

the crowd, he said: "We who have given up our homes and all that is dear to us find it hard to understand stinginess in others. Now I have some exquisite pears, which I shall freely offer to you all."

"If you have pears of your own," said one of the on-lookers, "why didn't you eat one of those?"

"Because first I need one of these pips to grow them from," said the priest. He made quick work of the pear, then took a pip in his hand and, unfastening a pick from his shoulder, made a hole in the ground several inches deep. He dropped in the pip, covered it with dirt, and asked one of the bystanders to fetch him a little boiling water, which he poured over it. All eyes were fixed upon him.

Suddenly a sprout shot up from the spot. It grew larger and larger, branched and thickened, and in a trice there was a full-grown tree laden with leaves before them. Buds appeared in rich profusion, then flowers, and finally all the branches were hung with fruit — plump, ripe, fragrant pears.

The priest began to pick them and hand them round to the crowd, until every last one was gone. Then he took his pick and began to hack away at the base of the tree. Finally it fell and he shouldered it, leaves and all, and walked quietly away.

All this time, the countryman with the cart of pears had been standing among the crowd, straining his neck to see, and forgetting all about his business. Now that the priest had disappeared from view, he turned — and saw that every last pear on his cart was gone! Instantly he realized that the pears the priest had been giving away were his.

Captain Damnation and Other Strange Tales Harry Riley, 2010-05-28 As an unashamed admirer of Charles Dickens Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Edgar Allan Poe and Roald Dahl's quirky tales I have added a touch of my own black humour to this collection of short stories My earliest childhood memories of blood curdling yarns on the radio spoken by a man with a dark sepulchral voice have left me with a lifetime's passion for what were once known long before my time I might add as Penny Dreadfuls or American Dime Novels lurid tales of mysterious mayhem designed to deliciously shock and horrify our impressionable young minds Science can explain away so many mysteries but it is often the creepy unexpected that trips you up and opens the door to superstitious dread However where my tales have a ghostly theme running through them they will often have a perfectly rational explanation Occasionally they may even raise a smile or two Modern lives are driven at such a fast pace with all the demands on our time and leisure that we often try and fit twenty five hours into every working day thus leaving very little space to absorb and do justice to the full length novel This is why I believe the Ten Minute Tale has a place to lift us out of the mundane I hope you enjoy these offerings as you cherry pick your path along life's crooked highway Book reviews online PublishedBestsellers website
