New Directions for Criminology Ronnie Lippens, Patrick van Calster, 2010 Criminology by its very nature as a non disciplinary field of research and scholarship has always relied on theoretical perspectives derived from external disciplines and bodies of literature for its constant renewal The editors of New Directions for Criminology chose to consult scholars from outside the criminological community to demonstrate how the latest theoretical work in their field can be made fruitful for criminology All contributors are familiar with the fundamentals of criminological theories and research and all are well placed to clearly make the connections between the cutting edge of their field of research and its potential for criminology New Directions for Criminology makes a distinction between papers that elaborate on the usefulness of particular theories and perspectives for criminology and papers that outline particular research themes which will be of interest to those working within the broader criminological community Contents include Why Criminal Law Why Break It If Broken Then What Criminology and Assemblage Theory Criminology and Deleuzoguattarism Criminology and Lacan s Psychoanalytical Approach Criminology and Forms of Life Foundations and Origins as Criminological Objects Criminological Conversations Criminological Tribes
