Christianity, Empire, and the Making of Religion in Late Antiquity Jeremy M. Schott, 2013-04-23 In Christianity Empire and the Making of Religion in Late Antiquity Jeremy M. Schott examines the ways in which conflicts between Christian and pagan intellectuals over religious ethnic and cultural identity contributed to the transformation of Roman imperial rhetoric and ideology in the early fourth century C.E. During this turbulent period which began with Diocletian's persecution of the Christians and ended with Constantine's assumption of sole rule and the consolidation of a new Christian empire Christian apologists and anti-Christian polemicists launched a number of literary salvos in a battle for the minds and souls of the empire. Schott focuses on the works of the Platonist philosopher and anti-Christian polemicist Porphyry of Tyre and his Christian respondents the Latin rhetorician Lactantius Eusebius bishop of Caesarea and the emperor Constantine. Previous scholarship has tended to narrate the Christianization of the empire in terms of a new religion's penetration and conquest of classical culture and society. The present work in contrast seeks to suspend the static essentializing conceptualizations of religious identity that lie behind many studies of social and political change in late antiquity in order to investigate the processes through which Christian and pagan identities were constructed. Drawing on the insights of postcolonial discourse analysis Schott argues that the production of Christian identity and in turn the construction of a Christian imperial discourse were intimately and inseparably linked to the broader politics of Roman imperialism.

Orality, Literacy, and Colonialism in Antiquity Jonathan A. Draper, 2004 Religious scholars take up various questions relating to the relationship between orality and literacy in the context of colonized people in antiquity and explore the role of orality in relation to this hegemony. Among the topics are theoretical and methodological foundations Mithra's cult as an example of religious colonialism in Roman times etc.      The Oxford Handbook of Early Christian Apocrypha Andrew F. Gregory, Christopher Mark Tuckett, Tobias Nicklas, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Early Christian Apocrypha addresses issues and themes that arise in the study of early Christian apocryphal literature. It discusses key texts including the Gospel of Thomas the Gospel of Mary the Gospel of Peter letters attributed to Paul Peter and Jesus and acts and apocalypses written about or attributed to different apostles. Part One consists of authoritative surveys of the main branches of apocryphal literature: gospels, acts, epistles, apocalypses, and related literature; and Part Two considers key issues that they raise. These include their contribution to our understanding of developing theological understandings of Jesus, the apostles, and other important figures such as Mary. It also addresses the value of these texts as potential sources for knowledge of the historical Jesus and for debates about Jewish-Christian relations, the practice of Christian worship, and developing understandings of asceticism, gender, and sexuality etc. The volume also considers questions such as which ancient readers read early Christian apocrypha their place in Christian spirituality and their place in contemporary popular culture and contemporary theological discourse

The Oxford Handbook of Postcolonial Biblical Criticism R. S. Sugirtharajah, 2023

The Oxford Handbook of Postcolonial Biblical Criticism is a comprehensive treatment of a relatively new form of scholarship. Generally speaking, postcolonialism aims to critique and dismantle hegemonic worldviews and power structures while giving voice to previously marginalized peoples and systems of thought. This approach has inevitably engaged with the text and reception of the Bible, a scripture that Western colonizers introduced to and often imposed upon their colonial subjects. With a globally diverse list of contributors, the Handbook aims to cover the perspective and context of the authors of the Bible as well as the modern experiences of imperialism, resistance, decolonization, and nationalism.

The Colonizers' Idols Christina Harker, 2018-02-02

In this work, Christina Harker deconstructs the prevailing treatment of the New Testament as anti-imperial by contextualizing both New Testament scholarship and the Galatian experience within imperialist discourses that survived the dissolution of conventional empires in the twentieth century. She critiques simplistic treatments of empire as post-imperial that replicate patterns of imperialist ideology, albeit unwittingly. To solve the problem, a new interpretation of Galatians is proposed that reworks and complicates the portrait of the Galatians themselves rather than Paul within what then emerges as a diverse social world peopled by complex individuals with heterogeneous social and cultural identities. The author is thus able to show how New Testament scholars who rehabilitate the Bible and Paul as anti-empire perpetuate the same imperialist modes of interpretation they seek to repudiate.

Cruciform Scripture Christopher W. Skinner, Nijay K. Gupta, Andy Johnson, Drew J. Strait, 2021-01-05

What does it mean to participate in the cruciform Lord Jesus Christ so that our life together becomes a living exegesis of the gospel? Michael Gorman has been tremendously influential in exploring this question within the New Testament, particularly in the letters of Paul, the Gospel of John, and the book of Revelation. His 2001 book Cruciformity: Paul's Narrative Spirituality of the Cross inspired a generation of scholars and was the first in a trilogy of New Testament theology devoted to exploring the role of the cross, participation in Christ, and becoming the gospel in mission. Here is an assemblage of some of the best and brightest current New Testament exegetes honoring Gorman's work with contributions of their own, each of which further explores these three critical themes in various passages of the New Testament. Cruciform Scripture is more than a tribute to a giant of biblical scholarship. Its contributors, including N. T. Wright, Sylvia Keesmaat, and Richard Hays, are masters in their own right who offer incisive interpretations of essential themes of New Testament theology and the core concerns of Christian life in community. As they reason together in this volume, they amplify one another's voices as well as Gorman's modeling a way that careful reflection on Paul's determination to know nothing except Jesus Christ and him crucified can engender fruitful insights on the nature of discipleship.

Context of Late Antique Scholasticism Catherine Hezser, 2024-12-12 Based on an understanding of scholasticism as a cross cultural phenomenon undertaken by rabbinic Graeco Roman and Christian scholars in late antiquity this book examines the development of Palestinian rabbinic compilations from social historical and literary historical perspectives The book focuses on the compilation of the Talmud Yerushalmi in the context of late antique scholarly practice aimed at preserving past knowledge for future generations This book provides insight into how rabbinic scholarship in the Land of Israel participated in the wider intellectual practices of Roman Byzantine times Beginning with the social educational and legal contexts that generated rabbinic knowledge Catherine Hezser goes on to investigate the oral and written transmission of rabbinic traditions to eventually examine the compilation of the Talmud Yerushalmi with a comparative and redaction historical approach Integrating Palestinian rabbinic education and scholarship into the context of late antique Graeco Roman and Byzantine Christian scholarly practices Catherine Hezser demonstrates how rabbinic compilatory techniques resembled but also differed from those of Hellenistic Roman and Christian scholars The book highlights how rabbinic compilations are idiosyncratic and create a distinct rabbinic identity Overall Hezser argues that rabbinic scholarship was an integral part of late antique intellectual life in the Near Middle East and should be recognized as an Eastern equivalent to Western paideia based forms of scholarship in the Roman Byzantine period and beyond
