A Monetary History of the Ottoman Empire Sevket Pamuk, 2000-03-09 The Ottoman empire stood at the crossroads of intercontinental trade at the dawn of the era of capitalism This volume examines the monetary history of that empire from its beginnings in the fourteenth century to the end of the first world war Through a detailed examination of the currencies and related institutions of an empire which stretched from the Balkans through Anatolia Syria Egypt and the Gulf to the Maghrib the book demonstrates the complexity of the monetary arrangements and their evolution in response to both local developments and global economic forces The volume also affords some valuable insights into social and political history and the evolution of Ottoman institutions This is an important book by one of the most distinguished economic historians in the field

Sovereign Debt and International Financial Control Ali Co?kun Tunçer, 2015-08-26 This book revisits an important chapter of financial history in the Middle East and the Balkans from 1870 1914 During this period capital flows in the form of sovereign debt increased rapidly throughout the region The spiral of heavy government borrowing eventually culminated in defaults on foreign obligations in the Ottoman Empire 1875 Egypt

1876 Greece 1893 and Serbia 1895 In all four cases introducing international financial control over the finances of the debtor states became the prevalent form of dealing with defaults The different cases of international financial control became increasingly refined and they marked important milestones in the evolution of the global governance of sovereign debt before 1914 For the defaulting states however the immediate impact of international financial control was infringement of sovereignty The extent of international financial control and the borrowing capacity of debtor states varied in each case as well as the degree of resistance towards it This book documents the characteristics of international financial control in a comparative perspective It relates sovereign debt default and international financial control to political and fiscal systems and raises questions about the tension between national sovereignty and global capital It sheds light on the impact of international financial control on the long term credibility and fiscal capacity of the debtor states in question The author demonstrates that the governments decisions to borrow internationally and their attitudes towards international financial control were heavily influenced by domestic political and fiscal factors

Historical Dictionary of Turkey Metin

Heper,Nur Bilge Criss,2009-01-21 Turkey is both an old and a new country While the Turks have been living in Anatolia for the last millennium the country has gone through extensive Westernization since the end of the 18th century However in the case of Turkey tradition has not arrested modernization rather the traditional has adapted itself to the modern The revival of Islam and the emergence of certain ethnic identities during the recent decades have not led to the reversal of progress in the economy and democracy There is a thriving private sector and the economy continues to grow At the turn of the 21st century Turkey is the only Muslim country with a democratic political system Although Turkey belongs to both the West and the East its Western credentials are more marked It is a member of the Council of Europe North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO and Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD and it is presently carrying out negotiations with the European Union EU for accession to that Union as a full member The third edition of the Historical Dictionary of Turkey explores the history of this fascinating country through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on important persons places events and institutions as well as on significant political economic social and cultural aspects

The Muslim Empires of the Ottomans, Safavids, and Mughals Stephen F.

Dale,2009-12-24 Between 1453 and 1526 Muslims founded three major states in the Mediterranean Iran and South Asia respectively the Ottoman Safavid and Mughal empires By the early seventeenth century their descendants controlled territories that encompassed much of the Muslim world stretching from the Balkans and North Africa to the Bay of Bengal and including a combined population of between 130 and 160 million people This book is the first comparative study of the politics religion and culture of these three empires between 1300 and 1923 At the heart of the analysis is Islam and how it impacted on the political and military structures the economy language literature and religious traditions of these great empires This original and sophisticated study provides an antidote to the modern view of Muslim societies by illustrating the complexity humanity and vitality of these empires that cannot be reduced simply to religious doctrine Artisan Entrepreneurs in Cairo and Early-Modern Capitalism (1600-1800) Nelly Hanna, 2011-06-16 Little has been written about the economic history of Egypt prior to its incorporation into the European capitalist economy While historians have mined archives and court documents to create a picture of the commercial activities networks and infrastructure of merchants during this time few have documented a similar picture of the artisans and craftspeople Artisans outnumbered merchants and their economic weight was considerable yet details about their lives the way they carried out their work and their role or position in the economy are largely unknown Hanna seeks to redress this gap with Artisan Entrepreneurs in Cairo and Early Modern Capitalism 1600 1800 by locating and exploring the role of artisans in the historical process Offering richly detailed portraits as well as an overview of the Ottoman Empire's economic landscape Hanna incorporates artisans into the historical development of the period portraying them in the context of their work their families and their social relations These artisans developed a variety of capitalist practices both as individuals and collectively in their guilds Responding to the demands of expanding commercial environments in Egypt and Europe artisans found ways to adapt both production techniques and the organization of production Hanna details the ways in which artisans defied the constraints of the guilds and actively engaged in the markets of Europe demonstrating how Egyptian artisan production was able to compete and survive in a landscape of growing European trade Deftly synthesizing a wide range of economic and historical theory Hanna reinvigorates the current scholarship on early Ottoman history and provides a persuasive challenge to the largely shallow perception of artisans role in Egypt's economy Debasement Kevin Butcher, 2020-04-30 The debasement of coinage particularly of silver was a common feature of pre modern monetary systems Most coinages were issued by state authorities and the condition of a coinage is often seen rightly or wrongly as an indicator of the broader fiscal health of the state that produced it While in some cases the motives behind the debasements or reductions in standards are clear in many cases the intentions of the issuing authorities are uncertain Various explanations have been advanced fiscal motives such as a desire to profit or a to cover a deficit caused by the failure to balance expenditure and revenues monetary motives such as changing demand for coined money or a desire to maintain monetary stability in the face of changing values of raw materials or labour costs pressure from groups within society that would profit from debasement misconduct at the mint or the decline of existing monetary standards due to circulation and wear of the coinage in circulation Certain explanations have tended to gain favour with monetary historians of specific periods partly reflecting the compartmentalization of scholarship Thus the study of Roman debasements emphasizes fiscal deficits whereas medievalists are often more prepared to consider monetary factors as contributing to debasements To some extent these different approaches are a reflection of discrepancies in the amount of documentary evidence available for the respective periods but the divide also underlines fundamentally different approaches to the function of coinage Romanists have preferred to see coins as a medium for state payments whereas medievalists have often emphasized exchange as an important function of currency The volume is inter disciplinary in scope Apart from bringing together monetary historians of different periods it also contains contributions from archaeometallurgists who have experience with the chemical and physical composition of coins and technical aspects of production of base alloys Dove Va la Storia Economica? Francesco Ammannati,2011 The History of Turkey history The evidence for this the creation of a nation state military expansion and success economic dynamism and the exquisite art and architecture of the period is well known What is less understood is the extent to which the Safavid success depended on and was a product of a class of elite originating from outside Iran the slaves of Caucasian descent and the Armenian merchants of New Julfa in the city of Isfahan It was these groups bolstered by Shah Abbas the Great 1589 1629 and his successors who became the pillars of Safavid political economic and cultural life This book describes how these elites following their conversion to Islam helped to form a new language of Savafid absolutism It documents their contributions financed by the Armenian trade in Safavid silk to the transformation of Isfahan s urban artistic and social landscape The insights provided here into the multi faceted roles of the Safavid royal household offer an original and comprehensive study of slave elites in imperial systems common to the political economies of the Malmuk Ottoman and Safavid courts as well as contributing to the earlier Abbasid Ghaznavid and Saljuq eras As such this book makes an original and important contribution to our understanding of the history of the Islamic world from the 16th to the 18th centuries and will prove invaluable for students and scholars of the period
