Teaching Anglophone Caribbean Literature Supriya M. Nair, 2012-10-01 This volume in the Options for Teaching series recognizes that the most challenging aspect of introducing students to anglophone Caribbean literature the sheer variety of intellectual and artistic traditions in Western and non Western cultures that relate to it also offers the greatest opportunities to teachers Courses on anglophone literature in the Caribbean can consider the region's specific histories and contexts even as they explore common issues the legacies of slavery colonialism and colonial education nationalism exile and migration identity and hybridity class and racial conflict gender and sexuality religion and ritual While considering how the availability of materials shapes syllabi this volume recommends print digital and visual resources for teaching The essays examine a host of topics including the following the development of multiethnic populations in the Caribbean and the role of various creole languages in the literature oral art forms such as dub poetry and reggae music the influence of anglophone literature in the Caribbean on literary movements outside it such as the Harlem Renaissance and black British writing Carnival religious rituals and beliefs specific genres such as slave narratives and autobiography film and drama the economics of rum Many essays list resources for further reading and the volume concludes with a section of additional teaching resources

Nationalism and the Formation of Caribbean Literature L. Rosenberg, 2016-04-30 This book tells the story of how intellectuals in the English speaking Caribbean first created a distinctly Caribbean and national literature As traditionally told this story begins in the 1950s with the arrival and triumph of V S Naipaul George Lamming and their peers in the London literary scene However Afro Caribbeans were writing literature already in the 1840s as part of larger movements for political rights economic opportunity and social status Rosenberg offers a history of this first one hundred years of anglophone Caribbean literature and a critique of Caribbean literary studies that explains its neglect A historically contextualized study of both canonical and noncanonical writers this book makes the case that the few well known Caribbean writers from this earlier period Claude McKay Jean Rhys and C L R James participated in a larger Caribbean literary movement that directly contributed to the rise of nationalism in the region This movement reveals the prominence of Indian and other immigrant groups of feminism and of homosexuality in the formation of national literatures

Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies

Recalling Recitation in the Americas Janet Neigh, 2017-11-29 Spoken word is one of the most popular styles of poetry in North America While its prevalence is often attributed to the form's strong ties to oral culture Recalling Recitation in the Americas reveals how poetry memorization and recitation curricula shaped by British Imperial policy influenced contemporary performance practices During the early twentieth century educators frequently used the recitation of canonical poems to instill proper speech and behaviour in classrooms in Canada the Caribbean and the United States Janet Neigh critically analyses three celebrated performance poets E Pauline Johnson Tekahionwake 1861 1913 Langston Hughes 1902 1967 and Louise Bennett 1919 2006 who refashioned recitation to cultivate linguistic diversity and to resist its disciplinary force Through an examination of the dialogues among their poetic projects Neigh illuminates how their complicated legacies as national icons obscure their similar approaches to resisting Anglicization Recalling Recitation in the Americas focuses on the unexplored relationship between education history and literary form and establishes the far reaching effects of poetry memorization and recitation on the development of modern performance poetry in North America

Poems at the Edge of Differences Renate Papke, 2008 This study consists of two parts The first part offers an overview of feminism's theory of differences The second part deals with the textual analysis of poems about mothering by women from India the Caribbean and Africa Literary criticism has dealt with the representation of mothering in prose texts The exploration of lyrical texts has not yet come Since the late 1970s the acknowledgement of and the commitment to difference has been foundational for feminist theory and activism This investigation promotes a differentiated locational feminism Friedman The comprehensive theoretical discussion of feminism's different concepts of gender race ethnicity and mothering builds the foundation for the main part the presentation and analysis of the poems The issue of mothering foregrounds the communicative aspect of women s experience and wants to bridge the gap between theory and practice This study however does not intend to specify mothering as a universal and unique feminine characteristic It underlines a metaphorical use and discusses the concepts of nurturing maternal practice and social parenthood Regarding the extensive material this study understands itself as an explorative not concluding investigation placed at the intersections of gender studies postcolonial and classical literary studies Most of all it aims at initiating a dialogue and interchange between scholars and students in the Western and the Third World

Jamaica Kincaid's Writings of History Antonia Purk,2023-09-18 Jamaica Kincaid s works consistently explore how colonial history affects contemporary everyday lives Throughout her novels short fiction and non fictional essays Kincaid s texts engage with history through its medial representations which are starkly determined by colonial perspectives This study examines the entanglements of temporalities in current perceptions of the past and how literary text intervenes in historical consciousness With a focus on the media text image and the human body the chapters of this book demonstrate how Kincaid s poetics of impermanence counter colonial representations of history with strategies of ambiguity repetition and redirection Kincaid s texts repeat and revise aspects of colonial history a process that decenters the totality of historical colonial ideology and replaces it with self determined versions of the past through a multiplication of perspectives and voices anglophone francophone and hispanophone Caribbean studies Raphael Dalleo constructs a new literary history of the region that is both comprehensive and innovative He examines how changes in political economic and social structures have produced different sets of possibilities for writers to imagine their relationship to the institutions of the public sphere In the process he provides a new context for rereading such major writers as Mary Seacole Jos Mart Jacques Roumain Claude McKay Marie Chauvet and George Lamming while also drawing lesser known figures into the story Dalleo s comparative approach will be important to Caribbeanists from all of the region s linguistic traditions and his book contributes even more broadly to debates in Latin American and postcolonial studies about postmodernity and globalization
