Primal Skin:

From the Brink Paul W. Ashton, 2020-06-16 A commonly encountered experience of both analyst and analysand is that of the void. It is spoken about at different stages of therapy and refers to experiences that have different origins. Sometimes the experience of the void is around a relatively limited aspect of the psyche but at other times the void seems much more global and threatens to engulf the entire personality. The whole individual psyche then seems threatened by the possibility of dissolution into nothingness.

Under the Skin Alessandra Lemma, 2010-02-25 Under the Skin considers the motivation behind why people pierce, tattoo, cosmetically enhance or otherwise modify their body from a psychoanalytic perspective. It discusses how the therapist can understand and help individuals for whom the manipulation of the body is felt to be psychically necessary regardless of whether the process of modification causes pain. In this book psychoanalyst Alessandra Lemma draws on her work in the consulting room as well as films, fiction, art and clinical research to suggest that the motivation for extensively modifying the surface of the body is a complex one.

White Men Aren't Thomas DiPiero, 2002-09-09 A critical psychoanalytic account of white masculinity which argues that it is incorrect to naturalize the power of masculinity and offers an alternative account.

Treatment for Body-Focused Repetitive Behaviors Stacy K. Nakell, 2022-08-01 Treatment for Body Focused Repetitive Behaviors is the first book to establish the theory and practice of a psychodynamic approach to treating body focused repetitive behavior disorders (BFRBDs) such as hair pulling, skin picking and cheek lip and cuticle biting. Chapters set out a new framework for understanding and treating BFRBDs, one grounded in attachment theory and neurobiological research.

Surviving Space Andrew Briggs, 2018-06-13 Surviving Space is a collection of papers on infant observation and related issues by contemporary experts in the field, commemorating the centenary of Esther Bick and the unique contribution she has made to psychoanalytic theory. As part of the prestigious Tavistock Clinic Series, this is an essential addition to this highly valued and innovative series. Infant observation is crucial to most psychotherapy training and this work would be of obvious value to those commencing their training as well as valuable insights for all psychotherapists.

Hidden Self-Harm Maggie Turp, 2002-11-10 The book takes a new look at self-harm, focusing particularly on the underexplored area of hidden self-harming behaviour. These behaviours may not be immediately identifiable as self-harm by counsellors, therapists or their clients but Turp shows how recognition and understanding of hidden self-harm can improve practice with those affected.

Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder Francine Conway, 2015-12-22 For many researchers, clinicians, teachers, patients and family members, the discourse on ADHD has been occurring in silos. Traditional ADHD camps are organized primarily in terms of neurological and cognitive perspectives and to a lesser extent psychoanalytic/psychodynamic perspectives. Those with an interest in ADHD have not been able to obtain a comprehensive understanding of the disorder and consequently have been restricted in psychotherapy treatment options. This book argues for the integration of the three perspectives on ADHD. Drawing on the expertise of an international range of contributors, the volume addresses questions from a psychoanalytic vantage point which have considerable meaning in clinical work with children who have ADHD They examine the role of trauma and attachment problems as both a possible antecedent to ADHD and as an outgrowth of ADHD which predisposes the child to limitations in emotion regulation social adversity an even maltreatment Several questions pertinent to psychodynamic treatment and relevant case studies are discussed including a the viability of psychoanalysis psychodynamic treatment for ADHD children b the impact of early traumatic experience on the child s specific weaknesses in attention over reactivity and dysregulation c contributions of problems in object relations and regressive defences to ADHD symptoms d and the importance of other intrapsychic issues This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Infant Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy Relational Conversations on Meeting and Becoming Michal Barnea-Astrog, Mitchel Becker, 2022-12-30 Demonstrating a relational dialogic way of thinking and writing this book offers an innovative perspective on the human potential for intersubjective engagement and on the nature of true encounter The authors engage in creative associative dialogues and trialogues inspired by psychoanalysis and Buddhism poetry and religion theory and case studies academic and free styles of writing each enriching the other Reflecting on the essence of relating they convey a flow between inner private reveries and shared ones and between individual expressions of thought and evolvments of newly born thirds Through this interdisciplinary experimental setting the authors explore the possibility to reach truths and meanings that each individual would not have achieved on their own Offering new concepts and formulations that may nourish psychotherapists thought and be usefully implemented in their practice this book presents a pressingly unique and essential viewpoint for psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists in training and in practice Developments in Infant Observation Susan Reid, 2013-12-19 Infant observation carried out within the family is a compelling approach to the study of early human development vividly revealing the impact of intergenerational patterns of child rearing and the complex relationship between nature and nurture It provides unique insights into the early origins of emotional disturbance and suggests ways in which healthy development can be promoted by both professional and parent often resulting in changes to clinical practice Developments in Infant Observation The Tavistock Model is a collection of twelve key papers from international contributors It offers an overview of current practice explores the new concepts that have arisen from direct observation and shows how the findings from observation are being applied in the research setting An essential text for child psychotherapists in training and practice this is a book that brings alive the academic theories of child development through thought provoking and stimulating case studies which will be of interest to any professional working with children Melanie Klein Today, Volume 1: Mainly Theory Elizabeth Bott Spillius, 2003-09-02 Melanie Klein Today Volume 1 is the first of two volumes of collected essays devoted to developments in psychoanalysis based on the work of Melanie Klein The papers are arranged into four groups the analysis of psychotic patients projective identification on thinking and pathological organisation A History of Child Psychoanalysis Pierre Geissmann, Claudine
