Printing and Painting the News in Victorian London Andrea Korda, 2017-07-05 Printing and Painting the News in Victorian London offers a fresh perspective on Social Realism by contextualizing it within the burgeoning new media environment of Victorian London Paintings labelled as Social Realist by Luke Fildes Frank Holl and Hubert Herkomer are frequently considered to typify the sentimental Victorian genre painting that quickly became outdated with the development of modernism Yet this book argues that the paintings must be considered as the result of the new experiences of modernity the urban poverty that the paintings represent and most importantly the advent of the mass produced illustrated news Fildes Holl and Herkomer worked for The Graphic a publication launched in 1869 as a rival to the dominant Illustrated London News The artists illustrations which featured the growing problem of urban poverty became the basis for large scale paintings that provoked controversy among their contemporaries and later became known as Social Realism This first in depth study of The Graphic and Social Realism uses the approach of media archaeology to unearth the modernity of these works showing that they engaged with the changing notions of objectivity and immediacy that nineteenth century new media cultivated In doing so this book proposes an alternative trajectory for the development of modernism that allows for a richer understanding of nineteenth century visual culture Painting the Middle East Ann Zwicker Kerr,2002-11-01 We each paint our lives and frame our experiences of the world in a distinctive way for reasons that we cannot always understand writes Ann Kerr in her book The watercolors that fill its pages are an expression of the author s affection and fascination for the Middle East painted during her many sojourns there starting in the mid fifties and continuing to the present time The paintings are unashamedly romantic and reveal nothing of the turmoil going on in the region during the last half century that has brought personal tragedy to so many including the author and her family They are almost the antithesis of such events The paintings represent hours snatched away from the business of everyday life periods of time spent in nature amidst the sun washed relics of the past where evidence of old cruelties and folly have faded away or been covered with sand and weeds The eighty nine watercolors and photographs are woven together with a brief narrative that brings the context in which they were painted or photographed to the reader The book is divided into the four areas where the author painted Lebanon North Africa Egypt and the Holy Land Key Writers on Art: The Twentieth Century Chris Murray,2005-06-27 A unique and authoritative guide to modern responses to art Featuring forty eight essays and written by a panel of expert contributors it introduces readers to the key approaches and analytical tools of contemporary art study and debate Painting the Town Red Bob Dent,2018-03-20 The intensely political cultural production that erupted during Hungary s short lived Soviet Republic of 1919 encompassed music art literature film and theatre Painting the Town Red is the little known history of these developments The book opens with an overview of the political context in Hungary after the First World War and how the Soviet Republic emerged in the chaotic months which followed the collapse of the Austro Hungarian Dual Monarchy It looks at the subsequent roles during the Soviet Republic of artists film makers actors musicians and writers and the attitude of the newly established People s Commissariat for Education and Culture in which the future internationally renowned Marxist Gyorgy Lukacs played a leading role At its centre are the questions why did so many prominent people in the arts world participate in the Soviet Republic and why did their initial enthusiasm later subside Painting the Town Red is an important contribution to the lively debate about the interaction between art and politics Painting the Prehistoric Body in Late Nineteenth-Century France Shalon

Parker,2018-11-19 In late nineteenth century France when Charles Darwin s theories of evolution had finally begun to permeate French culture and society several academic artists turned to a relatively new sub genre of history painting the prehistoric themed subject This artistic interest in Darwin s theories was manifested as paintings and sculptures of prehistoric humanity engaged in physical conflict with each other or other animals struggling for food or hunting all nineteenth century popular understandings of survival of the fittest This book examines how this sub genre captured the imagination of French Salon painters from the 1880s to early 1900s in particular that of Fernand Cormon 1845 1924 one of the foremost academic painters during the final quarter of the nineteenth century A central argument of this book concerns the unique interpretation of prehistoric humanity that Cormon visualized in his paintings While the vast majority of prehistoric themed images made by his salon colleagues focused on violence combat and sexual conquest Cormon s paintings depict a conflict free humanity in which collaboration and cooperation dominate rather than physical struggle This study probes the French intellectual understanding and appropriation of Darwin s theories and considers how the French mis translation of The Origin of Species by Cl mence Auguste Royer the first French translator of the text along with Neo Lamarckism and republican ideology in Third Republic France may have collectively shaped Cormon s representation of early humanity The art press overwhelmingly favored Cormon s visualization of the prehistoric world over that of his Salon peers Through extended analysis of the art criticism concerning Cormon s work Shalon Parker argues that critics very clear preference for Cormon s paintings was rooted in their awareness that he utilized the sub genre of the prehistoric as a forum in which to reimagine and revive academic figurative painting at a time when the critical reception of Salon art had reached its nadir Additionally this study provides a broad overview of the visual models in particular the anthropological and ethnographic texts and imagery most readily available to Cormon as sources for shaping his vision of the prehistoric world

Painting the Wild Frontier Susanna Reich,2008 Generously illustrated with archival prints and photos of Catlin s own paintings this accessible biography of one of America s best known painters weaves a well researched history with stories of Catlin s travels and adventures

Painting the Cannon's Roar Thomas Tolley,2017-07-05 From c 1750 to c 1810 the paths of music history and the history of painting converged with lasting consequences The publication of Newton s Opticks at the start of the eighteenth century gave a scientific basis to the analogy between sight and sound allowing music and the visual arts to be defined more closely in relation to one another This was also a period which witnessed the emergence of a larger and increasingly receptive audience for both music and the visual arts an audience which potentially included all social strata The development of this growing public and the commercial potential that it signified meant that for the first time it became possible for a contemporary artist to enjoy an international reputation Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the career of Joseph Haydn Although this phenomenon defies conventional modes of study the book shows how musical pictorialism became a major creative force in popular culture Haydn the most popular living cultural personality of the period proved to be the key figure in advancing the new relationship The connections between the composer and his audiences and leading contemporary artists including Tiepolo Mengs Kauffman Goya David Messerschmidt Louthenbourg Canova Copley Fuseli Reynolds Gillray and West are examined here for the first time By the early nineteenth century populism was beginning to be regarded with scepticism and disdain Mozart was the modern Raphael Beethoven the modern Michelangelo Haydn however had no clear parallel in the accepted canon of Renaissance art Yet his recognition that ordinary people had a desire to experience simultaneous aural and visual stimulation was not altogether lost finding future exponents in Wagner and later still in the cinematic arts

Painting the Inhabited Landscape Margaretta M. Lovell, 2023-03-27 The impulse in much nineteenth century American painting and culture was to describe nature as a wilderness on which the young nation might freely inscribe its future the United States as a virgin land that is unploughed unfenced and unpainted Insofar as it exhibited evidence of a past its traces pointed to a geologic or cosmic past not a human one The work of the New England artist Fitz H Lane however was decidedly different In this important study Margaretta Markle Lovell singles out the more modestly scaled explicitly inhabited landscapes of Fitz H Lane and investigates the patrons who supported his career with an eye to understanding how New Englanders thought about their land their economy their history and their links with widely disparate global communities Lane's works depict nature as productive and allied in partnership with humans to create a sustainable balanced political economy What emerges from this close look at Lane's New England is a picture not of a virgin wilderness but of a land deeply resonant with its former uses and a human history that incorporates rather than excludes Native Americans as shapers of land and as agents in that history Calling attention to unexplored dimensions of nineteenth century painting Painting the Inhabited Landscape is a major intervention in the scholarship on American art of the period examining how that body of work commented on American culture and informs our understanding of canon formation
