Hide And Seek (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 20pt Edition) , Famous — But No Children J. O.

Raber, 2014-03-01 Do you have a right NOT to have children Do we have a right NOT to be born Choosing to remain child free or childless is something that sparks various reactions but not everyone has actually given it deep thought The names and viewpoints discussed in this book may spur some thinking among those considering becoming parents feminists ecologists the religious right and the child free community The Internet is full of lists of people who are reported as not having had children some of these lists contain errors Here the author has added dates and places of birth and death to aid in verification Also while most lists focus on contemporary celebrities in this book the author presents an original list painstakingly compiled over these past years it is not a copy of anyone else s list of names and contains mostly historic individuals illustrating how many of our cultural and scientific landmarks are the gifts childless people have bequeathed to humanity Automobile Trimmer and Painter , 1929 The Works of Henrik Ibsen Henrik Ibsen, 1928 Male Call Jonathan Auerbach, 1996 When Jack London died in 1916 at age forty he was one of the most famous writers of his time Eighty years later he remains one of the most widely read American authors in the world The first major critical study of London to appear in a decade Male Call analyzes the nature of his appeal by closely examining how the struggling young writer sought to promote himself in his early work as a sympathetic romantic man of letters whose charismatic masculinity could carry more significance than his words themselves Jonathan Auerbach shows that London s personal identity was not a basis of his literary success but rather a consequence of it Unlike previous studies of London that are driven by the author s biography Male Call examines how London carefully invented a trademark self in order to gain access to a rapidly expanding popular magazine and book market that craved authenticity celebrity power and personality Auerbach demonstrates that only one fact of London s life truly shaped his art his passionate desire to become a successful author Whether imagining himself in stories and novels as a white man on trail in the Yukon a sled dog a tramp or a professor or engaging questions of manhood and mastery in terms of work race politics class or sexuality London created a public persona for the purpose of exploiting the conventions of the publishing world and marketplace Revising critical commonplaces about both Jack London's work and the meaning of nature within literary naturalism and turn of the century ideologies of masculinity Auerbach's analysis intriguingly complicates our view of London and sheds light on our own postmodern preoccupation with celebrity Male Call will attract readers with an interest in American studies American literature gender studies and cultural studies

Spellbound by Marcel Ruth Brandon, 2022-03-01 In 1913 Marcel Duchamp's Nude Descending a Staircase exploded through the American art world This is the story of how he followed the painting to New York two years later enchanted the Arensberg salon and almost incidentally changed art forever In 1915 a group of French artists fled war torn Europe for New York In the few months between their arrival and America's entry into the war in April 1917 they pushed back the boundaries of the possible in both life and art The vortex of this transformation was the apartment at 33 West 67th Street owned by Walter and Louise Arensberg where artists and poets met nightly to talk eat drink discuss each others work play chess plan balls organise magazines and exhibitions and fall in and out of love At the center of all this activity stood the mysterious figure of Marcel Duchamp always approachable always unreadable His exhibit of a urinal which he called Fountain briefly shocked the New York art world before falling like its perpetrator into obscurity Many people of both sexes were in love with Duchamp Henri Pierre Roch and Beatrice Wood were among them they were also briefly and for her life changingly in love with each other Both kept daily diaries which give an intimate picture of the events of those years Or rather two pictures for the views they offer including of their own love affair are stunningly divergent Spellbound by Marcel follows Duchamp Roch and Beatrice as they traverse the twentieth century Roch became the author of Jules and Jim made into a classic film by Francois Truffaut Beatrice became a celebrated ceramicist Duchamp fell into chess playing obscurity until decades later he became famous for a second time as Fountain was elected the twentieth century's most influential artwork

The Complete Works of Winston Churchill Winston Churchill, 2020-09-28 I was born under the Blue Ridge and under that side which is blue in the evening light in a wild land of game and forest and rushing waters There on the borders of a creek that runs into the Yadkin River in a cabin that was chinked with red mud I came into the world a subject of King George the Third in that part of his realm known as the province of North Carolina The cabin reeked of corn pone and bacon and the odor of pelts It had two shakedown on one of which I slept under a bearskin A rough stone chimney was reared outside and the fireplace was as long as my father was tall There was a crane in it and a bake kettle and over it great buckhorns held my father's rifle when it was not in use On other horns hung jerked bear's meat and venison hams and gourds for drinking cups and bags of seed and my father's best hunting shirt also in a neglected corner several articles of woman's attire from pegs These once belonged to my mother Among them was a gown of silk of a fine faded pattern over which I was wont to speculate The women at the Cross Roads twelve miles away were dressed in coarse butternut wool and huge sunbonnets But when I questioned my father on these matters he would give me no answers My father was how shall I say what he was To this day I can only surmise many things of him He was a Scotchman born and I know now that he had a slight Scotch accent At the time of which I write my early childhood he was a frontiersman and hunter I can see him now with his hunting shirt and leggings and moccasins his powder horn engraved with wondrous scenes his bullet pouch and tomahawk and hunting knife He was a tall lean man with a strange sad face And he talked little save when he drank too many horns as they were called in that country These lapses of my father s were a perpetual source of wonder to me and I must say of delight They occurred only when a passing traveller who hit his fancy chanced that way or what was almost as rare a neighbor Many a winter night I have lain awake under the skins listening to a flow of language that held me spellbound though I understood scarce a word of it
