Revisited Gunnar Liestol, Andrew Morrison, Terje Rasmussen, 2004-09-17 Interdisciplinary essays on the relationship between practice and theory in new media Arguing that first encounters have already applied traditional theoretical and conceptual frameworks to digital media the contributors to this book call for second encounters or a revisiting Digital media are not only objects of analysis but also instruments for the development of innovative perspectives on both media and culture Drawing on insights from literary theory semiotics philosophy aesthetics ethics media studies sociology and education the contributors construct new positions from which to observe digital media in fresh and meaningful ways Throughout they explore to what extent interpretation of and experimentation with digital media can inform theory It also asks how our understanding of digital media can contribute to our understanding of social and cultural change The book is organized in four sections Education and Interdisciplinarity Design and Aesthetics Rhetoric and Interpretation and Social Theory and Ethics The topics include the effects on reading of the multimodal and multisensory aspects of the digital environment the impact of practice on the medium of theory how digital media are dissolving the boundaries between leisure and work and the impact of cyberspace on established ethical principles Studies on Turkish and Turkic Languages Asli Göksel, Celia Kerslake, 2000 This book contains papers presented at the Ninth International conference on Turkish Linguistics held in Oxford in August 1998 The papers cover a wide range of topics in theoretical and descriptive linguistics relating to Turkish and Turkic languages bringing together the work of the most eminent researchers in the field In addition to articles in the core areas of linguistics which focus on topics such as the morpho syntactic properties of argument structure word stress aspect and modality word order embedding cliticisation and compounding there are sections on psycholinguistics language acquisition discourse analysis language contact and bilingualism Although the main language of investigation is Modern Turkish the articles cover a wide range of Turkic languages including Karaim Eynu Sarigh Yoghur Salar Gagauz Noghay Khalaj and Iraqi Turkmen some of which are endangered as well as historic varieties such as Middle Turkish Old Anatolian Turkish and Old Turkic The book will be of interest to linguists working on theoretical comparative and diachronic aspects of linguistic research as well as those who are interested in descriptive aspects of Turkish and other Turkic languages

Foreign Language Learning in the Digital Age Christiane Lütge, 2022-01-31 Foreign Language Learning in the Digital Age addresses the growing significance of diversifying media in contemporary society and expands on current discourses that have formulated media and a multitude of literacies as integral objectives in 21st century education The book engages with epistemological and critical foundations of multiliteracies and related pedagogies for foreign language learning contexts It includes a discussion of how multimodal and digital media impact meaning making practices in learning the inherent potentials and challenges that are foregrounded in the use of multimodal and digital media and the contribution that foreign language education can provide in developing multiliteracies The volume additionally addresses foreign language education across the formal educational spectrum from primary education to adult and teacher education This multifaceted volume presents the scope of media and literacies for foreign language education in the digital age and examples of best practice for working with media in formal language learning contexts This book will be of great interest to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of language teaching and learning digital education media education applied linguistics and TESOL

ICT and Language Learning M. Kenning, 2007-11-28 This book explores the interplay of ICT and language learning within the context of technological and social change from the printing press to the mobile phone It considers how technological advances through their impact on communication language and education affect not only how languages are learnt but also what kind of language is learnt

