Old Continent New Building Contemporary Australian Architecture:

Old Continent, New Building Leon Paroissien, Michael Griggs, 1983 Old Continent, New Building, 1982* Old Continent, New Building Leon Paroissien, Michael Griggs, 1983 Brutalism Resurgent Julia Gatley, Stuart King, 2018-02-02 Brutalism had its origins in the raw and thus in the post war work of Le Corbusier. The British architects Alison and Peter Smithson used the term New Brutalism from 1953 claiming that if their house in Soho had been built it would have been the first exponent of the New Brutalism in England. Reyner Banham famously gave the movement a series of characteristics including the clear expression of a building's structure and services and the honest use of materials in their as found condition. The Smithsons and Banham promoted the New Brutalism as ethic rather than aesthetic, privileging truth to structure, materials and services and the gritty reality of the working classes over the concerns of the bourgeoisie. But Brutalist architecture changed as it was taken up by others giving rise to more sculptural buildings flaunting their raw materials including off form concrete often in conjunction with bold structural members. While Brutalism fell out of vogue in the 1980s recent years have seen renewed admiration for it. This volume is consistent with this broader resurgence presenting new scholarship on Brutalist architects and projects from Skopje to Sydney and from Harvard to Haringey. It will appeal to readers interested in twentieth century architecture and modern and post war heritage. This book was originally published as a special issue of Fabrications the Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians Australia and New Zealand.

Architectural Design for Tropical Regions Cleveland Salmon, 1999-05-04 Architectural Design for Tropical Regions is a complete guide to designing public and private buildings for tropical regions that are healthy, comfortable and exist in harmony with both the natural environment and local traditions. In addition to proven design strategies it brings together a wealth of detailed information on all of the technical and nontechnical issues that must be taken into consideration when designing for tropical environments.

Developing Living Cities, 2010 This is an important and timely book. With half of humanity living in cities our future will depend on how well we manage our cities. This book poses six inter generational challenges to cities. If a city deals successfully with them it will become a living, thriving, prosperous and delightful place to live, work and visit. Prof Tommy Koh, Chairman, Governing Council Asia Pacific Water Forum.

New Directions in Australian Architecture Philip Goad, Patrick Bingham-Hall, 2005 Showcasing the work of 14 of Australia's most exciting architectural firms, the text and photos in this book point to a revolutionary design style. Architects featured in the book include Andresen O Gorman, ARM, Donovan Hill, Engelen, Moore, Sean Godsell, Jones Coulter, Young Lyons Architects, Stutchbury. Each designer's chapter includes an introduction explaining the technique and importance of their work. Mindful of history but with an eye toward the future, the buildings in New Directions in Australian Architecture bring to readers the best of both worlds: product description.

John Dalton Elizabeth Musgrave, 2023-08-10 This book addresses the work of architect John Dalton 1927-2007, an important voice in mid century modernism in Australia whose work despite his being exhibited and published internationally and also winning several awards for his designs is woefully little known. Published as part of the Bloomsbury Studies in Modern Architecture series which brings to light the work of significant yet overlooked modernist architects the book draws on previously unpublished archival documents including Dalton's drawings and paintings transcripts of lectures letters and articles plans and photographic images of built works to characterize the architect not only as a very talented designer but also as a pioneer of environmentalist thinking in Australia. The book reveals how Dalton's architectural preoccupations parallel a transition in mid century modern architecture globally from functional efficiency and material rationalism to a concern with being in dialogue with the environment confirming a wider environmental turn that involved the integration of environmental with cultural considerations through relational thinking and which preceded and transcends the discipline's fascination with theoretical paradigms such as Critical Regionalism. John Dalton Subtropical Modernism and the Turn to Environment in Australian Architecture is thus not only an important contribution to the existing scholarship on 20th century modernism but also to the current renewed interest in environmental design across the globe.

Ken Woolley Ken Woolley, Migrant Housing Mirjana Lozanovska, 2019-03-01 Migrant Housing the latest book by author Mirjana Lozanovska examines the house as the architectural construct in the processes of migration. Housing is pivotal to any migration story with studies showing that migrant participation in the adaptation or building of houses provides symbolic materiality of belonging and the platform for agency and productivity in the broader context of the immigrant city. Migration also disrupts the cohesion of everyday dwelling and homeland integral to housing and the book examines this displacement of dwelling and its effect on migrant housing. This timely volume investigates the poetic and political resonance between migration and architecture challenging the idea of the house as a singular theoretical construct. Divided into three parts Histories and theories of post war migrant housing House home and Mapping migrant spaces of home it draws on data studies from Australia and Macedonia with literature from Canada Sweden and Germany to uncover the effects of unprivileged post war migration in the late twentieth century on the house as architectural and normative model and from this perspective negotiates the disciplinary boundaries of architecture.

Picturing Architecture Desley Luscombe, Anne Peden, 1992 This book presents a range of graphic images used in the production of Australian architecture. It pictures perspective axonometric and orthogonal images and each is examined for its specific aesthetic qualities and the techniques and materials used in the production of final artwork. To clarify the distinctive characteristics of the graphic images each is accompanied by a statement about the design written by the architect and where available photographs of the completed building. The introductory text questions how the selected drawings might be seen to characterise a visibility of cultural production with regard to the present formation of our architectural profession. This question opens two domains of analysis firstly the roles of the observer and artist architect in relation to the currency of visual codes and secondly the application to architectural production of visual codes from artistic media. These domains of analysis issue further debate on the necessity of architectural drawing to fulfil the representational role of making comprehensible projected built form Modern Buildings George Alexander Thomas Middleton,1907 Design Book Review ,1989 Contemporary Architects Ann Lee Morgan,Colin Naylor,1987 To strengthen the contemporary focus of this volume we have added about forty architects and have deleted some whose activity ceased before World War II In making these decisions we have been assisted by an Advisory Board As in the first volume we have continued to define the word architect very broadly so as to include planners theorists structural engineers and landscape architects whose work seems to be central to the enterprise of creating habitable spaces in our day Editor s note Collaborative Designs Deidre Janette Missingham,Alex Selenitsch,1988 Exhibition Collaborative Designs held at Meat Market Craft Centre July August 1988
