Pantzer, Elizabeth M. Farley, William A. Thompson, 1976 Contemporary Theories of Career Development Nancy Arthur, Mary McMahon, 2018-11-12 In response to the complexities of social change that have become evident in the 21st century there is a need for innovation in career theory that takes into account new perspectives and the fluctuating contexts of people s lives Contemporary Theories of Career Development International Perspectives brings together the contributions of theorists from around the globe whose work represents current cutting edge international approaches to career development theory Emphasizing the new perspectives that are needed for this field to be relevant in a contemporary era this book considers the cultural applications of theory in a diverse range of populations Structured in three parts with chapters written by internationally renowned leaders in the field this collection features a critical examination of the current history of the field thirteen theory chapters each enhanced by a case study and a final chapter that draws the previous chapters together through key themes broadening the reader s knowledge of theoretical perspectives and their interrelations Each theory chapter author comments on and critiques his or her own theory inviting readers to engage with these theories at both a practical and theoretical level through the case studies Detailed with reader friendly descriptions and supplemented by international research case examples and discussion questions Contemporary Theories of Career Development International Perspectives is the ideal reference work for students studying the topic as well as a stimulus for researchers and practitioners looking to implement the theories in their work Literary Praxis Piet-Hein van de Ven, Brenton Doecke, 2011-11-16 Literary Praxis A Conversational Inquiry into the Teaching of Literature explores the teaching of literature in secondary schools It does this from the vantage point of educators in a range of settings around the world as they engage in dialogue with one another in order to capture the nature of their professional commitment the knowledge they bring to their work as literature teachers and the challenges of their professional practice as they interact with their students The core of the book comprises accounts of their day to day teaching by Dutch and Australian educators These teachers do more than capture the immediacy of the here and now of their classrooms they attempt to understand those classrooms relationally exploring the ways in which their professional practice is mediated by government policies national literary traditions and existing traditions of curriculum and pedagogy They thereby enact a form of literary praxis that grapples with major ideological issues most notably the impact of standards based reforms on their work Educators from other countries then comment on the cases written by the Dutch and Australian teachers thus taking the concept of praxis to a new level as part of a comparative inquiry that acknowledges the richly specific character of the cases and resists viewing teaching around the world as though it lends itself unproblematically to the same standards of measurement as in the fetish made of PISA They step back from a judgmental stance and try to understand what it means to teach literature in other educational settings than their own The essays in this collection show the complexities of literature teaching as a form of professional praxis exploring the intensely reflexive learning in which teachers engage as they induct their students into reading literary texts and reflect on the socio cultural contexts of their work

Handbook of Career Development Gideon Arulmani, Anuradha J. Bakshi, Frederick T. L. Leong, A. G. Watts, 2014-02-08 This book is focused on work occupation and career development themes that are fundamental to a wide range of human activities and relevant across all cultures Yet theorizing and model building about this most ubiquitous of human activities from international perspectives have not been vigorous An examination of the literature pertaining to career development counseling and guidance that has developed over the last fifty years reveals theorizing and model building have been largely dominated by Western epistemologies some of the largest workforces in the world are in the developing world Career guidance is rapidly emerging as a strongly felt need in these contexts If more relevant models are to be developed frameworks from other cultures and economies must be recognized as providing constructs that would offer a deeper understanding of career development This does not mean that existing ideas are to be discarded Instead an integrative approach that blends universal principles with particular needs could offer a framework for theorizing research and practice that has wider relevance The central objective of this handbook is to draw the wisdom and experiences of different cultures together to consider both universal and specific principles for career guidance and counseling that are socially and economically relevant to contemporary challenges and issues This book is focused on extending existing concepts to broader contexts as well as introducing new concepts relevant to the discipline of career guidance and counseling *Vocational Education : State Instruction Materials for ...
