Nachituti's Gift:

Nachituti's Gift David M. Gordon, 2006-02-01 Nachituti's Gift challenges conventional theories of economic development with a compelling comparative case study of inland fisheries in Zambia and Congo from pre to postcolonial times. Neoclassical development models conjure a simple abstract progression from wealth held in people to money or commodities; instead, Gordon argues, primary social networks and oral charters like Nachituti's Gift remained decisive long after the rise of intensive trade and market activities. Interweaving oral traditions, songs, and interviews as well as extensive archival research, Gordon's lively tale is at once a subtle analysis of economic and social transformations, an insightful exercise in environmental history, and a revealing study of comparative politics. Honorable Mention Melville J. Herskovits Award, African Studies Association. A powerful portrayal of the complexity, fluidity, and subtlety of Lake Mweru fishers' production strategies, Nachituti's Gift adds nuance and evidence to some of the most important and sophisticated conversations going on in African studies today. Kirk Arden Hoppe, International Journal of African Historical Studies. A lively and intelligent book which offers a solid contribution to ongoing debates about the interplay of the politics of environment, history, and economy. Joost Fontein, Africa Well. Well researched and referenced, Nachituti's Gift will be of interest to those in a wide variety of disciplines, including anthropology, African Studies, history, geography, and environmental studies. Heidi G. Frontani, H. SAfrica. The Cambridge World History of Sexualities: Volume 2, Systems of Thought and Belief Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, Mathew Kuefler, 2024-04-30. Volume II focuses on systems of thought and belief in the history of world sexualities ranging from early humans to contemporary approaches. Comprising eighteen chapters, this volume opens with a chapter on the evolutionary legacy and then delves into the sexualities of ancient Egypt, the Near East, Greece, and Rome, continuing with pre-modern South Asia, China, and Japan, Africa, the Americas, and Oceania. Chapters include an examination of sexuality in the religious traditions of Buddhism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, and also look at more recent approaches, including scientific sex, sexuality in socialism and Marxism, and the intersections between sexuality, feminism, and post-colonialism. *Africa. Building on the foundational work of the Rhodes Livingstone Institute, the essays contained in Living the End of Empire offer a nuanced and complex picture of the late colonial period in Zambia. The present volume based on untapped archival material and sources that have emerged in recent years throws new light on some of the historical trajectories that the teleological gaze of nationalist scholars tended to ignore or belittle. By bringing to view the deep rooted tensions underlying the Zambian nationalist movement, the painful dilemmas faced by chiefly and religious institutions and the contradictory experiences of European and Asian minorities, Living the End of Empire draws inspiration from and contributes to a growing literature that is concerned with the study of social, political and cultural forces that did not readily fit into the then dominant narratives of united anti colonial struggles.

Living the End of Empire Jan-Bart Gewald, Marja Hinfelaar, Giacomo Macola, 2011-08-25. Building on the foundational work of the Rhodes Livingstone Institute, the essays contained in Living the End of Empire offer a more nuanced and complex picture of the late colonial period in Zambia than has hitherto been presented in nationalist histories.

Ecology and Power in the Age of Empire Corey Ross, 2017-03-31. Ecology and Power in the Age of Empire provides the first wide ranging environmental history of the heyday of European imperialism from the late nineteenth century to the end of the colonial era. It focuses on the ecological dimensions of the explosive growth of tropical commodity production, global trade and modern resource management transformations that still visibly shape our world today and how they were related to broader social, cultural and political developments in Europe's colonies. Covering the overseas empires of all the major European powers, Corey Ross argues that tropical environments were not merely a stage on which conquest and subjugation took place but were an essential part of the colonial project, profoundly shaping the imperial enterprise even as they were shaped by it. The story he tells is not only about the complexities of human experience but also about people's relationship with the ecosystems in which they were themselves embedded: the soil, water, plants and animals that were likewise a part of Europe's empire. Although it shows that imperial conquest rarely represented a sudden bout of ecological devastation, it nonetheless demonstrates that modern imperialism marked a decisive and largely negative milestone for the natural environment. By relating the expansion of modern empire, global trade and mass consumption to the momentous ecological shifts that they entailed, this book provides a historical perspective on the vital nexus of social, political and environmental issues that we face in the twenty first century world.

