this simple level of a neural machinery essential for adaptation and survival to the capacity for the awareness of one's own inner state within the flow of one's engagement with one's surround. From this enrichment of inner experiencing through evolving self-awareness the unique organization of the person emerges within the developmental process from expectancies and emotions to values, meaning, purpose, goals and direction. The title of the book has been chosen to capture this sequence. Further evolution of conscious organization will enable the human species to achieve the state of being together with and yet distinct from as the system as a whole on a wider, more global level gains increasing coherence as its complexity increases. Hopefully the implications of this idea will emerge in the reader's thinking as the chapters move from the level of adaptation to recognition. The Activity Program and the Teaching of Reading California.
