how these technological evolutions have transformed food production and consumption provides new insights into the complex processes of industrialization and the roles of taste and heritage in East Asian modernity Each chapter takes up a unique food item with its own complex past and traces gradual and at times dramatic change allowing new relationships to emerge between the creators consumers and their surrounding world Truly multidisciplinary in approach Leung and Stevens bring together scholars and methods from a range of fields into a coherent transnational dialogue resulting in an innovative way to define East Asia without relying on geographic or linguistic boundaries The study of everyday foods consumed by ordinary people on a day to day basis provides a productive perspective for understanding East Asian cultures as sociotechnical systems pushing back the role of elite and special foods as privileged objects in the discipline of food studies