Changing Roles Mwelwa Chambika Musambachime, 1976.

Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Kathleen Sheldon, 2016-03-04. African women's history is a vast topic that embraces a wide variety of societies in over 50 countries with different geographies, social customs, religions and historical situations. Africa is a predominantly agricultural continent and a major factor in African agriculture is the central role of women as farmers. It is estimated that between 65 and 80 percent of African women are engaged in cultivating food for their families and in the past that percentage was likely even higher. Thus one common thread across much of the continent is women's daily work in their family plot. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa contains a chronology and introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on individual African women in history politics religion and the arts on important events organizations and publications and on topics important to women in general marriage fertility employment and to African women in particular market women child marriage queen mothers This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the Women in Africa

A Violent History Giacomo Macola, 2025-09-03 Since the early nineteenth century political and military violence has played an exceptionally significant role in the territory corresponding to the present day Democratic Republic of Congo By emphasising the periodic re occurrence of warlordism and the economy of plunder that characterises it Giacomo Macola offers new analytical tools to interpret the history of the societies of the Congo Basin over the past two hundred years In the concluding chapters the author dwells on more recent events detailing the collapse of Mobutu's Zaire the Great African War and the reasons for the continuing armed instability in the east of the country Supplementing analyses of the contemporary dimension of African conflicts Macola makes a case for the enduring importance of studying precolonial history

African Studies Review, 2008

The Gun in Central Africa Giacomo Macola, 2016-04-25 Why did some central African peoples embrace gun technology in the nineteenth century and others turn their backs on it In answering this question The Gun in Central Africa offers a thorough reassessment of the history of firearms in central Africa Marrying the insights of Africanist historiography with those of consumption and science and technology studies Giacomo Macola approaches the subject from a culturally sensitive perspective that encompasses both the practical and the symbolic attributes of firearms Informed by the view that the power of objects extends beyond their immediate service functions The Gun in Central Africa presents Africans as agents of technological re innovation who understood guns in terms of their changing social structures and political interests By placing firearms at the heart of the analysis this volume casts new light on processes of state formation and military revolution in the era of the long distance trade the workings of central African gender identities and honor cultures and the politics of the colonial encounter

Subsistence under Capitalism James Murton, Dean Bavington, Carly Dokis, 2016-06-01 The complex relationship between subsistence practices and formal markets should be a growing matter of concern for those uneasy with the stark contrast between commercial and local food systems especially since self provisioning has never been limited to the margins In fact subsistence occupies a central space in local and global economies and networks Bringing together essays from diverse disciplines to reflect on the meaning of subsistence in theory and in practice in historical and contemporary contexts in Canada and beyond Subsistence under Capitalism is a collective study of the ways in which local food systems have been relegated to the shadows by the drive to establish and expand capitalist markets Considering fishing farming and other forms of subsistence provisioning the essays in this volume document the persistence of these practices despite capitalist government policies that actively seek to subsume them Presenting viable alternatives to capitalist production and exchange the contributors explain the critical interplay between politics local provisioning and the ultimate survival of society Illuminating new kinds of engagements with nature and community Subsistence under Capitalism looks behind the scenes of subsistence food provisioning to challenge the dominant economic paradigm of the modern world

Textures of Power Florence Bernault,Benoît Henriet,Emery Kalema,2025-05-27 Central Africa has long been a fertile ground for engendering new concepts and innovative research exerting significant influence on African studies and beyond This edited volume offers groundbreaking multidisciplinary reflections on power in Central Africa from the Atlantic slave trade era to the present By bringing together emerging and leading scholars Textures of Power builds on the rich epistemic legacies of Central African studies and opens new research avenues across history anthropology and cultural and political studies It offers fresh perspectives on colonial and postcolonial power structures drawing on new findings while critically engaging with earlier theoretical frameworks Employing the concept of texture as a red thread the book showcases the central importance of power as an analytical tool in the humanities and the social sciences It fosters dialogues between emotions and technology colonialism and its aftermath and between non humans and the invisible world Drawing on stories about women social rebellions digital technologies slavery languages forest management charms care and bio medicine urban life radio music witchcraft homosexuality and environmental pollution this volume emphasizes bottom up long term and emic approaches as well as local theories about power This work will appeal to students and scholars in African studies colonial and postcolonial studies and those interested in Africa s longue dur e history Beyond its spatial focus it will also be relevant to those studying power dynamics cultural studies queer and gender studies and environmental humanities

