Roomscape Susan David Bernstein, 2013-03-14 Examines the Reading Room of the British Museum using documentary theoretical historical and literary sources Roomscape explores a specific site the Reading Room of the British Museum as a space of imaginative potential in relation to the emergence of modern women writers in Victorian and early twentieth century London Drawing on archival materials Roomscape is the first study to integrate documentary historical and literary sources to examine the significance of this space and its resources for women who wrote translations poetry and fiction This book challenges an assessment of the Reading Room of the British Museum as a bastion of class and gender privilege an image established by Virginia Woolf's A Room of One's Own Roomscape also questions the value of privacy and autonomy in constructions of female authorship Rather than viewing reading and writing as solitary Roomscape investigates the public social and spatial dimensions of literary production The implications of this study reach into the current digital era and its transformations of practices of reading writing and archiving Along with an appendix of notable readers at the British