Multimodal Composing in Classrooms Suzanne M. Miller, Mary B. McVee, 2013-06-19 Taking a close look at multimodal composing as an essential new literacy in schools this volume draws from contextualized case studies across educational contexts to provide detailed portraits of teachers and students at work in classrooms Authors elaborate key issues in transforming classrooms with student multimodal composing including changes in teachers teaching and learning Six action principles for teaching for embodied learning through multimodal composing are presented and explained The rich illustrations of practice encourage both discussion of practical challenges and dilemmas and conceptualization beyond the specific cases Historically issues in New Literacy Studies multimodality new literacies and multiliteracies have primarily been addressed theoretically promoting a shift in educators thinking about what constitutes literacy teaching and learning in a world no longer bounded by print text only Such theory is necessary and beneficial for re thinking practices What Multimodal Composing in Classrooms contributes to this scholarship are the voices of teachers and students talking about changing practices in real classrooms      The SAGE Handbook of E-learning Research Caroline Haythornthwaite, Richard Andrews, Jude Fransman, Eric M. Meyers, 2016-05-09 The new edition of The SAGE Handbook of E Learning Research retains the original effort of the first edition by focusing on research while capturing the leading edge of e learning development and practice Chapters focus on areas of development in e learning technology theory practice pedagogy and method of analysis Covering the full extent of e learning can be a challenge as developments and new features appear daily The editors of this book meet this challenge by including contributions from leading researchers in areas that have gained a sufficient critical mass to provide reliable results and practices The 25 chapters are organised into six key areas 1 THEORY 2 LITERACY LEARNING 3 METHODS PERSPECTIVES 4 PEDAGOGY PRACTICE 5 BEYOND THE CLASSROOM 6 FUTURES      Contemporary Perspectives in E-Learning Research Gráinne Conole, Martin Oliver, 2006-11-22 E learning is at an exciting point in its development this book aims to define e learning as a field of research highlighting the complex issues activities and tensions that characterize the area      Contrastive Rhetoric Ulla Connor, Ed Nagelhout, William V. Rozycki, 2008 Shows how a person's first language and culture influence writing in a second language      Handbook of Research on Digital Information Technologies: Innovations, Methods, and Ethical Issues Hansson, Thomas, 2008-06-30 This book provides a collection of successful designs defined as communicative relation building solutions for individuals and collectives of interlocutors It includes a longitudinal perspective of past mistakes current trends and future opportunities and is a must have for beginners in the field as well as qualified professionals exploring the full potential of human interactions Provided by publisher      New Literacies around the Globe Cathy Burnett, Julia Davies, Guy Merchant, Jennifer Rowsell, 2014-07-11 The increasing popularity of digitally mediated communication is prompting us to radically rethink literacy and its role in education at the same time national policies have promulgated a view of literacy focused on the skills and classroom routines associated with print bolstered by regimes of accountability and assessments As a result teachers are caught between two competing discourses one upholding a traditional conception of literacy re iterated by politicians and policy makers and the other encouraging a more radical take on 21st century literacies driven by leading edge thinkers and researchers There is a pressing need for a book which engages researchers in international dialogue around new literacies their implications for policy and practice and how they might articulate across national boundaries Drawing on cutting edge research from the USA Canada UK Australia and South Africa this book is a pedagogical and policy driven call for change It explores studies of literacy practices in varied contexts through a refreshingly dialogic style interspersed with commentaries which comment on the significance of the work described for education The book concludes on the conversation developed to identify key recommendations for policy makers through a Charter for Literacy Education      Handbook of Research on New Literacies Julie Coiro, Michele Knobel, Colin Lankshear, Donald J. Leu, 2014-04-04 Situated at the intersection of two of the most important areas in educational research today literacy and technology this handbook draws on the potential of each while carving out important new territory It provides leadership for this newly emerging field directing scholars to the major issues theoretical perspectives and interdisciplinary research pertaining to new literacies Reviews of research are organized into six sections Methodologies Knowledge and Inquiry Communication Popular Culture Community and Citizenship Everyday Literacies Instructional Practices and Assessment Multiple Perspectives on New Literacies Research FEATURES Brings together a diverse international team of editors and chapter authors Provides an extensive collection of research reviews in a critical area of educational research Makes visible the multiple perspectives and theoretical frames that currently drive work in new literacies Establishes important space for the emerging field of new literacies research Includes a unique Commentary section The final section of the Handbook reprints five central research studies Each is reviewed by two prominent researchers from their individual and different theoretical position This provides the field with a sense of how diverse lenses can be brought to bear on research as well as the benefits that accrue from doing so It also provides models of critical review for new scholars and demonstrates how one might bring multiple perspectives to the study of an area as complex as new literacies research The Handbook of Research on New Literacies is intended for the literacy research community broadly conceived including scholars and students from the traditional reading and writing research communities in education and educational psychology as well as those from information science cognitive science psychology sociolinguistics computer mediated communication and other related areas that find literacy to be an important area of investigation

The Decentring of the Traditional University Russell Francis, 2012-08-21 The Decentring of the Traditional University provides a unique perspective on the implications of media change for learning and literacy that allows us to peer into the future of self education Each chapter draws on socio cultural and activity theory to investigate how resourceful students are breaking away from traditional modes of instruction and educating themselves through engagement with a globally interconnected web based participatory culture The argument is developed with reference to the findings of an ethnographic study that focused on university students informal uses of social and participatory media Each chapter draws attention to the shifting locus of agency for regulating and managing learning and describes an emergent genre of learning activity For example Francis explores how students are cultivating and nurturing globally distributed funds of living knowledge that transcend institutional boundaries and describes students learning through serious play in virtually figured worlds that support radically personalised lifelong learning agendas These stories also highlight the challenges and choices learners confront as they struggle to negotiate the faultlines of media convergence and master the new media literacies required to exploit the full potential of Web 2.0 as a learning resource Overall this compelling argument proposes that we are witnessing a period of historic systemic change in the culture of university learning as an emergent web based participatory culture starts to disrupt and displace a top down culture industry model of education that has evolved around the medium of the book As a result Francis argues that we need to re conceive higher education as an identity project in which students work on their projective identities or imagined future selves through engagement with both formal and informal learning activities

