ECOOP - Object-Oriented Programming Erik Ernst, 2007-07-27 The 21st European Conference on Object Oriented Programming ECOOP2007 was held in Berlin Germany on July 30 to August 3 2007 ECOOP is the most important and inspiring forum in Europe and beyond for researchers practitioners and students working in that smorgasbord of topics and approaches known as object orientation This topic area was explored and challenged by excellent invited speakers two of which were the winners of this year's Dahl Nygaard award in the carefully refereed and selected technical papers on posters via demonstrations and in tutorials Each of the many workshops complemented this with a very interactive and dynamic treatment of more specific topics usually panels allowed for loud and lively disagreement Yet it is one of ECOOP's special qualities that this plethora of activities add up to a coherent and exciting whole rather than deteriorating into chaos The Program Committee received 161 submissions this year Only 135 of them were carried through the full review process because of a number of retractions and a number of submissions of abstracts that were never followed by a full paper However the remaining papers were of very high quality and we accepted 25 of them for publication Helping very good papers to be published is more useful than having an impressively low acceptance rate The papers were selected according to four groups of criteria whose priority depended on the paper relevance originality and significance precision and correctness and presentation and clarity Each paper had three four or five reviews depending on how controversial it was

Moveable Gardens Virginia D. Nazarea,Terese Gagnon,2021-06 Moveable Gardens explores the ways people make sanctuaries with plants and other traveling companions in the midst of ongoing displacement in today's world. This volume addresses how the destruction of homelands, fragmentation of habitats, and post-capitalist conditions of modernity are countered by the remembrance of tradition and the migration of seeds which are embodied in gardening, cooking, and community building. Hope and Danger in the New South City Georgina Hickey, 2005-07-01 For Atlanta the early decades of the twentieth century brought chaotic economic and demographic growth. Women black and white emerged as a visible new component of the city's population. As maids and cooks, secretaries and factory workers, these women served the better classes in their homes and businesses. They were enthusiastic patrons of the city's new commercial amusements and the mothers of Atlanta's burgeoning working classes. In response to women's growing public presence, as Georgina Hickey reveals, Atlanta's boosters, politicians, and reformers created a set of images that attempted to define the lives and contributions of working women. Through these images, city residents expressed ambivalence toward Atlanta's growth, which although welcome, also threatened the established racial and gender hierarchies of the city. Using period newspapers, municipal documents, government investigations, organizational records, oral histories, and photographic evidence, Hope and Danger in the New South City relates the experience of working-class women across lines of race as sources of labor, community members, activists, pleasure seekers, and consumers of social services to the process of urban development. Cactus and Succulent Journal, 1929 Proceedings - Northeastern Forest Tree Improvement Conference, 1988
