Anderson, 2025-08-13 The story of any immigrant community at its core depicts the changing meaning of home and identity the home and identity you leave behind those which you build on new shores in new places in new ways How any change to that home and identity changes the children who grow up into it how in a very real way each new generation is built from the foundation of the home and identity the previous generation laid down This story is about Ukrainian Canadians who first settled in large often robust communities in Saskatchewan beginning in the late 1890s How has the Ukrainian community hromada in Ukrainian in Saskatchewan been changing with each generation since the arrival of the first settlers This book describes what became of those first arrivals How did their birthplace shape them Where did they settle and how How were the relationships between different communities and ethnic groups in Ukraine translated on the other side of the Atlantic Even after growing into their new home these communities faced massive rural depopulation that would impact subsequent generations and those home communities We follow in their footsteps tracing the new challenges they faced in cities and how they would understand and maintain their cultural identity today Since 2022 the arrival in Saskatchewan of thousands of individuals and families displaced by Russia's full scale invasion of Ukraine has proven challenging but has been supported by the existing strong Ukrainian Canadian community here

thought to have failed because the Indigenous people lacked either an interest in farming or an aptitude for it In Lost Harvests Sarah Carter reveals that reserve residents were anxious to farm and expended considerable effort on cultivation government policies more than anything else acted to undermine their success Despite repeated requests for assistance from Plains Indians the Canadian government provided very little help between 1874 and 1885 and what little they did give proved useless Although drought frost and other natural phenomena contributed to the failure of early efforts reserve farmers were determined to create an economy based on agriculture and to become independent of government regulations and the need for assistance Officials in Ottawa however attributed setbacks not to economic or climatic conditions but to the Indians character and traditions which they claimed made the Indians unsuited to agriculture In the decade following 1885 government policies made farming virtually impossible for the Plains Indians They were expected to subsist on one or two acres and were denied access to any improvements in technology farmers had to sow seed by hand harvest with scythes and thresh with flails After the turn of the century the government encouraged land surrenders in order to make good agricultural land available to non Indian settlers This destroyed any chance the Plains Indians had of making agriculture a stable economic base Through an examination of the relevant published literature and of archival sources in Ottawa Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta Carter provides an in depth study of government policy Indian responses and the socio economic condition of the reserve communities on the prairies in the post treaty era The new introduction by the author offers a reflection on Lost Harvests the influences that shaped it and the issues and approaches that remain to be explored

Lost Harvests Sarah A. Carter, 1990-10-01 Despite repeated requests for assistance from Plains Indians the Canadian government provided very little help between 1874 and 1885 and what little they did give proved useless Although drought frost and other natural phenomena contributed to the failure of early efforts reserve farmers were determined to create an economy based on agriculture and to become independent of government regulations and the need for assistance Officials in Ottawa however attributed setbacks not to economic or climatic conditions but to the Indians character and traditions which they claimed made the Indians unsuited to agriculture In the decade following 1885 government policies made farming virtually impossible for the Plains Indians They were expected to subsist on one or two acres and were denied access to any improvements in technology farmers had to sow seed by hand harvest with scythes and thresh with flails After the turn of the century the government encouraged land surrenders in order to make good agricultural land available to non Indian settlers

This destroyed any chance the Plains Indians had of making agriculture a stable economic base Through an examination of the relevant published literature and of archival sources in Ottawa Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta Carter provides the first in depth study of government policy Indian responses and the socio economic condition of the reserve communities on the prairies in the post treaty era Cloud-capped Towers Alex MacDonald,2007 Montana ,1993 Canada ,

The Prairie Agrarian Movement Revisited Kenneth Murray Knuttila,2007 The formation of the Territorial Grain Growers Association in 1901 was not the only important event in the early history of what has come to be known broadly as the agrarian movement in the Canadian prairies but it was a defining moment in some respects Arguably it signalled the formation of an agrarian class but at least it was an indicator of an awakening of a democratic consciousness among family farmers Ultimately the Association provided a venue for analysis and critique the development of strategies and tactics and of course the nurturing of leadership and organizational forms that would have a profound influence upon politics and the state in the three prairie provinces and the Dominion as well as the creation of co operatives and other forms of direct action These eighteen essays honouring the 100th anniversary in 2001 of the formation of the TGGGA explore important aspects of the historical legacy of the agrarian movement and contemplate their relevance to the current setting for the rural prairies pub desc Our Towns David McLennan,2008 In this illustrated book author David McLennan guides us on an alphabetical tour of 725 Saskatchewan communities Our Towns Saskatchewan Communities from Abbey to Zenon Park is the result of many years of travel throughout the province Meticulously researched and illustrated with more than 1 000 stunning previously unpublished photographs both historical and contemporary Our Towns is a truly unique reflection of the province s history and people BOOK JACKET Medicine that Walks Maureen Katherine Lux,2001-01-01 Challenging the view that Aboriginal medicine was helpless to deal with European disease Lux argues that the diseases killing the Plains people were not contagious epidemics but grinding poverty malnutrition and overcrowding
