Patronage In Thirteenthcentury Constantinople:

Patronage in Thirteenth-century Constantinople Hugo Buchthal, Hans Belting, 1978 Art and Identity in Thirteenth-Century Byzantium Antony Eastmond, 2017-03-02 The church of Hagia Sophia in Trebizond built by the emperor Manuel I Grand Komnenos 1238 63 in the aftermath of the fall of Constantinople to the Fourth Crusade is the finest surviving Byzantine imperial monument of its period Art and Identity in Thirteenth Century Byzantium is the first investigation of the church in more than thirty years and is extensively illustrated in colour and black and white with many images that have never previously been published Antony Eastmond examines the architectural sculptural and painted decorations of the church placing them in the context of contemporary developments elsewhere in the Byzantine world in Seljuq Anatolia and among the Caucasian neighbours of Trebizond Knowledge of this area has been transformed in the last twenty years following the collapse of the Soviet Union The new evidence that has emerged enables a radically different interpretation of the church to be reached and raises questions of cultural interchange on the borders of the Christian and Muslim worlds of eastern Anatolia the Caucasus and Persia This study uses the church and its decoration to examine questions of Byzantine identity and imperial ideology in the thirteenth century This is central to any understanding of the period as the fall of Constantinople in 1204 divided the Byzantine empire and forced the successor states in Nicaea Epiros and Trebizond to redefine their concepts of empire in exile Art is here exploited as significant historical evidence for the nature of imperial power in a contested empire It is suggested that imperial identity was determined as much by craftsmen and expectations of imperial power as by the emperor's decree and that this was a credible alternative Byzantine identity to that developed in the empire of Nicaea Patronage in thirteenth-century constantinople : an atelier of late Byzantine book illumination and calligraphy Hugo Buchthal, 1978 Reconstructing the Reality of Images Maria Parani, 2021-10-25 This volume examines the occurrence of secular contemporary artefacts realia in Middle and Late Byzantine religious painting It explores the potential of Byzantine art as a source of information on material culture and inquires into the semiotic function of realia in religious pictorial contexts The first part of the book comprises five case studies dedicated to imperial official aristocratic and military dress furniture furnishings and implements The creative processes that led to the introduction of realia into religious iconography are discussed in the commentary The book conveys a wealth of information especially on Byzantine dress and provides valuable new insights into the workings of Byzantine art It is an original and thorough investigation of a fascinating yet surprisingly little studied subject Studies in Coptic Culture Mariam Ayad, 2016-05-02 Coptic contributions to the formative theological debates of Christianity have long been recognized Less well known are other equally valuable Coptic contributions to the transmission and preservation of technical and scientific knowledge and a full understanding of how Egypt's Copts survived and interacted with the country's majority population over the centuries Studies in Coptic Culture attempts to examine these issues from divergent perspectives Through the careful examination of select case studies that range in date from the earliest phases of Coptic culture to the present day twelve international scholars address issues of cultural transmission cross cultural perception representation and inter faith interaction Their approaches are as varied as their individual disciplines covering literary criticism textual studies and comparative literature as well as art historical archaeo botanical and historical research methods The divergent perspectives and methods presented in this volume will provide a fuller picture of what it meant to be Coptic in centuries past and prompt further research and scholarship into these subjects

Illuminated Prophet Books: A Study of Byzantine Manuscripts of the Major and Minor Prophets

John Lowden,1988 Imago Dei Jaroslav Pelikan,2023-10-17 A sweeping account of the controversies surrounding the worship of images in the early Byzantine church In 726 the Byzantine emperor Leo III issued an edict that all religious images in the empire were to be destroyed a directive that was later endorsed by a synod of the church in 753 under his son Constantine V If the policy of Iconoclasm had succeeded the entire history of Christian art and of the Christian church at least in the East would have been altered Iconoclasm was defeated by Byzantine politics popular revolts monastic piety and most fundamentally of all by theology just as it had been theology that the opponents of images had used to justify their actions Analyzing an intriguing chapter in the history of ideas the renowned scholar Jaroslav Pelikan shows how a faith that began by attacking the worship of images ended first in permitting and then in commanding it Pelikan charts the theological defense of icons during the iconoclastic controversies of the eighth and ninth centuries whose high point came in 787 when the Second Council of Nicaea restored the cult of images in the church He demonstrates how the dogmas of the Trinity and the Incarnation eventually provided the basic rationale for images because the invisible God had become human and therefore personally visible in Jesus Christ it became permissible to make images of that Image And because not only the human nature of Christ but that of his Mother had been transformed by the Incarnation she too could be iconized together with all the other saints and angels The iconographic text of the book is provided by one of the very few surviving icons from the period before Iconoclasm the Egyptian tapestry Icon of the Virgin now in the Cleveland Museum of Art Other icons serve to illustrate the theological argument just as the theological argument serves to explain the icons In an incisive foreword Judith Herrin explains the enduring importance of the book and discusses how later scholars have built on Pelikan s work

D-Vasilescu,2018-10-22 This book examines ideas of spiritual nourishment as maintained chiefly by Patristic theologians those who lived in Byzantium It shows how a particular type of Byzantine frescoes and icons illustrated the views of Patristic thinkers on the connections between the heavenly and the earthly worlds The author explores the occurrence and geographical distribution of this new type of iconography that manifested itself in representations concerned with the human body and argues that these were a reaction to docetist ideas The volume also investigates the diffusion of saints cults and demonstrates that this took place on a North South axis as their veneration began in Byzantium and gradually reached the northern part of Europe and eventually the entirety of Christendom The New Cambridge Medieval History: Volume 6, C.1300-c.1415 Rosamond McKitterick, 1995 The sixth volume of The New Cambridge Medieval History covers the fourteenth century a period dominated by plague other natural disasters and war which brought to an end three centuries of economic growth and cultural expansion in Christian Europe but one which also saw important developments in government religious and intellectual life and new cultural and artistic patterns Part I sets the scene by discussion of general themes in the theory and practice of government religion social and economic history and culture Part II deals with the individual histories of the states of western Europe Part III with that of the Church at the time of the Avignon papacy and the Great Schism and Part IV with eastern and northern Europe Byzantium and the early Ottomans giving particular attention to the social and economic relations with westerners and those of other civilisations in the Mediterranean
