Islands Steven Roger Fischer, 2013-02-15 When Lost s Oceanic Airlines Flight 815 crashed the survivors found themselves on a seemingly deserted island In Defoe s novel Robinson Crusoe spends twenty eight years on a remote tropical island near Trinidad while in the movie Castaway Tom Hanks survives over four years on a South Pacific island And Jurassic Park kept its dinosaur population confined to an island off the coast of Central America Islands often find themselves at the center of imagined worlds secluded and sometimes mystical locales filled with strange creatures and savage populations The cannibals raptors and smoke monsters that exist on the islands of popular culture aside the more than one million islands and islets on the planet are indeed small geological biological and cultural laboratories From Britain to Japan from the Galapagos to Manhattan this book roams the planet to provide the first global introduction to these waterlocked landforms Longtime island dweller Steven Roger Fischer shows that since time began islands have been one of the primary birthplaces for plants animals and proto humans These eyots of stone and sand whether in ocean lake or river fostered the human race and Fischer recounts how humanity then exploited these remarkable habitats as stepping stones to global dominion He explores island economics warfare and politics and he examines the role they have played in literature art and psychology At the same time he sparks our imagination with visions of islands from Atlantis to Tahiti Treasure Island to Hawaii Ultimately he reveals these isolated mini worlds are a measure of humankind itself An engaging account of the islets that have enriched lured terrified and inspired us Islands shines new light on these cradles of earth and human history Research in Education ,1970

Language Characteristics and Schooling in the U. S. DIANE Publishing Company,1995-06 Resources in Education ,1999 Oceanic Encounters Margaret Jolly,Serge Tcherkézoff,Darrell Tryon,2009-07-01 This volume the result of ongoing collaborations between Australian and French anthropologists historians and linguists explores encounters between Pacific peoples and foreigners during the longue dur e of European exploration colonisation and settlement from the sixteenth century to the twentieth century It deploys the concept of encounter rather than the more common idea of first contact for several reasons Encounters with Europeans occurred in the context of extensive prior encounters and exchanges between Pacific peoples manifest in the distribution of languages and objects and in patterns of human settlement and movement The concept of encounter highlights the mutuality in such meetings of bodies and minds whereby preconceptions from both sides were brought into confrontation dialogue mutual influence and ultimately mutual transformation It stresses not so much prior visions of strangers or others but the contingencies in events of encounter and how senses other than vision were crucial in shaping reciprocal appraisals But a stress on mutual meanings and interdependent agencies in such cross cultural encounters should not occlude the tumultuous misunderstandings political contests and extreme violence which also characterised Indigenous European interactions over this period Communication Disorders in Multicultural Populations Dolores E.
