Historical Essays on British Columbia J. Friesen, Harry K. Ralston, 1976 The distinctive character of BC which is found not only in its spectacular environment but also in its community its politics and its past is admirably captured in this collection of 16 essays The Frontier World of Edgar Dewdney Brian Titley, 2011-11-01 The Frontier World of Edgar Dewdney is a biographical study of a man who played a key role in the cataclysmic events which marked the political social and economic transformation of western Canada in the latter half of the nineteenth century An immigrant adventurer seeking his fortune in the colonies Dewdney was embroiled in the gold rushes of the 1860s the BC debates on Confederation the Riel Rebellion of 1885 political evolution in the North West Territories and the Klondike gold rush For several years Dewdney held important public offices such as Indian commissioner of the North West Territories and Minister of the Interior positions which allowed him to shape the course of events In many ways Dewdney's career is a metaphor for the maturing western frontier In following his exploits we follow the story of a region experiencing breathtaking change Brian Titley's purpose in this book is not to praise but to offer a critical appraisal of Dewdney as a type a representative of that class of adventurer who saw in the new land an unprecedented opportunity for self aggrandisement Race, Space, and the Law Sherene Razack, 2002 Race Space and the Law belongs to a growing field of exploration that spans critical geography sociology law education and critical race and feminist studies Writers who share this terrain reject the idea that spaces and the arrangement of bodies in them emerge naturally over time Instead they look at how spaces are created and the role of law in shaping and supporting them They expose hierarchies that emerge from and in turn produce oppressive spatial categories The authors unmapping takes us through drinking establishments parks slums classrooms urban spaces of prostitution parliaments the main streets of cities mosques and the U S Canada and U S Mexico borders Each example demonstrates that place as a Manitoba Court of Appeal judge concluded after analyzing a section of the Indian Act becomes race Asian Religions in British Columbia Larry DeVries, Don Baker, Dan Overmyer, 2011-01-01 British Columbia is Canada's most ethnically diverse province Although the presence of Asian religions is felt and discussed in many regions we know little about the religions that accompanied immigrants from Asia or how they are practised today Asian Religions in British Columbia brings together fourteen religious studies scholars who offer intimate portraits of local religious groups including Hindus and Sikhs from South Asia Buddhist organizations from Southeast Asia and Tibetan Japanese and Chinese religions from East and Central Asia Although the geographical focus is particular the conceptual focus is broad the authors explore each religious tradition in the larger context of Canadian multiculturalism As the first comprehensive and comparative examination of Asian religions in British Columbia this book is mandatory reading for teachers policy makers scholars of British Columbia history and Asian Canadian studies or anyone who wants to be well informed about this province and nation

Nature's Northwest William G. Robbins, Katrine Barber, 2011-04-15 At the beginning of the twentieth century the greater Northwest was ablaze with change and seemingly obsessed with progress The promotional literature of the time praising railroads population increases and the growing sophistication of urban living however ignored the reality of poverty and ethnic and gender discrimination During the course of the next century even with dramatic changes in the region one constant remained inequality With an emphasis on the region's political economy its environmental history and its cultural and social heritage this lively and colorful history of the Pacific Northwest defined here as Oregon Washington Idaho Montana and southern British Columbia places the narrative of this dynamic region within a national and international context Embracing both Canadian and American stories in looking at the larger region renowned historian William Robbins and Katrine Barber offer us a fascinating regional history through the lens of both the environment and society Understanding the physical landscape of the greater Pacific Northwest and the watersheds of the Columbia Fraser Snake and Klamath rivers sets the stage for understanding the development of the area Examining how this landscape spawned sawmills fish canneries railroads logging camps agriculture and shared immigrant and ethnic traditions reveals an intricate portrait of the twentieth century Northwest Impressive in its synthesis of myriad historical facts this first rate regional history will be of interest to historians studying the region from a variety of perspectives and an informative read for anyone fascinated by the story of a landscape rich in diversity natural resources and Native culture Water-powers ... Canada. Commission of Conservation, 1919 The Business of Women Melanie Buddle, 2011-01-01 Throughout history Western women have inhabited a conceptual space divorced from the world of business But women have always engaged in business Who were these women and how were they able to justify their work outside the home The Business of Women explores the world of those women who embraced British Columbia's frontier ethos in the early twentieth century In this detailed examination of case studies and quantitative sources Buddle reveals that contrary to expectation the typical businesswoman was not unmarried or particularly rebellious but a woman reconciling her entrepreneurship with her identity as a wife mother or widow This groundbreaking study not only incorporates women into the history of business it challenges commonly held beliefs about women business and the marriage between the two Selling British Columbia Michael Dawson, 2004 Dawson's analysis draws on promotional pamphlets newspaper advertisements and films as well as archival sources about government civic and international tourism organizations He argues that in order to understand the roots of the fully fledged consumer culture that developed in Canada it is necessary to understand the connections between the 1930s 1940s and the postwar era He underlines the significance of the Depression and the Second World War ostensibly periods of underconsumption For the development of tourism promotion and consumerism in general This cultural history will be welcomed by British Columbian and Canadian historians as well as scholars of consumer culture and tourism Jacket

