Nuestro Madrid:

Nuestro tiempo, 1911 The Cinema of Víctor Erice Linda C. Ehrlich, 2007-02-01 To coincide with the recent DVD release of The Spirit of the Beehive this paperback collection of essays focuses on the work of acclaimed Spanish director Víctor Erice. Originally published in hardcover under the title An Open Window this expanded edition draws on original essays, reprints and new translations from an international group of writers. New to this edition are four essays from noted film scholars including editor Linda C. Ehrlich as well as three added essays from the filmmaker himself. Both the original and new material provide a deeper appreciation of Erice's three feature length films: The Spirit of the Beehive (1973), El Sur (1982) and Dream of Light aka The Quince Tree Sun (1992), as well as his shorter works including his most recent accomplishment La morte rouge (2006). This anthology examines the aesthetic, historical and sociological forces at work in Erice's films and includes an extensive interview with the director. This broad array of writings provides insight into not only three unforgettable films but also into twentieth century Spanish society as well as world cinema. The Cinema of Víctor Erice: An Open Window will serve as an important resource to measure the career of this director who, along with Buñuel, Saura and Almodóvar, has helped show the world the creative range of Spanish cinema. With additional essays, translations and illustrations, this paperback edition explores new avenues of expression pursued by one of the most poetic of modern filmmakers.

Nuestro mundo, 1927 Authentic Reconstruction John Bold, Peter Larkham, Robert Pickard, 2017-12-14 Notions of authenticity lie at the heart of many questions about heritage and identity in the built environment. These questions are most pertinent when buildings have been destroyed in disaster or war and the built fabric is being reconstructed to reinstate traditional or historic appearances in place of what was lost. Authentic Reconstruction examines this idea of reconstruction using it as a prompt to examine a range of deeper issues on heritage and the built environment. From post-WWII reconstruction programmes through to the rebuilding of historic cultural landscapes lost in natural disasters, this collection of essays by heritage specialists provides a wide range of case studies and discussions. Each presents responses to crises and lessons learned in order to extrapolate general guidelines for future actions by politicians, architects and planners in reconstructing buildings. The book also looks beyond disaster and war, noting how authenticity bears on political intentions and image building, exploring how reconstruction is used to tell a political or historical story, so conditioning the ways in which the built environment is perceived and appreciated by its users. This is not just about the buildings as bricks and mortar but about perceptions of identity and the social and historical values which buildings and spaces embody for a richly diverse population. This book will be valuable to all who are concerned with heritage as practitioners or consumers, particularly those concerned with reconstruction and the creation of authentic places and experiences: architects, architectural historians, town planners, preservationists, conservationists and those involved in heritage management and material culture.
