Protests and Generations: Legacies and Emergences in the Middle East, North Africa and the Mediterranean, 2017-04-18 The aim of Protests and Generations is to problematize the relations between generations and protests in the Middle East North Africa and the Mediterranean. Most of the work on recent protests insists on the newness of their manifestation but leave unexplored the various links that exist between them and what preceded them. Mark Muhannad Ayyash and Ratiba Hadj Moussa Eds argue that their articulation relies at once on historical ties and their rejection. It is precisely this tension that the chapters of the book address in specifically documenting several case studies that highlight the generating processes by which generations and protests are connected. What the production and use of generation brings to scholarly understanding of the protests and the ability to articulate them is one of the major questions this collection addresses. Contributors are Mark Muhannad Ayyash, Lorenzo Cini, Ric Gobe, Ratiba Hadj Moussa, Andrea Hajek, Chaymaa Hassabo, Gal Levy, Ilana Kaufman, Sunaina Maira, Mohammad Massala, Matthieu Rey, Gökberk Sarp, Tanyildiz and Stephen Luis Vilaseca. Protests and Generations is now available in paperback for individual customers. Global Publics, Political Parties and Morality Arno Tausch, 2025-08-26. This book provides a groundbreaking empirical study on the persistence of religious morality in an increasingly secular world. Analyzing data from the 2019-2022 World Values Survey and European Values Survey, it examines religious adherence and morality across 82 countries and over 400 political parties. Using advanced index methodologies, the study reveals where and how religious norms, particularly those rooted in the Ten Commandments, continue to shape social values and how this affects political party support. Essential for scholars, policymakers, and religious communities, this book challenges the notion that secularization is inevitable and explores the complex relationship between faith, politics, and global development. In this book, Arno Tausch, a political scientist associated with the University of the Free State in South Africa, impressively demonstrates that the Western political left would be well advised to return to the fundamental values of social democracy that are open to world religions as set out by Karl Polanyi, rather than following the ideas of Michel Foucault and Judith Butler. From the perspective of the Global South, he radically reveals how the Western world is moving away from the ethical imperatives of world religions. This is a disturbing yet highly topical issue, as evidenced by the recent elections in America. Werner J. Patzelt, Professor Emeritus of Political Systems and Comparative Politics, TU Dresden, MCC Brussels, Visiting Professor of Research, incisive and erudite. Arno Tausch's latest offering, Global Publics, Political Parties and Morality, an analysis based on the World Values Survey, is a magnificent account of the state of the politicisation of faith in different contexts. Theoretically anchored and empirically rich, this book is a must for those seeking to grapple with the place of religion in our fragile polities. Professor Hussein Solomon, Centre for Gender and Africa Studies, University of the Free State, South Africa. Public Funding Solutions for Political Parties in Muslim-Majority Societies, Adapting to the New Normal: Political Parties During Lockdown and Social Distancing International IDEA, 2020-09-30. In several countries, political parties are stepping up their digital presence in the online world. This creates opportunities for political parties to reach a wider potential audience or membership base. Digitalization has been an ongoing process in political parties across the globe, and the current pandemic is likely to accelerate this process This Primer highlights some of the mechanisms that are being widely used and can be adopted by political parties to allow them to continue to function or operate in times of social distancing and other contexts where restrictions on social gatherings are being enforced It also presents practical options for digitalization and developing an online presence that parties in different contexts can adapt and optimize to respond to such restrictions and ideas to support the transformation efforts that parties are undertaking
