Implementing safety practices in healthcare saves lives and improves the quality of care it is therefore vital to apply good clinical practices such as the WHO surgical checklist to adopt the most appropriate measures for the prevention of assistance related risks and to identify the potential ones using tools such as reporting learning systems The culture of safety in the care environment and of human factors influencing it should be developed from the beginning of medical studies and in the first years of professional practice in order to have the maximum impact on clinicians and nurses behavior Medical errors tend to vary with the level of proficiency and experience and this must be taken into account in adverse events prevention Human factors assume a decisive importance in resilient organizations and an understanding of risk control and containment is fundamental for all medical and surgical specialties This open access book offers recommendations and examples of how to improve patient safety by changing practices introducing organizational and technological innovations and creating effective patient centered timely efficient and equitable care systems in order to spread the quality and patient safety culture among the new generation of healthcare professionals and is intended for residents and young professionals in different clinical specialties

Fulford, Ed Peile, Heidi Carroll, 2012-03-01 This book will help clinicians acquire and develop the processes and skills of values based practice The aim of most patient clinician consultations is to improve health outcomes Often they succeed and patients are satisfied and empowered However some consultations are unsatisfactory and result in failure to improve health outcomes and dissatisfaction on the part of patients carers or clinicians When consultations fail to achieve the desired results the cause is not usually a failure of evidence based practice Today s clinicians are trained in evidence based medicine educated updated and appraised The most likely reason why things go wrong is a failure of values based practice not ascertaining the