The Lieutenant Governors of British Columbia, 2019-05-18 The office of lieutenant governor has been a constant in British Columbia from the province's colonial beginnings to the modern era Originally tasked with selecting the province's premier giving royal assent to provincial legislation and invested with the power to dismiss governments the role of the Crown's representative has continually evolved to meet the needs of society Today the office's constitutional powers largely focus on community functions but the role of lieutenant governor is more than ceremonial This was demonstrated after the 2017 provincial election when then Lieutenant Governor Judith Guichon accepted Premier Christy Clark's resignation and asked NDP leader John Horgan to attempt to form government rather than call a new election BC's early lieutenant governors were the force behind infrastructure initiatives such as building roads railways and ships and investing in electric utilities and the forest industry Although most came from the ranks of the British elite and often espoused policies that denied First Nations land rights and opposed the immigration of Chinese and Japanese people over time the office became more representative of the province's diverse population In recent years lieutenant governors have played an increasingly activist role celebrating cultural excellence and promoting literacy creativity environmental awareness Chinese Canadian David Lam 1988-95 had a mandate of intercultural understanding Iona Campagnolo 2001-7 the first woman to hold the position in BC focused on empowering youth and women and fostering a spirit of public inclusiveness at Government House Steven Point 2007-12 BC's first Indigenous lieutenant governor worked to establish libraries in First Nations communities Chronologically arranged and rich with photographs this work by historian Jenny Clayton paints a vivid picture of the lives of

BC's thirty lieutenant governors Clayton's biographical essays capture the distinct personalities and events that have characterized the office from 1871 to the present offering a unique perspective on the evolution of the province Writing British Columbia History, 1784-1958 Chad Reimer, 2010-07-01 Captain James Cook first made contact with the area now known as British Columbia in 1778 The colonists who followed soon realized they needed a written history both to justify their dispossession of Aboriginal peoples and to formulate an identity for a new settler society Writing British Columbia History shows how Euro Canadian historians took up this task and struggled with the newness of colonial society and overlapping alliances to the British Empire the United States and Canada In explorers accounts promotional literature pioneer histories and academic studies they eased these tensions by defining British Columbia as part of a global British Empire incorporating it into an expanding Anglo Saxon civilization and writing it into the empire of history itself This sweeping study of the role of history writing in colonialism and nation building will appeal to anyone interested in British Columbia history the history of the Pacific Northwest or history writing in Canada Journal of the Society of Arts Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain), 1888 Canada and its Provinces, 1917 A Thousand Blunders Frank Leonard, 2011-11-01 During the first two decades of this century the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway played an important part in the development of the north central corridor of British Columbia The GTP which ran from Winnipeg via the Yellowhead Pass and Edmonton to Prince Rupert on the northwest coast was built to supplant the Canadian Pacific line to Vancouver The B C line was the most expensive and least remunerative of its sections and contributed ultimately to the company's collapse in 1919 In A Thousand Blunders Frank Leonard looks at why the Road of a Thousand Wonders failed to live up to the expectations forecast by company president Charles M Hays and other senior managers Not only was the railway built through a sparsely settled region which generated little immediate traffic but its economic difficulties were also compounded by the numerous mistakes made by managers at all levels for example their failure to respond adequately to labour shortages caused serious delays and prevented the company from proving Prince Rupert as an effective alternative harbour before World War I broke out For this book Frank Leonard had access to a wealth of original documents among them the GTP legal department files providing him with insights into the decisions that formed the basis for policies in townsites and on Indian reserves A Thousand Blunders is a provocative account of one of the greatest failures in Canadian entrepreneurial history Richly detailed and thoroughly documented it makes an important contribution to the fields of railway and business history as well as to the study of the history of northern British Columbia
