistics cognitive linguistics and philosophy They show that linguistic representation of colors and odors depends highly on cultures of communication Experts are skilled in discerning finer differences between their sense impressions and have at their disposal a special language which non experts do not master The color and odor vocabulary is rare if there is no cultural habit to communicate the very sense impression In cases where individuals have to speak of their sensory experiences more precisely they often turn to metaphors The contributions discuss the lack of inter individual conventions of naming and describing odors compared to the more expanded linguistic representation of colors

Language and Culture in Dialogue Andrew J. Strathern,Pamela J. Stewart,2020-05-31 In this book Andrew J Strathern and Pamela J Stewart delineate the relationship between language in particular and culture in general by focusing on language as both social practice and a means of classifying and interpreting the world A traditional linguistic approach to a focus on language is illuminated by their anthropological emphasis on the embodiment of relationships and experience In the book the body is placed in the foreground for understanding language in culture which helps in turn to understand how it enables us to adapt to the world of lived material experience Written in an accessible style and drawing on an extensive corpus of primary field research from Papua New Guinea Samoa Japan Taiwan Scotland and Ireland Strathern and Stewart present a world anthropology which links together European North American and Asia Pacific approaches to the topic Students and scholars alike of sociocultural anthropology linguistic anthropology and linguistics will benefit from this engaging work on how the various components of our culture are informed and shaped through language

Child's Play Laurence R. Goldman,2020-05-28 This innovative book finally takes seriously the need for anthropologists to produce in depth ethnographies of children's play. In examining the subject from a cross cultural perspective the author argues that our understanding of the way children transform their environment to create make believe is enhanced by viewing their creations as oral poetry. The result is a richly detailed thick description of how pretence is socially mediated and linguistically constructed, how children make sense of their own play, how play relates to other imaginative genres in Huli life and the relationship between play and cosmology. Informed by theoretical approaches in the anthropology of play, developmental and child psychology, philosophy and phenomenology and drawing on ethnographic data from Melanesia, the book analyzes the sources for imitation, the kinds of identities and roles emulated and the structure of collaborative make believe talk to reveal the complex way in which children invoke their experiences of the world and re-invent them as types of virtual reality. Particular importance is placed on how the figures of the ogre and trickster are articulated. The author demonstrates that while the concept of imagination has been the cornerstone of Western intellectual traditions from Plato to Postmodernism, models of child fantasy play have always intruded into such theorizing because of children's unique capacity to throw into relief our understanding of the relationship between representation and reality. Claude Lévi-Strauss Maurice Godelier, 2018-08-07 One of the world's leading anthropologists assesses the work of the founder of structural anthropology. As a young man, Maurice Godelier was Claude Lévi-Strauss's assistant. Since then, Godelier has drawn on this experience to develop a profound and intimate grasp on the writings of his former teacher, one of the most influential thinkers of the twentieth century. Meticulously researched, Lévi-Strauss: A Critical Study of His Thought will prove indispensable to students of Lévi-Strauss and to structural anthropologists more generally. It is a compelling and comprehensive study destined to become the definitive work on the evolution of Lévi-Strauss's ideas, at the heart of which lies his analysis of kinship and myth. To Remember the Faces of the Dead Thomas Maschio, 1994 As he challenges classical semiological accounts of cultural representation in this ethnography of Melanesian religious phenomenology, Thomas Maschio shows that ritual and poetic performance are about the enactment, expression and invention of the self. Maschio demonstrates how such emotions as nostalgia, anger, sadness and grief are creatively transformed during the course of religious performance and expression into a form of cultural memory, one that juxtaposes a pattern of cultural meaning with the emotional feeling of plenitude. The Melanesian Rauto call makai, evoked during initiation, mourning and agricultural rites and figuring prominently in Rauto discourse about the self, makai joins personal memory to patterned sets of images and meanings that Westerners would call culture. Property, Substance, and Effect Marilyn Strathern, 2023-03-16 In engaging essays, celebrated anthropologist Marilyn Strathern reflects on the complexities of social life. Property, Substance, and Effect draws on Marilyn Strathern's longstanding interest in the reification of social relations. If the world is shrinking in terms of resources and access to them, it is expanding in terms of new candidates for proprietorship. How new relations are brought into being is among the many questions about property ownership and knowledge that these essays bring together. Twenty years have not diminished the interest in the book's opening challenge if one were inventing a method of enquiry by which to configure the complexity of social life one might wish to invent something like the anthropologist's ethnographic practice. A wide range of studies deliberately brings into conversation claims people make on one another through relations imagined in the form of body substance along with the increasing visibility of conceptual or intellectual work as property. Whether one lives in Papua New Guinea or Great Britain categories of knowledge are being dissolved and reformed at a tempo that calls for reflection and for the kind of lateral reflection afforded through the ethnographic effect. The Final Transition Richard A. Kalish, 2019-06-04. This text is not just another reader on death but rather a carefully developed book created specifically for those persons whose major interests are either death education, death counseling, or of course both. The audience which this book addresses include persons who have had either experience in death counseling or education or previous academic work, those who are contemplating professional work in the field or who are already in the process of developing this area as one of their fields of competence, and individuals who are already either counselors or educators or otherwise involved in the fields of mental health or education and who wish to learn more about the relationship of death and grief to their work.

Attraction of Opposites David Maybury-Lewis, Uri Almagor, 2025-10-01. The Attraction of Opposites considers a puzzling phenomenon. Why do societies all over the world organize their social thought and institutions in patterns of opposites? The essays collected in this volume examine contemporary societies throughout the world that organize their social theories or institutions in binary form. Through analysis of these rich materials the distinguished contributors explore the enduring human attraction to dualism. They consider whether this is due to the natural twoness of things and if not why polarity should play such a prominent role in both ancient cosmologies and modern philosophies, in early empires and in modern two-party systems. This study of dual organization tells us something important about human beings, illuminating a mode of thought and social organization that has represented an attractive option throughout human history.
