Nature Conservation 3 Reconstructed Of Fragmented Ecosystems:

Reconstruction of Fragmented Ecosystems Denis A. Saunders, Richard J. Hobbs, Paul R. Ehrlich, 1993 Species Survival in Fragmented Landscapes J. Settele, Chris Margules, Peter Poschlod, Klaus Henle, 2012-12-06 The effects of isolation area size and habitat quality on the survival of animal and plant populations in the cultural landscape are central aspects of a research project started in Germany in 1993 Forschungsverbund Isolation FHichengroBe und BiotopqualiHit abbreviated to FIFB After a long period of preparation scientists from seven univer sities and one research institution started to work within the frame of this project Fund ing for four years was provided by the former German Federal Ministry of Research and Technology BMFT now the Ministry of Education and Research BMBF A strong focus of the project has been the improvement of the methodology for environmental impact assessments and the implementation of results into environmental planning As there is a certain risk that national projects develop some kind of mental in breeding it was decided to discuss concepts methods and first results with scientists of international reputation at a rather early stage of the project For this purpose an inter national workshop was held in the small village of Lubast north of Leipzig state of Saxony in March 1995 130 scientists from 10 nations met to discuss and debate issues surrounding habitat fragmentation for three days Papers presented there formed the basis for this book As discussions included general reviews as well as particular case studies we decided to structure this book in a similar way Consequently a combination of broad and more general review like papers as well as original papers are presented Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes Sharon K. Collinge, 2009-06-01 Ask airline passengers what they see as they gaze out the window and they will describe a fragmented landscape a patchwork of desert woodlands farmlands and developed neighborhoods Once contiguous forests are now subdivided tallgrass prairies that extended for thousands of miles are now crisscrossed by highways and byways Whether the result of naturally occurring environmental changes or the product of seemingly unchecked human development fractured lands significantly impact the planet s biological diversity In Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes Sharon K Collinge defines fragmentation explains its various causes and suggests ways that we can put our lands back together Researchers have been studying the ecological effects of dismantling nature for decades In this book Collinge evaluates this body of research expertly synthesizing all that is known about the ecology of fragmented landscapes Expanding on the traditional coverage of this topic Collinge also discusses disease ecology restoration conservation and planning Not since Richard T T Forman s classic Land Mosaics has there been a more comprehensive examination of landscape fragmentation Ecology of Fragmented Landscapes is critical reading for ecologists conservation biologists and students alike Forest Fragmentation James Arthur Rochelle, Leslie A. Lehmann, Joe Wisniewski, 1999-01-01 The book contains 15 chapters and provides an overview and synthesis of forest fragmentation and its influences on key ecological processes and vertebrate productivity Land use practices and their effects on vertebrate populations and productivity are discussed and examples of several planning approaches to address landscape level management effects are described Landscape Disturbance and Biodiversity in Mediterranean-Type Ecosystems Philip W. Rundel, Gloria Montenegro, Fabian M. Jaksic, 2013-04-17 Human impact on natural landscapes through urbanization and agricultural expansion are becoming more and more dramatic and are the cause of serious environmental problems This volume examines the effect of landscape disturbance on plant and animal diversity in the five mediterranean climate regions of the world It begins with three introductory chapters broadly reviewing the issues of landscape degradation Further contributions describe regional land use conflicts in each of the five regions Landscape disturbance and plant diversity and landscape disturbance and animal diversity are treated in separate chapters Four contributions deal with demography and ecophysiology in vegetation succession following disturbance The volume closes with a consideration of the future addressing aspects of environmental politics

Primates in Fragments Laura K. Marsh, 2013-06-29 This volume was created initially from a symposium of the same name presented at the International Primatological Society's XVIII Congress in Adelaide South Australia 6-12 January 2000 Many of the authors who have contributed to this text could not attend the symposium so this has become another vehicle for the rapidly growing discipline of Fragmentation Science among primatologists Fragmentation has quickly become a field separate from general ecology which underscores the severity of the situation since we as a planet are rapidly losing habitat of all types to human disturbance Getting ecologists particularly primatologists to admit that they study in fragments is not easy In the field of primatology one studies many things but rarely do those things genetics behavior population dynamics get called out as studies in fragmentation For some reason fragmentation primatologists fear that our work is somehow not as good as those who study in continuous habitat We worry that perhaps our subjects are not demonstrating as robust behaviors as they should given fragmented or disturbed habitat conditions I had a colleague openly state that she did not work in fragmented forests that she merely studied behavior when it was clear that her study sites everyone of them was isolated habitat Our desire to be just another link in the data chain for wild primates is so strong that it makes us deny what kinds of habitats we are working in However

Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change David B. Lindenmayer, Joern Fischer, 2013-02-22 Habitat loss and degradation that comes as a result of human activity is the single biggest threat to biodiversity in the world today Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change is a groundbreaking work that brings together a wealth of information from a wide range of sources to define the ecological problems caused by landscape change and to highlight the relationships among landscape change habitat fragmentation and biodiversity conservation The book synthesizes a large body of information from the scientific literature considers key theoretical principles for examining and predicting effects examines the range of effects that can arise explores ways of mitigating impacts reviews approaches to studying the problem discusses knowledge gaps and future areas for research and management Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change offers a unique mix of theoretical and practical information outlining general principles and approaches and illustrating those principles with case studies from around the world It represents a definitive overview and synthesis on the full range of topics that fall under the widely used but often vaguely defined term habitat fragmentation Handbook for Restoring Tidal Wetlands Joy B. Zedler,2000-08-30 Efforts to direct the recovery of damaged sites and landscape date back as far as the 1930s If we fully understood the conditions and controlling variables at restoration sites we would be better equipped to predict the outcomes of restoration efforts If there were no constraints we could merely plant the restoration site and walk away However Wildlife of the Box-Ironbark Country Chris Tzaros,2021-10-01 Victoria s Box Ironbark region is one of the most important areas of animal diversity and significance in southern Australia The forests and woodlands of this region provide critical habitat for a diverse array of woodland dependent animals including many threatened and declining species such as the Squirrel Glider Brush tailed Phascogale Regent Honeyeater Swift Parrot Pink tailed Worm Lizard Woodland Blind Snake Tree Goanna and Bibron s Toadlet Wildlife of the Box Ironbark Country gives a comprehensive overview of the ecology of the Box Ironbark habitats and their wildlife and how climate change is having a major influence This extensively revised second edition covers all of the mammals birds reptiles and frogs that occur in the region with a brief description of their distribution status ecology and identification together with a detailed distribution map and superb colour photograph for each species The book includes a Where to watch section featuring a selection of national parks state parks and nature conservation reserves where people can experience the ecosystem and its wildlife for themselves This book is intended for land managers conservation and wildlife workers fauna consultants landholders teachers students naturalists and all those interested in learning about and appreciating the wildlife of this fascinating and endangered ecosystem Restoration Ecology Jelte van Andel,James Aronson,2009-03-12 Aimed at Masters and PhD students teachers researchers and natural resource managers this book explores the interface between restoration ecology and ecological restoration Covers both the ecological concepts involved in restoration ecology and their practical applications Written by an excellent group of ecologists from centres across Europe with a strong reputation for restoration ecology Only textbook around aimed specifically at advanced undergraduate courses and postgraduate study programmes