Situated Literacies David Barton, Mary Hamilton, Roz Ivanic, 2005-08-04 Situated Literacies is a rich and varied collection of key writings from leading international scholars in the field of literacy Each contribution written in a clear accessible style makes the link between literacies in specific contexts and broader social practices Detailed ethnographic studies of a wide variety of specific situations all involving real texts and lived practices are balanced with general claims about the nature of literacy Contributors address a coherent set of issues the visual and material aspects of literacy concepts of time and space in relation to literacy the functions of literacies in shaping and sustaining identities in communities of practice the relationship between texts and the practices associated with their use the role of discourse analysis on literacy studies These studies along with a foreword by Denny Taylor make a timely and important contribution to literacy theory and suggest directions for the further development of the field Situated Literacies is essential reading for anyone involved in literary education Improving Reading and Reading Engagement in the 21st Century Clarence Ng, Brendan

Bartlett, 2017-05-31 This book presents cutting edge research findings in areas critical to advancing reading research in the 21st century context including new literacies reading motivation strategy instruction and reading intervention studies While students reading performance is currently receiving unprecedented attention there is a lack of research that adopts an international perspective and draws on research expertise from different parts of the world to present a concerted effort discussing key research models and findings on how to improve reading education Addressing this gap in the literature the book also responds to the challenge of promoting higher levels of literacy and supporting and developing readers who can enjoy and critique texts of every genre International Handbook of Research in Arts Education Liora

Bresler, 2007-09-04 Providing a distillation of knowledge in the various disciplines of arts education dance drama music literature and poetry and visual arts the Handbook synthesizes existing research literature helps define the past and contributes to shaping the substantive and methodological future of the respective and integrated disciplines of arts education While research can at times seem distant from practice the Handbook aims to maintain connection with the lived practice of art and of education capturing the vibrancy and best thinking in the field of theory and practice The Handbook is organized into 13 sections each centering on a major area or issue in arts education research These areas include History of arts education curriculum evaluation cultural centers appreciation composition informal learning child culture creativity the body spirituality and technology The individual chapters address cross cultural research related to the central theme of the section from the perspectives of the particular arts discipline Interludes provide reflective thoughts on the theme

Electronic Literacies Mark Warschauer, 1998-11-01 Electronic Literacies is an insightful study of the challenges and contradictions that arise as culturally and linguistically diverse learners engage in new language and literacy practices in online environments The role of the Internet in changing literacy and education has been a topic of much speculation but very little concrete research This book is one of the first attempts to document the role of the Internet and other new digital technologies in the development of language and literacy Warschauer looks at how the nature of reading and writing is changing and how those changes are being addressed in the classroom His focus is on the experiences of culturally and linguistically diverse learners who are at special risk of being marginalized from the information society Based on a two year ethnographic study of the uses of the Internet in four language and writing classrooms in the state of Hawai i a Hawaiian language class of Native Hawaiian students seeking to revitalize their language and culture an ESL class of students from Pacific Island and Latin American countries an ESL class of students from Asian countries and an English composition class of working class students from diverse ethnic backgrounds the book includes data from interviews with students and teachers classroom observations and analysis of student texts This rich ethnographic data is combined with theories from a broad range of disciplines to develop conclusions about the relationship of technology to language literacy education and culture Central to Warschauer s discussion and conclusions is how contradictions of language culture and class affect the impact of Internet based education While Hawai i is a special place the issues confronted here are similar in many ways to those that exist throughout the United States and many other countries How to provide culturally and linguistically diverse students traditionally on the educational and technological margins with the literacies they need to fully participate in public community and economic life in the 21st century The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Literature and Social Media Bronwen Thomas, 2020-01-31 From Instapoetry to BookTube contemporary literary cultures and practices are increasingly intertwined with social media In this lively and wide ranging study Bronwen Thomas explores how social media provides new ways of connecting with and rediscovering established literary works and authors while also facilitating the emergence of unique and distinctive forms of creative expression The book takes a 360 approach to the subject combining analysis of current forms and practices with an examination of how social media fosters ongoing collaborative discourse amongst both informal and formal literary networks and demonstrating how the participatory practices of social media have the potential to radically transform how literature is produced shared and circulated The first study of its kind to focus specifically on social media Literature and Social Media provides a timely and engaging account of the state of the art while interrogating the rhetoric that so often accompanies discussion of the new in this context
