The Genesis of Roman Architecture John North Hopkins,2016-01-01 An important new look at Rome s earliest buildings and their context within the broader tradition of Mediterranean culture This groundbreaking study traces the development of Roman architecture and its sculpture from the earliest days to the middle of the 5th century BCE Existing narratives cast the Greeks as the progenitors of classical art and architecture or rely on historical sources dating centuries after the fact to establish the Roman context Author John North Hopkins however allows the material and visual record to play the primary role in telling the story of Rome s origins synthesizing important new evidence from recent excavations Hopkins s detailed account of urban growth and artistic political and social exchange establishes strong parallels with communities across the Mediterranean From the late 7th century Romans looked to increasingly distant lands for shifts in artistic production By the end of the archaic period they were building temples that would outstrip the monumentality of even those on the Greek mainland The book s extensive illustrations feature new reconstructions allowing readers a rare visual exploration of this fragmentary evidence

Life in Ancient Rome Nigel Rodgers,2007 Art, Architecture, and the Moving Viewer, c. 300-1500 CE,2022-04-19 Premodern architecture and built environments were fluid spaces whose configurations and meanings were constantly adapting and changing The production of transitory meaning transpired whenever a body or object moved through these dynamic spaces Whether spanning the short duration of a procession or the centuries of a building s longue dur e a body or object in motion created in the moment narratives that unfolded through time and space The authors in this volume forge new approaches to architectural studies by focusing on the interaction between monuments artworks and their viewers at different points in space and time

Johann Joachim Winckelmann on Art, Architecture, and Archaeology Johann Joachim Winckelmann,2013 Modern English translations of several of the most important essays of Winckelmann one of the fathers of art history and archaeology and a strong influence on Goethe and Schiller and Weimar Classicism Johann Joachim Winckelmann 1717-68 has long been recognized as one of the founders of modern art history and a major force in the development of archaeology and the study of ancient Greek architecture He also exerted an influence on the Weimar Classicism of Goethe and Schiller for whom his description of Greek sculpture as evoking edle Einfalt und stille Gr sse noble simplicity and a calm greatness became a watchword He contributed to modern scientific archaeology through his application of empirically derived categories of style to the analysis of classical works of art and architecture and was one of the first to undertake detailed empirical examinations of artifacts and describe them precisely in a way that enabled reasoned conclusions to be drawn about ancient societies and their cultures Yet several of his important essays are not available in modern English translation The present volume remedies this situation by collecting four of Winckelmann s most seminal essays on art along with several shorter pieces on the topic two major if brief essays on architecture and one longer essay on archaeology Paired with this is an introduction covering Winckelmann s life and work David Carter is retired as Professor of Communicative English at Yonsei University Seoul Korea and is former Lecturer in

German Studies at the University of Southampton UK Among his recently published translations from German are Klaus Mann's novel Alexander 2008 and On Cocaine 2011 a collection of Sigmund Freud's writings on the topic Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450-1750 Dr Nebahat Avcioglu, 2013-12-23 Inspired by Deborah Howard's leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice the essays here examine the connections and rapports between art and identity through the discussion of patronage space domestic and ecclesiastical and dissemination of architectural knowledge as well as models within Venice its territories and beyond "Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450-1750" Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05 Cities are shaped as much by a repertoire of buildings works and objects as by cultural institutions ideas and interactions between forms and practices entangled in identity formations This is particularly true when seen through a city as forceful and splendid as Venice The essays in this volume investigate these connections between art and identity through discussions of patronage space and the dissemination of architectural models and knowledge in Venice its territories and beyond They celebrate Professor Deborah Howard's leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice Based on an examination and re-interpretation of a wide range of archival material and primary sources the contributing authors approach the notion of identity in its many guises as self-representation as strong sub-currents of spatial strategies as visual and semantic discourses and as political and imperial aspirations Employing interdisciplinary modes of interpretation these studies offer ground-breaking analyses of canonical sites and works of art diverse groups of patrons as well as the life and oeuvre of leading architects such as Jacopo Sansovino and Andrea Palladio In so doing they link together citizens and nobles past and present the real and the symbolic space and sound religion and power the city and its parts Venice and the Stato da Mar the Serenissima and the Sublime Port Art and Architecture in Rome, 2001