The Speed of Change Jan Bart Gewald,Sabine Luning,Klaas Van Walraven,2009 In the early 1900s the motor vehicle car bus lorry or motor cycle was introduced in sub Saharan Africa Initially the plaything and symbol of colonial domination the motor vehicle transformed the economic and social life of the continent Indeed the motor vehicle is arguably the single most important factor for change in Africa in the twentieth century A factor for change that thus far has been neglected in research and literature Yet its impact extends across the totality of human existence from ecological devastation to economic advancement from cultural transformation to political change through to a myriad of other themes This edited volume of eleven contributions by historians anthropologists and social and political scientists explores aspects of the social history and anthropology of the motor vehicle in Africa

Encyclopedia of Global Warming and Climate Change, Second Edition
S. George Philander, 2012-06-13 The First Edition of the Encyclopedia of Global Warming and Climate Change provided a multi authored academic yet non technical resource for students and teachers to understand the importance of global warming to appreciate the effects of human activity and greenhouse gases around the world and to learn the history of climate change and the research enterprise examining it This edition was well received with notable reviews Since its publication the debate over the advent of global warming at least partially brought on by human enterprise has continued to ebb and flow depending literally on the weather politics and media coverage of climate summits and debates Advances in research also change the discourse as new data is collected and new scientific projects continue to explore and explain global warming and climate change Thus a new Second Edition updates more than half of the original entries and adds new perspectives and content to keep students and researchers up to date in a field that has proven provocatively lively

Beyond the Tragedy in Global Fisheries D. G. Webster, 2015-11-20 An analysis of how responsive governance has shaped the evolution of global fisheries in cyclical patterns of depletion and rebuilding dubbed the management treadmill The oceans are heavily overfished and the greatest challenges to effective fisheries management are not technical but political and economic In this book D G Webster describes how the political economy of fisheries has evolved and highlights patterns that are linked to sustainable transitions in specific fisheries Grounded in the concept of responsive governance Webster s interdisciplinary analysis goes beyond the conventional view of the tragedy of the commons Using her Action Cycle Structural Context framework she maps long running patterns that cycle between depletion and rebuilding in a process that she terms the management treadmill Webster documents the management treadmill in settings that range from small coastal fishing communities to international fisheries that span entire oceans She identifies the profit disconnect in which economic incentives are out of sync with sustainable use and the power disconnect in which those who experience the costs of overexploitation are politically marginalized She examines how these disconnects shaped the economics of expansion and documents how political systems failed to prevent related cycles of serial resource depletion Webster also traces the increasing use of restrictive management in response to worsening fisheries crises and the emergence of new noncommercial interests that demand greater management but also generate substantial conflict She finds that the management treadmill is speeding up with population growth and economic development and so concludes that sustainable fisheries can only exist within a sustainable global economic system

Church, State and Colonialism in Southeastern Congo, 1890-1962 Reuben

A. Loffman, 2019-05-23 This book examines the relationship between Catholic missionaries and the colonial administration in southeastern Belgian Congo. It challenges the perception that the Church and the state worked seamlessly together. Instead, using the territory of Kongolo as a case study, the book reconfigures their relationship as one of competitive co-dependency. Based on extensive archival research and oral histories, the book argues that both institutions retained distinct agendas that, while coinciding during certain periods, clashed on many occasions. The study begins by outlining the pre-colonial history of southeastern Congo. The second chapter examines how the Church began its encounters with the peoples in Kongolo and the Tanganyika province of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Subsequent chapters highlight how missionaries exerted significant influence over the colonial construction of chieftainship and the politics of Congolese decolonization. The book ends in 1962 with the massacre of a number of Holy Ghost Fathers in an event that signaled the beginning of a more Africanized Church in Kongolo. The author gratefully acknowledges support from the Economic and Social Research Council in the completion of this project.
